LARKIN G. MERRILL, the Boston sculptor, has finished his "Mississippi River," which is a colossal water-gate, surrounded by emblems of the majestic stream.

CLARA MOGERS says that she and Mr. Tilden have made a complete study of the nerves, and have learned every thing concerning their diseases except how to cure them.

A BROOKLYN statue of Daniel Webster will be unveiled at Concord, N. H., June 17. The statue is the gift of Benjamin Pierce Cheney, of Boston, to the State of New Hampshire.

A PRIVATE letter has been received from Boston, Mass., saying that E. H. Winslow, the Boston forger, is in jail there for swindling, and that all his property has been attached.

A DEGRADING spectacle is reported from Nimes, France, where another public bull fight has taken place. Thousands of operators were raised to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Three women bull fighters, equipped in the conflicts. There were many exciting scenes during the show, and several very narrow escapes from death. Men and women were in the arena and six bulls were killed.

The Knights of Labor of Cleveland, O., and other labor organizations, are reported working on a scheme for lawfully to limit immigration and will soon forward a petition to Congress praying that such a law be passed. The movers in the matter request every person interested to write to U. S. Congressman asking that such a bill be presented and passed before the close of the present session.

GENERAL ROSSBACH has sent to the Senate Committee on Finance a written statement in answer to the charge that he was connected with certain alleged land frauds in California. He denies and denies the transactions, but he says he did nothing which was not, according to the opinion of his lawyers, perfectly legal, and that his action has since been sustained by the courts. The transaction covered about eight hundred acres of land in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

One of the severest storms ever known struck Joliet, Ill., the other evening. A deluge of rain, thunder, and hail inundated the streets. Barricaded houses were showered in the town, and in the midst of the performance of the storm struck the St. Louis and turned the whole show upside down. Women screamed, animals roared, and a general stampede and sheets of lightning drenching rain and a resolute gale raged. Three persons were seriously injured by the falling poles, and a number were hurt slightly in the panic.

MR. DOUGLASS, from the Committee on Post-offices, has reported a bill providing that the carrier service and the free delivery of mail matter shall be extended to all cities containing a population of not less than 10,000 according to the last general census, provided the postoffice at such place produces a gross postal revenue of not less than $10,000. The bill also provides that at places which contain a population of 75,000 or more three classes of carriers shall be employed, namely: Carriers of the first class, whose salary shall be $1,000 a year; of the second class, who shall receive $800; and of the third class, who shall receive $600. And of places with a population of less than 10,000 there shall be two classes, the first class receiving $800 and the second class $700.

A STATISTICAL report from Chattanooga purporting to give the story of a romantic attachment between a son of the late W. L. Dodge, of New York, and a daughter of Senator Voorhees, has been extensively copied in newspapers. Mr. Voorhees has been very much annoyed by the story, and a staid Washington recently that he felt much outraged by its publication. Said he: "It will be hard to conceive more misstatements in the same space. I have but one daughter and her name is not Rose. She was never in the South and never received any attention from Mr. Dodge. I know Dodge very well and esteem him highly. He is a gentleman of refinement, of high social standing, and is a business man of large means, and a son of William J. Dodge, of New York, and I never knew a gentleman more utterly incapable of conduct attributed to him than he is."

GOVERNOR SWINEFORD, of Alaska, told some remarkable things to the members of the House Territories Committee recently. The object of his visit to the committee was to urge them to prepare Congress to give a territorial form of government to Alaska. He told the committee the United States got a treasure when they bought that region; that almost any kind of produce could be raised there; that coal was abundant, and a gold mine worked there in a most primitive manner yielded fifteen dollars per ton and cost only one dollar and twenty-six cents per ton to mine. There was, he said, enough ore in sight to last one hundred years at this rate. If the members would go to Alaska with him he would show them a canoe out on a single log which would hold sixty people for a voyage. In the right season of the year he would take them on a voyage in the stream where the salmon would be so thick they would stop the progress of the boat.
