RED CLOUD.

Her Street Railway, Electric Lights
Her Water Works and Enterprises Generally

Red Cloud, though scarcely over a dozen years old is one of the bright and shining lights among Western Nebraska cities. Her enterprise is wonderful. Four years ago there was not a foot of sidewalk in the city, to-day there are many miles four years ago there was not a sign of a street lamp in the city, to-day she has one of the finest systems of electric lights in the west, four years ago if you had said that in the year 888 there would be a costly system of water works in operation people would have laughed at you, but to-day the stand pipe, engine house and four miles of mains are living witnesses of the fact that we have a fine system, four years ago nothing but an old wooden bridge spanned the great Republican river south of the city, to-day one of the finest iron bridges in the west stretches across its placid waters, a monument to the enterprise of our city and county. Four years ago if a person had talked about Red Cloud having a street railway he would certainly have been dubbed a fit subject for the insane asylum, yet the track is graded, the iron being laid and the cars enroute for the city, the whole line to be completed by May 1, a first class line in every particular and a credit to the growing and enterprising city of the valley. Of all of the above enterprises there are none that the people take more pride in than the street railway. It shows that foreign capitalists have their eyes on our growing city and purpose to invest their capital where it will do them the most good in Red Cloud. As to manufacturing capacity Red Cloud has in the Republican river, thousands of horse power easily obtained and as for location for manufacturing there is not a city in Nebraska that has better advantages, and as to inducements, our people are always ready to assist in all that come this way of what so ever character. The city is located on the famous B. & M. railway and in about 90 days more will have the second line of road, the Missouri Pacific, and then we shall be prepared to compete with many of the larger cities. Other railroads are heading this way and our people are willing to aid them liberally and will give them money to come. Red Cloud has only about four thousand inhabitants yet she has all of the advantages of a city ten times as large, besides being located in one of the healthiest portions of the west, naturally drained beautifully situated, taxes comparatively light, fine streets, substantial brick storerooms, and a host of other advantages that tell of an enterprising people. The population will be nearly doubled this year and people who are desirous of locating in the west should come to Red Cloud as she is bound to be the coming city of Western Nebraska.

If you want to see a fine display of clothing and furnishing goods step in to the Golden Eagle you will find the largest stock in Southern Nebraska. The goods being bought for cash C. Wiener is able to sell at bottom prices. Seed corn and potatoes at the city feed store opposite P. O. 36 w-tf

On Monday, at about four o'clock Contractor Bailey, in the presence of President Flaing and Secretary Benson, and a large number of our citizens, laid the first rail and drove the first spike on our street railway amid much enthusiasm. This street railway when completed, which will be in about 30 days, will be one of the greatest booms ever given to this city. The material is all first-class, fine oak ties, steel rails, fine teams, and elegant cars, together with a solid road bed will make the franchise a valuable one to the stockholders and a source of great pride to our people. The projectors deserve great credit for this valuable addition to the numerous enterprises of Red Cloud. The first rails were laid in front of the Holland House. Let the city boom.

W. G. Smith is in the city.

Peter McNitt has moved on to the farm.

A brother of Joseph Graves' is in the city.

Our new city dads including the mayor, will assumed charge of the city on last Saturday evening. The present year will be a thrifty one and we have a good council to help us out.

The city marshal and a crew of men lariatied the stand pipe Monday with the new cables. Now let the winds blow and the rains descend, it will not hurt or move it from its solid foundation. Yes, verily.

Geo. Lindsey Jr., of Red Cloud, Nebraska, surprised our citizens by dropping in on them last Saturday evening. This is the first time he has visited Paw Paw since his departure three years ago. He is the same old time George and told many very interesting stories of the west to the interest of our people. He is doing a lucrative business at Red Cloud and thinks there is no place on earth like that section of country. His wife came with him as far as Sterling to visit the home of her childhood.—Paw Paw, (Ill.)Times.

Kenyon Skeen is in Hastings.

D. C. Myers is owner of a very fine colt.

B. F. Boynton, of Illinois is in the city.

L. P. Albright and wife were in Hastings Sunday.

Miss Hettie Skeen has returned to Crete to resume her musical studies.

The city is just alive with people now and strangers are constantly coming here for the purpose of locating.

The street cars which are to run on our street railway have been named respectively, "George Holland" and "L. P. Albright."

It is rumored in Superior that the Northwestern will have control of the new railroad to be built from Superior to this city. That will suit us.

It is rumored that the Nebraska Southern intends to commence work soon on their line to Red Cloud as all the precincts have voted bonds.—Superior Journal.

The assessor goeth the rounds among the people of our town, but how wonderful 'tis said of the people who are afraid of this assessor stand in the city aforesaid.

Red Cloud had only nine votes against high license in the mayoralty contest, and will have saloons this year. One year without houses and Red Cloud completely of fanaticism.—Orleans Press.

Our friend, Wm. Irons, of Inavale, recently purchased of Sigmaster & Sons of Keota, Iowa, a very fine thoroughbred Norman horse, that has a pedigree as long as the moral law. It is a fine specimen of horse flesh.

Hugh Reed, Fred Reed's little boy, while playing with matches the other day, set fire to the rick of hay and burned a hundred dollars worth that Fred had just purchased. The little fellow said the match got so hot he could not hold it and had to let it drop.

The excitement about coal near Orleans continues. Mr. Louis Cramer is working hard to get the vein opened on his place and the new company just organized is making arrangements to push work on the several places leased by it. Let the good work go on and let us have coal and plenty of it at a living price. Orleans Press.

Where Tascott is Hiding.

Detective—Eureka! I've struck it at last.

Wife—Stuck what?

"The reason Tascott has so completely disappeared for public view, I know where to search for him now, I'll find him."

"Merely me! Are you going to the north pole?"

"No indeed. I think he must have got a job as clerk in some store that don't advertise."
