Hurray for Harrison, he's the man. If I can't vote, my father can.

Will Yeiser has purchased the Red Cloud Tank Line of Chas Webb, and will take possession the 1st of October. Charley goes to Canon City, Colorado, to start a new line. We are sorry to lose him from our midst but hope he may have a bright future in his new location. We wish Will success in his new undertaking.

W. N. King the young man who has been doing up the city and country for miles around, yesterday afternoon won his first "knock-out" in the police court. Manager Hull, of the Paxton, from whom King received $10 on a draft drawn on the State National bank of Denver, Colo., failed to make a case before the jury summoned to try the complaint. A verdict of not guilty was rendered, and King was sent back to jail until Wednesday next, when he will be again arraigned on the charge of having secured $15 from Mr. Downing, of the Burlington & Missouri, on a check forged on a Red Cloud bank.—Omaha Republican.

It has been disc. word that western Kansas is the Eden from which grand-father Adam and grandmother Eve were driven for feeding with Goodmans winesaps. The stump of the identical tree under which Mrs. Adam was beguiled is just south of the river in Hamilton county. The flaming sword that guarded the tree of life has been stolen by the Indians or the cowboys, but the big tree is there from which Mrs. Eve manufactured her fashionable but somewhat scant wearing apparel. It is dead now—probably winter-killed—but like our old flag, it is still there, and furnishes evidence which the oldest inhabitants dare not dispute. The soil is just as fruitful as in 'ye olden times,' and produce prodigiously. Sunflowers can be seen that will make a dozen fence rails and a whole lot of cord wood. Potatoes grow so big that they can only be roasted by building a fire on the windward side and when one section is done waiting for the wind to change. Cabbage leaves are used for circus tents and hoop-poles are made out of timothy stalks. Jack rabbits grow as large as horses and the tail feathers of the wild goose make excellent fence posts, the wheat is larger than the corn in most states and it is dangerous to plant rye, as the roots have to be grabbed out before the pround can be plowed. A man planted a turnup one mile from the railroad last summer, and the railroad company sued him for obstructing the way before the middle of July. Pie plant makes excellent bridge timbers, and pumpkins are in demand this winter for houses and barns. Pea-pods are used for ferry boats on the Arkansas river, and onion seeds are much sought after, for walling up wells, and for terrace work. Rye straw when properly connected makes superior drainage pipes, and the husks of the berry, when provided with rockers make unique baby cradles. North of Coolidge are several lakes of strained honey, and we seen showers of rose water and cologne in the early part of the year. This settling of western Kansas is restoring Eden to its primitive glory and man to his first estate.—Ex.

For the benefit of "L. M. Barns" and "Myrtle A. Lyman," I send a copy of an article that I clipped from a paper some years ago and pasted on a blank leaf in my bible and if you see fit to print it, several others can cut it from your columns and do likewise.

Curious facts about the Bible.—A prisoner confined in solitary confinement obtained a copy of the Bible and by three years careful study obtained the following facts: The Bible contains 3,586,489 letters, 773,692 words, 31,174 verses, 1,189 chapters, and 66 books. The word "and" occurs 46,277 times; the word "Lord" occurs 1,855 times; the word "reverend" occurs but once which is in the 9th verse of the 111th psalm; the middle verse is in the 8th verse of the 118th psalm. The 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter J. The finest chapter to read is 26th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. The 19th chapter of II. Kings and the 47th chapter of Isaiah are alike. The longest verse is the 9th verse of the 8th chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the 35th verse of the 11th chapter of St. John. The 8th 15th, 21st and 31st verse of the 107th Psalm end alike. Each verse of the 136th Psalm ends alike. There are no names or words of more than six syllables.
