

AN IMMUTABLE LAW.

The man who fears to go into an enterprise on account of competition is not made of that sort of stuff which leads to marked success.

Competition means strife, antagonism, in short, war. It exists both in the natural world and the business world.

It is a very bad plan to have cattle of all ages promiscuously in the same enclosure. Calves under a year or up to eighteen months for the females, and up to three or four for the males.

STOCK ITEMS.

The large breeds of horses are not as serviceable on soft lands or for driving as a cross of such breeds on our native mares, which will produce a horse well adapted for all kinds of work.

Cows are often said to dry up in the fall, when in fact they freeze up. Good, warm quarters, warm water and soft feed, as a rule, will soon prevent that drying up.

Horses that have been clipped should be kept carefully blanketed when left standing in the cold or storm.

Do not suppose the cow is drying off because the milk flow has lessened at this season, as the cause may be a change from green to dry food.
