AT COST.

Attention Farmers!

And Stockman I have just received a fresh stock of

"Raven's Horse, Cattle and Poultry Food"

I have sold in the last six years hundreds of this condition powder, and have yet to hear the first complaint from any purchaser. It will keep your hogs in health and increase the fat. It will make the hens lay. It is the best thing for horses there is in the market. Try it. For sale only by

Wasteful Winter Pasturing.
Every time the ground is uncovered in winter some farmers turn out cows, sheep and other stock to browse on frosted and innutritious herbage. Some of them think they save by them, but they are greatly mistaken. Frosted grass quickly has all its strength washed out of it and becomes a drastic irritator of the stomach of any animal tempted by hunger to eat it. Left where it lies, it has some value as a mulch for the grass roots over which it grew. When removed it is only an injury. The winter pasturing on far western plains is not comparable to this. These plains are, or used to be, rainless, and the herbage dried into tolerably good hay before freezing. Of late years rains have increased on the plains, and the winter hay no longer possesses its former nutritive value.

For the benefit of the Riverton Enterprise, we will say that Judge Gaslin adjourned court on petition of the Webster county bar. Whatever may be Judge Gaslin's faults THE CHIEF believes in giving him his dues.

The democratic party never were very much on war as their record plainly shows for the last fifty years, that is as a party, hence the people of the country ought not to expect Cleveland and Bayard to bristle up to Germany over the Samoan trouble to any large extent. The policy of that party has been weak-kneed all through the past four years.

The submission amendment has passed the senate. Now let the house of representatives do their duty and give the people a chance to vote on the subject for themselves. The legislature should not put themselves up as bigger men than the people who elect them, but should remember that they are only creatures of the people to do the bidding of the people. THE CHIEF is not a prohibitionist but believes in people governing, and if the legislature does not acquiesce in the matter there will be something drop and drop heavy some day.

Our remark some few weeks ago in reference to state and private banks being duly inspected by state examiners seems to be the prevailing idea among men who are familiar with those institutions. It is an absolute fact that there is no responsible management of these banks by the state, and if those kind of banks wish to defraud their creditors it is a very easy matter for them to do so. The state legislature should by all means protect the people by passing a more stringent law governing state and private banking institutions. It is an absolute necessity.

The legislature should avail themselves of the opportunity to correct our election laws. There is altogether too many chances for fraud under the present law. In this county for nearly every year for the past five, there has been large sums of money used to defeat the regular tickets and thwart the will of the people. The Australian law or some other law should be enacted to prevent election frauds, and then one to prevent electioneering and otherwise influencing the votes of the people, before election. It would be the means of knocking some of our would-be political steers in the head and give the people a chance to elect their officers without interference of cranky politicians.

PLEASANT PRAIRIE.

Pleasant Prairie still exists after the good hits given its "moonshine" by the "man in the moon" its dark nights will come with the warm weather. Change is busy as else where. S. I. Umpherson's sold out to Mr. Madison who is now a resident of P. P. Wm. Rankle will vacate the farm of R. K. Orchard soon, and Mr. O. and family will again be among us. Who will make the next change.

But few of the first settlers remain here but they are bound to stick. Mrs. J. B. Cleghorn is in very poor health.

We learn the sad news of the death of Mrs. Iney, E. Springer wife of J. L. Springer at their home in Bladen after an illness of a few days. Mrs. S. was formerly a resident of this place and will be remembered by the pupils of our school as one of their number four years ago. GAIN.

COWLES.
