

HOW TO FEED CALVES.

Teach Them to Eat Early and Supply a Variety of Good Food.

I have often had a calf that was actually impossible to make drink until it had gone some twenty-four hours or more without food.

A large percent of the calves raised by hand are long-haired, pot-bellied and unthrifty, from irregular feeding, giving the food in varying quantities.

It is sudden changes in diet and overfeeding that produces scours, and unless checked at once, scours will very soon ruin the calf.

CHOOSING A TRADE.

Select What You Can and What You Have a Taste For.

First of all make sure of what you will be best fitted for in the long run. Remember that some kind of work may be in demand now and in a few years the demand may die out.

Choose what you can and what you have a taste for. If you are a weakling, don't try to be a blacksmith.

Economy with the corn crop means that the fodder should be stored under cover and not left standing in the fields, as is often practiced.

AS REGARDS COLDS.

How to Get Rid of This Common and Troublesome Complaint.

It is safe to say that out of every four persons in this city three have colds. The rapidly shifting weather, the interchange of sunshine and rain and the general carelessness of the people are the causes.

There are more ways of treating a cold than there are denominational systems for leading a correct life.

Of course, the best way is to keep yourself in good condition, so that the system can resist the attacks of disease.

These natural curiosities are about a dozen in number, Wailey's cave being the largest. It is a double-storied cavern, the lower chambers being some four hundred or five hundred feet in length and about twelve feet in width.

The starvation plan is undoubtedly a cheap one, and it can not do much harm to try it, although it may go decidedly against the grain to make the experiment when the patient is stopping at a high-priced American hotel.

Lord William Nevill is a younger son of Lord Abercromby, and a few years ago he shocked his father—who is the most virulent of Protestants—by becoming a Roman Catholic.

—An Alabama man, charged with stealing a calf, made the following statement: "I was always taught to be honest, and I never stole a calf in my life."

—"I can tell you, my dear," said a wife of a year's standing to one just newly married.

—Mothers will find Dr. Wincell's teaching syrup just the medicine to have in the house for the children.

SUBORNED TESTIMONY.

The Ease With Which It Can Be Purchased in Our Large Cities.

"It is so easy to procure suborned testimony in Chicago that, no matter what your character and standing may be, I am convinced that if a rich and unscrupulous man desired, for any purpose, to blast my reputation for good, he could do it thoroughly so far as legal procedure is concerned."

Meantime, the statement has been made that "nerve foods" have been discovered whose use is not attended by reaction or injurious effects of any kind.

ICE-CAVES IN MAINE.

Natural Wonders That Are Well Worth a Visit.

Being a rocky State, Maine abounds in caves, of which the outside world knows very little.

These natural curiosities are about a dozen in number, Wailey's cave being the largest. It is a double-storied cavern, the lower chambers being some four hundred or five hundred feet in length and about twelve feet in width.

One of the caves is shaped like a well, and is from twenty to thirty feet in depth. There are regular steps, which wind around the sides to the bottom.

The other chamber leads into a cavern which is large and somewhat triangular, having several chambers, one of which connects with Well cave.

Amphitheater cave is really a great depression in the mountain, overlooked by Table rock, the highest of a series of rocks or ledges that convey the impression of rows of benches.

The French Committee on Hygiene has lately brought the dangerous nature of some food preservatives into prominence.

SELF-MURDER BY DRUGS.

A Crime of Which Many Otherwise Sensible Persons Are Guilty.

When it was stated, a couple of years ago, that the cocaine habit would prove worse, if possible, than the morphine habit, the statement was made after consulting a distinguished physician.

At the end of that time this poplar stick was hard and showed no sign of decay; whereas, ordinarily, poplar will, when cut in winter or spring, be half rotten in eighteen months.

THE WHITE PASHA.

Explorer Stanley and the King of African Slave-Traders.

Probably no man has ever excelled Stanley in his wise treatment of the Africans. He seems to have a natural instinct of the best way to manage these people, who combine great childishness with natural ferocity.

Stanley, very likely, if he ever got a chance to go into the slave-trade again, without being found out, he would do it.

—It is singular that it should now be thought necessary to send a search expedition for Stanley, after all that he has done in that direction himself.

SEASONED BY LEAVES.

A Good Way of Increasing the Heating Power of Wood.

Any one who ever cut a stick for building and neglected to remove the leaves knows how soon the bark shrivels and the life dries out of the buds.

At the end of that time this poplar stick was hard and showed no sign of decay; whereas, ordinarily, poplar will, when cut in winter or spring, be half rotten in eighteen months.
