One of the principal stockholders of the "Big S" monopoly advertises his business on little sheets of paper stuck up around town. Evidently he hasn't much confidence in his pet scheme.

Our efficient district court clerk, Mr. L. H. Fort, has been on the sick list this week, but has been partially able to attend to business. It takes a severe case of sickness to get Doc. clear down.

Wonder if "that prominent attorney" was the same fellow that ordered the chief fogleman of the "Big S" to vacuouse the ranch and wait for an invitation before forcing his presence where it was not desired?

The name of M. R. Bentley has been suggested for mayoralty. He seems to be a very popular candidate among four people. We must say he would make a good mayor, and THE CHIEF would like to see him nominated and elected.

A. S. Marsh, postmaster at Red Cloud, was in the city yesterday. He is prepared to step out as soon as the president can get around to appoint his successor. He is one of those democrats who believes that "to the victor belong the spoils."—Wymore Union.

We understand that some of the stockholders of the "Big S" are dissatisfied with the concern. Well, it has been demonstrated before now that elephants never did pay except for a side show, but then if the thing did die what a fine chance that would be for a taxidermist to stuff the hide.

Mrs. A. J. Welch, of Red Cloud, came up Saturday evening and visited over Sunday, with her husband, Mc-Cook's new station agent. She went back to Red Cloud Tuesday to arrange for packing, to return to Peerless McCook and settle down. Poor Red Cloud seems to be quite exorcised this spring.—McCook Democrat.

THE MISSING BRASSARD.

For Whom There Was $100 Reward Offered Found Dead Near Campbell.

About the tenth day of last January, Albert Brassard, a bachelor, and residing alone near Campbell, Nebraska, while under a fit of temporary insanity, left his house and was never heard of until last Tuesday when some workmen found him dead, 100 yards from the road, about ten miles northwest of Red Cloud, near the farm of G. H. Michaels, where he had laid for over 60 days. He must have wandered aimlessly around for hours, and finally overcome by cold and hunger and died without a friend being near to sooth and comfort him in his dying hours. He was 28 years old.
His boots were found 60 rods from his house, his lantern 80 rods and the principal part of his clothing over four and a half miles from there, and one mile further on his undershirt was discovered. The only raiment that covered his body was a knit undershirt, muslin drawers and a pair of overalls.
His feet were worn through the skin to the bones by incessant traveling.
The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:

State of Nebraska, Webster county:
At an inquest holden at Inavale township in said Webster county, on the 20th day of March, 1889, upon the dead body of Albert Brassard, there lying, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, the said jurors upon their oath do say that the said Albert Brassard left his home on the 10th day of January, 1889, in a fit of temporary insanity and came to his death from fatigue and exposure.
In testimony whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the day and year aforesaid.

O. R. PITNEY,
J. ORNDUFF,
G. H. MICHAELS,

Attest:
That Canal.

There seems to be a great deal of enthusiasm displayed on the canal subject by our people, who readily see what an immense advantage the city would have over its neighbors in the way of power for the purpose of inducing manufacturing institutions to locate here. It is one of the most important enterprises that has been talked of in Red Cloud for a long time. It is both feasible and comparatively easy to construct, and out of a reasonable amount of money could be constructed and ready for use in a few months. If our people are really in earnest and want to do something for the city, let them go forward with this enterprise as fast as possible. All ready we have five important manufacturing institutions that want to locate here with a combined capital of $250,000, and if we can get the canal in operation so as to turnish cheap power, there is not much doubt but what they can all be induced to come with the proper aid.
Don't delay, but assist in organizing the company for its construction. The board of trade held a meeting Monday night at Judge Sweezy's office and the matter was freely discussed and we have no doubt will be put through.
Good.

A Good Officer.

Judge Sweezy is making one of the most thorough county judges that we have ever had, and when he turns his office over to his successor the records will be in fine shape. He is putting the records in order and indexing cases, something that has never been done heretofore. He is also looking after probate cases with a sharp eye, and those administrators who have been in any way careless or too free with their wards money or property may expect to be hauled over the coals. This eminently correct and THE CHIEF is pleased to see a judge with backbone enough to make people respect him.

The City Election.

THE CHIEF desires to say that in view of the city election which takes place April 2d, it would be well for the citizens, irrespective of former affiliations or previous conditions of servitude, to see to it that only the best citizens are selected for city officers. It is highly important that such be the case as there will be many important matters to come before the city during the next year that will be of interest to every tax payer and citizen. Then again the business of the city needs retrenching and overhauling as far as possible, and a thousand and one other things that should be looked after. We want careful, considerate men who are both enterprising and economical.
