If you live in town and keep chickens it is your duty to keep them on your own premises. If they wander into a neighbor's yard and destroy a garden, it is that neighbor's duty to kill every chicken on the spot. He should also dress and eat them and would not then be compensated. If you keep a chicken prepare a place for it or your neighbor will.

The man who would't take a newspaper was in town the other day. Among other indications of being behind the times, we noticed that he set his watch by the sign in front of the jewelry store, wiped his nose on a bolt of calico hanging in front of a store, stopped at a bank to inquire the price of coal and paid twenty-five cents to a drug clerk for an almanac.

Eggs have sold as low as 25c this week although the general price at retail has been 10c. Such a price must be terribly galling to the producing hen, and be it said to her: honor that she gives just as good eggs for 8c and 10c as she did last winter for 25c. She never adulterates her goods and man is not permitted to do so because of the hen's hermetically sealing methods of putting them up.

For this reason a monument, or an open house, or a town hall should be built in the memory of the hen.

Webster street is being graded again for the hundredth time, and those streets that have never been graded, remain ungraded still, and probably never will be until a commissioner can be secured to do his duty irrespective of favoritism.

One of our dudsish young men, who is badly mashed on one of Red Cloud's bright eyed damsels, paid his usual visit to her last Sunday, and while there the weather clerk managed to get up a first-class rain which compelled the aforesaid y. m. to accept the hospitalities of the lady's friends, and stayed all night. Don't ask who it is for we can't give it away.

You Cannot Afford
At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoea balium in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all indications of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of Deyo's Diarrhoea balium will do more good in one of these cases than any other medicine on hand. Get it at Deyo's.

May Day.
On last Wednesday was the first day of May and our young ladies and their young male friends, after careful preparation of numerous May baskets proceeded to their friends residences and left them little tokens of friendship.

At the Kindergarten school on 5th Avenue the teacher, Mrs. Myers, and her pupils indulged in a proper observance of the day. The children took their dinners and had a pleasant time. The room was neatly decorated and at the proper time little Jennie Myers was selected as queen of the May and was crowned by Nellie Falkenburg and Ehel Hosmer. Helen McFarland and Alice Coombs acted as the queen's attendants. The little folks paraded the streets and enjoyed it highly.

During the evening the members of the Christian church gave a fine social entertainment in the Moon block. It was a very pleasant affair.

Eggs.
That is to say at the residence of Rev. W. A. Falkenburg last Friday night, the members of the Methodist church of which he is the talented pastor, "swooped down upon him like an eagle from the skies" to the number of 30 or 40, and presented him with all kinds of eatable, raiment, etc. of which, there were several dozen of eggs. The invaders (not of Oklahoma) stayed several hours and during that brief space of time enjoyed themselves hugely at the worthy divine's expense (we mean socially.) It was both a pleasantly occasion, and the people left feeling that it was good to be there.

Wedded.
C. W. Monson, one of the affable and courteous conductors of the N. & M. has left the paths of single blessedness and taken unto himself for better or worse, a helpmate in the person of Miss Maude Harding, of Ainsworth, Iowa, at which place the ceremony was performed on the 18th of April. The newly married couple arrived in this city the first of last week, and have settled down to the realities of life. The Chief takes pleasure, along with their hosts of friends, in wishing them a happy wedded life, may their journey over life's troubled waters be one of perfect peace.

Still They Come.
We are constantly receiving bargains from our New York buyer. We just received a lot of ladies black kid gloves of the finest quality that we will sell for $1.15 per pair, worth $1.75, everywhere. We have a few of our black kid gloves left at 49 cents per pair, worth double the amount. The new line of linen torchon laces are wonderfully cheap. Look at our satens for 10c per yard, worth 18 cents. Our white goods, embroideries, laces etc. You cannot afford to neglect seeing them at the price. Our millinery department is still flourishing, new orders every day.

Yours's C. O. D. EMPORIUM.

That Gas Well.
The subscribers to the Red Cloud Improvement Company, met on Tuesday evening, and after a talk up of the situation, appointed a committee to ascertain the cost of sinking an oil or gas well, and another committee to raise the capital stock to $5,000. The project ought to be decidedly successful if the citizens will take hold of it with earnestness. Who knows what is under us? There may be gas, coal, kerosene, salt, iron, in fact we are just as liable to strike oil as they are elsewhere. Go ahead boys, do something, if it is only to make another effort and then die.

A Lemon Squeeze.
Something new and decidedly "sweet," under the direction of the ladies B. H. M. society, at the Y. M. C. A. hall, Tuesday evening May 7th. Lemonade, lemon cake, lemon pie, and lemon ice cream will be served, and lemon seed ornaments given as prizes. Everyone invited, and each one requested to bring a lemon.
