FALL OF THE BASTILLE.

Centennial Observance of This Event.

Disturbances in Paris on the Prohibition of a Boulangist Meeting—Boulangists Threaten a Revolution.

PARIS, July 15.—M. Derochele, M. Gerisse and other Boulangist members of the Chamber of Deputies met in the Place de la Concorde before the statue of Strasbourg yesterday, intending to hold a meeting. A crowd of several thousand persons gathered and M. Derochele was about to begin a speech when a police commissary named Clementi forced his way through the crowd and approaching Derochele forbade him to speak. Derochele protested, but the police official was obdurate.

Derochele then began affixing floral wreaths to the railing around the statue, at the same time leading the crowd in shouts of "Vive Boulangier." Clementi tried to arrest Derochele, but the latter stoutly resisted, saying that he had not made a speech and had only cheered for Boulangier. He refused to accompany the officer to the police station.

Clementi thereupon seized him, but the crowd came to Derochele's rescue and took him away from the officer who was being roughly handled by the mob, when a large body of police suddenly appeared upon the scene and charged the crowd, driving them in all directions and rescuing the unfortunate commissary. A large number of persons were arrested.

Lagarre and Derochele during the scrimmage jumped into a cab and were driven to the office of La Presse, where a mob gathered and indulged in noisy demonstrations. The police cleared the streets and made many more arrests.

The incident has caused a sensation throughout the city and dangerous developments are feared.

A band of ruffians yesterday in the neighborhood of Navors cafe, in the Rue Royal, attacked an Italian flag. The mob was so enraged that they tore it down and trampled it in the mud. They then made an attack on the cafe and completely wrecked the place.

BOULANGIST SCHEME.

LONDON, July 15.—The adherents of Boulangier who came over from France to take part with their chief in the London celebration of the fall of the Bastille, for the most part, express confidence in the peaceful solutions of the problems which the French people have before them. They deride the speech of M. Brisson, in which he declares that the people of France often become incapable of protecting themselves, instancing the fact that they once allowed the Republic to be destroyed and succumbed to the Empire, and in which he concluded that the majority should defend the liberties of Frenchmen by force of arms.

Notwithstanding their disclaimer of warlike intentions, however, these Boulangists do not pretend to deny that in the event of their own success at the coming elections they propose to remove President Carnot from his position at the head of the French republic and that this will be done at the point of the bayonet if necessary, unless he yields to the wishes of Boulangier and bows to the expressed will of the people. It can be very easily surmised that in view of these and similar expressions on the part of the Boulangists and the equal determined tone of their enemies the outlook for October is ominous. Boulangier's assertion in his speech yesterday that his aim was to work for the strengthening of the Republic is generally accepted as a ruse to divert the threatened alliance between the republicans and the supporters of the cause of Paris, an alliance which consummated must prove a death blow to Boulangist ambitions.

BASTILLE CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCE.

PARIS, July 15.—The one hundred anniversary of the fall of the Bastille was celebrated by the public meetings and fetes in Paris and throughout the provinces yesterday. Transparencies bearing representations of General Boulangier were displayed in the windows of the League of Patriots and other Boulangist resorts. These devices called forth a few hoootings from passers-by, but with the exception of the disorders in the Place de Concorde and at the office of La Presse, the day passed off without disturbances of any kind.

The fire-works at the fetes last evening were somewhat marred by rain, but the Place de la Concorde, the Champs Elysees, the Bois de Boulogne, the Eiffel tower and the Trocadero palace were a blaze of light. At midnight thousands of persons thronged the Bois de Boulogne and there was no sign of any abatement of the fun.

M. WADDINGTON ON BOULANGIER.

LONDON, July 15.—M. Waddington, the French Ambassador here, gave a banquet last evening to prominent members of the French colony. In a speech after the banquet he declared against Boulangism. He asserted that the Boulangist programme had no parallel in America, because in America the President was protected, not by universal suffrage, but by delegates of the State. Moreover, in America there was no standing army and a coup d'etat was therefore impossible. The triumph of Boulangier would end in disaster for France. He himself did not believe that Boulangier would succeed, but nevertheless he considered it necessary for his countrymen to rally around President Carnot in defense of the Republic.

ARRESTED AND RELEASED.

The Pugilist Sullivan Arrested on Arrival at Nashville—Released on Habeas Corpus—Kilrain WANTED.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 12.—When the northbound Louisville & Nashville train pulled into this city at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning a crowd of people surged around one of the cars to see John L. Sullivan, who was known to be on board. A rumor soon obtained circulation that a requisition was in the hands of the police, several of whom had boarded the car. Some discussion and finally a struggle was seen in the car, and an officer reached over with handcuffs in his hand, seized the pugilist's arm and pulled him out into the aisle. Sullivan resisted.

Muldoon who occupied the same seat put his head out of the window and cried to the crowd: "Gentlemen, I demand American protection." His patriotic wail was greeted with a variety of responses. Some cheered Sullivan and begged him to "knock the coppers out." Others cried: "Hurrah for the Nashville police" and "hit him with your club."

One youngster who was hanging on the outside of the car window ducked his head behind the sill and informed the crowd that "the cops have out their guns."

After a brief struggle Sullivan was taken from the car and hustled to a carriage. In the scuffle he drew back to knock down a policeman, when Chief Clark stuck a pistol in his face and told him if he struck he would kill him.

The officers next grabbed Charlie Johnson, of Brooklyn, Sullivan's backer, who resisted vigorously, but finally began to cry with pain.

During the scrimmage, Muldoon sat quietly by and was undisturbed. Mike Cleary, Sullivan's other second, hid in the excitement, and a man named Lynch jumped off the train. Only Johnson and Sullivan were detained, although the others were wanted.

The arrest was made by authority of a telegram from Governor Lowry, of Mississippi, to the Nashville police. Sullivan has retained ex-Attorney-General W. H. Washington, who says that the officers went beyond their authority and can not hold their men. An immediate attempt will be made to get the parties out on a writ of habeas corpus.

Governor Lowry's telegram offers a reward of $1,000, and it is believed that if released on the present charge Sullivan will be re-arrested in order to secure time for a requisition to be obtained.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 12.—The question whether John L. Sullivan and Charlie Johnson could be legally held in custody to await requisition papers from Mississippi was argued in the circuit court here yesterday afternoon. The defendants' petition for a writ of habeas corpus was read, stating that they had been arrested on no process known to the law and held without any charge against them and without shadow of legal authority; that they had committed no offense against the laws of Tennessee and were not subject to legal restraint. They had committed no felony in this or any other State.

The counsel discussed the matter at length and finally Judge McAllister rendered his decision. He was very emphatic in his opinion that to hold Sullivan longer would be a most arbitrary act on the part of the court; that the officers had arrested him without warrant or authority of law; that misdemeanors were not extraditable by the rulings of Tennessee courts and by precedents of Governor Taylor. He therefore ordered Sullivan released.

There was an immense crowd present and the decision of the judge was greeted with great applause. Sullivan was made a hero of and the town was his until he left it at eight o'clock for the East.
