NEBRASKA STATE NEWS.

THE Governor has declared a quarantine against Weld and Logan Counties, Col., where Texas fever is said to exist.

CHARLES WHEELER, a Plattsmouth teamster, was recently hauling a load of sand and when near some part of the harness broke. He saw a piece of wire hanging from one of the poles and took hold of it to break off a piece to repair the harness. The wire was the end of a guy wire which happened to be touching the main wire ground. A leak of about 600 volts caused a very serious shock to Wheeler. He could not let go of the wire and cried frantically for help. He finally fell across a timber, which broke the current and allowed his grasp to be released. His hands were badly turned and the muscular contraction was so strong that the muscles of his forearms were torn loose from the bone.

ABOUT dark the other night as Mrs. William Caldwell, the wife of a respectable farmer living two miles east of Tobias, was returning home from a neighbor's she was set upon by an unknown man, who sprang from the weeds beside the road, knocked her insensible with a sandbag, dragged her some distance from the road, tore off her clothes and attempted to assault her. She recovered sufficiently to get home, but was in a critical condition. Armed parties went in search of the villain with the avowed determination of lynching him.

JOHN FAY, of Campbell, and one of his horses, was killed the other night by lightning at the Eagle mill, three miles north of Elkhorn.

FRENCH ELECTIONS.

A Grave Matter of Government Involved—Conflicting Reports.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Paris correspondents of the London press describe the interest shown in yesterday's election as the most general ever noticed on any of the kind. The popular feeling in the French capital is that a genuine crisis has been reached. A common remark is that yesterday was the most important for France since the day of Sedan.

The anxiety to obtain returns indicating the result throughout the provinces was very marked, and every scrap of news bulletined at the leading newspaper offices was eagerly scanned by large crowds of people. It is not likely, however, that any facts that may be received will be sufficient to show the result with certainty. For full and safe returns it will probably be necessary to wait another day. The leaders of all factions express the greatest confidence, but the fact is that they are all hopelessly in the dark as to the probable outcome. The election is conspicuously the expression of the popular will; and in this respect it differs from many previous French elections, which were merely the registration by the people of a result already achieved by their leaders.

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News comments on the seriousness of the voting in France. He thinks there has been a great relative fall in the power of the Boulangerists since January. He predicts that both Boulanger and Naquet will be defeated in the second ballots and that four-fifths of the re-ballots are likely to result in favor of Republicans. All the correspondents of the London newspapers dwell upon the gravity displayed by the electors. The Government left it to the mayors' discretion to declare void and null all votes cast for the condemned Boulangerists. The Paris correspondent of the Times comes to the conclusion that on the second ballots the reactionaries and Boulangerists combined will be far from having the strength they expected. The Standard's Paris dispatch says the prevailing impression is that the Government is worsted and there will be a severe struggle in the second ballots.

There was a riot at Aringy. A crowd forced the doors of the building occupied by the Boulangerist committee, burned the voting papers and set fire to the building. Thence the crowd went to the Boulangerist club, broke in the doors, wrecked the furniture and drove out the members.

Reports from Montmartre say that even the defeat of Boulanger is possible, although his supporters are using every means to secure his return. The clergy of Montmartre ordered prayers in his favor. The Boulanger committee was in continuous secret session directing the contest.

The workmen in the Montmartre district deposited their ballots early and departed immediately without exchanging views with their fellow workmen. The demeanor of the electors was quiet and there was no crowding at the polls. After the closing of the urns there was some excitement in various parts of the city, especially on the boulevards. Here the different parties paraded the streets, the Boulangerists singing popular refrains. There was a great upsurge at the offices of the Presse, where an announcement of Boulanger's victory in Montmartre was displayed in a transparency. The news was received with mingled cheers and hoots by the rival contingents and as a row seemed imminent the police and mounted guards charged upon and dispersed the crowd. Several persons were arrested.

M. Thevenet, Minister of Justice, is elected in the Second district of Lyons. In the other divisions of Lyons a second ballot will be necessary. In all the divisions of Bordeaux second ballots will have to be taken. In the First district of Havre Seifred, Republican, defeated March, Boulangerist. M. Flourens is elected in Embrun.

It is reported that M. Lockroy and M. Clemenceau are elected. There appears to be no chance of the Conservatives winning a single seat in Paris. Nothing is known of the result in M. Ferry's district. M. Flouquet and M. Lockroy have a good chance of success on the second ballots.

Three provincial priests have been suspended from their functions for preaching against the Government.

For the thirty-seven uncontested seats the members elected consist of twenty-eight Royalists, eight Ministerialists and the Boulangerist, Lebrasse.

The provincial vote seems to have been tentative. The latest totals are: Republicans elected, 168; anti-Republicans, 80; rebalots necessary, 145.

Punishment Looming Up.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—The principals in the recent prize fight will have to pay dearly for their sport. Charles Daly, Dan Daly, Joseph A. Murphy, sporting editor of a morning paper; William Quincey and a number of others are held as accessories to murder in the second degree, with which Ahearn is charged. The punishment is not less than ten years in the penitentiary for principal and accessories. The moral sentiment of the whole city is thoroughly aroused and the Law and Order League will conduct the prosecution.

Down on Jute Bagging.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 22.—The bitterness of the farmers of this State against the jute bagging trust seems to be on the increase. Recently a lot of jute bagging belonging to Elijah Burt was taken from his gin and burned. In some counties the alliance has passed resolutions directing the expulsion from the order of any member using jute bagging, members declaring that they would rather wait and take the risk of getting cotton bawled than to murder in the second degree with which Ahearn is charged. The punishment is not less than ten years in the penitentiary for principal and accessories. The moral sentiment of the whole city is thoroughly aroused and the Law and Order League will conduct the prosecution.

Liquor Sellers Arrested.

GUTHRIE, I. T., Sept. 22.—For several months the Government had made much effort to prevent the sale of liquor in Guthrie. The liquor smugglers became emboldened and over a dozen groggeries have been running in full blast during the last month. Yesterday, however, a deputy collector dropped into the city unexpectedly and before night twenty-two men were under arrest for selling liquor. They will be sent to Wichita for trial.

Huntington and His Daughter.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—C. P. Huntington, in an interview, said: "The papers are having an immense amount of trouble trying to settle whether my daughter is or is not engaged to Prince Hatzfeldt. One might imagine that it is something unusual for an American young lady to get married. Once for all I should like to state that I have not broken off any match between my daughter and Prince Hatzfeldt for the reason that no such match ever existed. The young gentleman has been lavish enough with attentions and there is no very much reason to doubt the character of his intentions, but it takes two people to make a bargain—sometimes three, and neither my daughter nor myself know what to think of this Teutonic nobleman."
