With this issue of the Herald, our brother, W. A. Honeycutt, takes charge of it and will act as business manager until January 1. 1890. He will be constantly in the office ready to transact any business that comes under the head of printing. There are a great many of our subscribers who are indebted to the paper for from one to two years subscription. Heretofore we have been very modest about it and have scarcely mentioned that we need money. But matters have been so shaped that we must have money. The Herald will be managed by our brother but we will continue as editor.

This week we go to Red Cloud to commence business with Mr. H. W. Gulliford who has recently bought out R. K. Stowe's large Real Estate, Loan and Insurance business. Mr. Stowe had the most extensive business of the nature in the west, and his office and the agency of all the companies he represents have been turned over to us. Mr. Stowe will remain with us a few weeks then he will go to Omaha and engage in a similar business to what he has been engaged in at Red Cloud.

We invite all our friends who wish to make a loan on their real estate, or get their property insured, or if they want to buy or sell a farm to call on Gulliford & Honeycutt, successors to R. K. Stowe, Red cloud Nebraska.—Cowles Herald.
