FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

List of United States Senators and Representatives.

The following is a correct roll of the prima facie members of the Fifty-first Congress, including those elected to fill vacancies caused by death and resignations and those chosen by the four new States. The latter have all elected their House members, but Montana is yet to choose two United States Senators:

THE rumor that the Prince of Wales is suffering from Bright's disease seems to be confirmed. There is no doubt that the English royal family is plunged in gloom, and that Victoria is worried about the succession. According to the latest reports the Prince's physicians have informed him that he has not more than two years' lease of life. His trip to Egypt will be undertaken to relieve, if possible, his mind of its present despairing tone. He has always had a presentiment that he would never be King of England, and he is now convinced that his forebodings were cor-

THE DAVIS OBSEQUIES.

Ceremonies Attending the Funeral of Jefferson Davis at New Orleans-The Ex-Confederate Chief Buried With Military

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.-Yesterday could not have been more beautiful. At seven o'clock the sun burst forth and a beautiful Southern day dawned for the obsequies of the Southern chieftain, Jefferson Davis.

The city was crowded with thousands of people, representing the prominence, the wealth and the chivalry of the Southern States. Six or seven Governors were here, attended by their staffs, and bringing with them great delegations of people.

A dozen companies from Georgia, Texas, Mississippi and Alabama were here, and with the Louisiana State National guard and the volunteer militia of New Orleans participated in the pa-

The crush on the streets exceeded any thing that has been witnessed here on the occasion of the carnival festivities. Across in Lafayette square, just opposite the city hall, a dense multitude gathered and Canal street, Camp and St. Charles were crowded with people from all over the country.

The floral decorations were added to yesterday morning. They came from every State and city in the South, and were superb in their design and finish.

The town was draped from one end to the other with most elaborate showings of black. Business fronts and residences that were barren of mourning emblems Tuesday were covered, and every bit of bunting there was in the city flew on a staff at half mast.

As soon as the doors of the city hall were opened, a stream of visitors began to pour through the death chamber to take a farewell view of the remains of the famous Confederate leader. The crowd of visitors was even greater than that of Tuesday, there being hundreds of people from abroad whose visit to the city had been delayed.

It was not until 11:30 o'clock that the lid of the casket was closed down forever upon the features of the dead. The remains were then conveyed to the front portico of the city hall building, where the simple but impressive rites of the Episcopal Church were per-

LaFayette square in front of the city hall and the streets were densely packed with people, and the balconies and every available space from which the procession could be reviewed was crowded in the extreme.

By universal request, Mr. Davis was given a funeral in full accord with his superior rank as a military officer; in addition to which the numerous civic and other organizations combined to render the cortege in all respects most imposing, not only with reference to numbers, but in the pomp and circumstances of its elaborate ceremonial. At 12:10 the casket was conveyed from the memorial room to an improvised catafalque in the center of the front portico, whose massive pillars were entwined with a profusion of crepe. Over the casket was thrown the soft folds of a silken flag of the "Lost Cause," as also the glittering saber with which the dead soldier had carved fame and honor for himself, and glory and victory for his country on the crimson fields of Chapultepec and Monterey.

The obsequies, which were according to the ritual of the Episcopal Church, were conducted by Bishop Galleher, assisted by five officiating clergymen of various denominations.

At the conclusion of the religious services the casket was borne by a detachment of soldiers to the handsomely decorated caisson which had been prepared especially for its reception, and on which it was to be conveyed to the cemetery. From the caisson rose a catafalque, consisting of a unique and beautifully designed canopy, measuring from base to dome eight feet in length and four feet in width and supported by six bronze cannon.

As the funeral cortege traversed the streets, from the turrets of every church a knell was tolled, the clank of sabers and the tramp of iron-shod feet echoed along the interminable lines, while soul-subduing dirges blended with the solemn booming of the minute guns. Parts of the city not directly located on the line of march, or in anywise remote from the scene of pageant, were literally depopulated, their inhabitants having gathered in countless numbers on the banquettes and other available places from which an easy view of the marching column could be

Bishop Thompson opened the ceremonies by reading the first portion of the Episcopal burial service.

Then T. S. Sappington, of company B. Tenth United States infantry, stationed at Mount Vernon barracks, Ala., sounded the bugle call of taps and Bishop Galleber read the second portion of the ritual, consigning the body to the grave. An anthem by W. H. Walter was sung by the choristers to a cornet accompaniment. Bishop Thompson recited the Lord's prayer in which the choir, the clergy and the general public joined, and then the beautiful "Rock of Ages" was rendered and the religious rites were over. The Brazos Improvements.

With him comes Sir John Moore, an engineering expert sent over by English capitalists to report on the work being done. ## Helpless 40 Days

"For 25 years I have suffered with sciatic rheu-matism. Last November I was taken worse than ever, and was unable to get out of the house. I was almost helpless for forty days, suffering great agony all the time. In December I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilis. After the second bottle I was able to be qut and around and attend to business. I took five bottles, and am now so free from rheumatism that only occasionally I feel it slightly on a sudden change of weather. I have great confidence in Hood's carsaparilla."
