

THE GRAIN SUPPLY.

Statistical Report of the Department of Agriculture—A Great Quantity of Corn in Farmers' Hands—The Wheat Supply.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—The statistical report of the Department of Agriculture for March relates to the distribution and consumption of corn and wheat. It makes the proportion of the corn crop in the hands of growers 45.9 per cent., or 970,000,000 bushels, and of the wheat crop 51.9 per cent., 136,000,000 bushels.

The stock of corn on hand is the largest ever reported in March, of the largest crop after the mildest winter. The average of eight annual returns is 677,000,000 bushels; that of last year 787,000,000 bushels. The average consumption to March 1, is 1,143,000,000 bushels, a figure only exceeded last year and in 1886. The proportion of merchantable crop of 1889 is 85.7 per cent., exceeded in recent years only by those of 1884 and 1886. The average value of all corn on the 1st of December was 23.3c per bushel. The average for the 1st of March was 27.9c for merchantable and 19.3c for unmerchantable, making an aggregate value of $35,000,000 less than the December estimate.

The wheat crop of 1889 was exceeded by the crops of 1880, 1882 and 1884. The average remainder in the hands of growers on March 1 for ten years past has been 130,000,000 bushels. The average crop during this period was 450,000,000 bushels. Only in years having a product much below this average has the March remainder fallen below 130,000,000 bushels, with the sole exception of 1880, when a crop of 450,000,000 bushels followed one of 357,000,000.

Most of the wheat in farmers' hands is in States which have no surplus over consumption, or in those in which much the larger portion is consumed at home. The six spring wheat States have only 45,000,000 bushels, 18,000,000 of which will be required for spring seed and the remainder is scarcely more than four months' consumption of their population. Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, the only wheat States east of the Rocky Mountains contributing to commercial distribution, have only 60,000,000 bushels, half of which will be needed at home and a part of the remainder is commercially unavailable at present prices. It is seen, therefore, that the available supply for exportation and for home distribution to July is small. The depleted farm reserves have been measurably filled, except in a few States, but it will require the pressure of high prices to squeeze any considerable proportion of them into commercial distribution.

IN FAVOR OF HENRY.

The Travelers' Insurance Company Sued in a Large Sum.

DENVER, Col., March 11.—The master's report in the celebrated case of T. C. Henry against the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford was filed yesterday. It finds a cash balance due Henry of $92,510.16 and that there should be added to his estate's aggregate of a million dollars and orders the satisfaction of Henry's obligation.

The master finds that these obligations have been paid to the Travelers' Insurance Company by receipt of bonds of various irrigation companies of Colorado, with which Henry was connected. All claims made by the Travelers' Insurance Company for misappropriation of money by Henry in Kansas and Colorado are rejected by the master.

This result affects the most important agricultural districts and changes the legal status of more than half of the large irrigating canals of Colorado.

An action was begun by Henry yesterday in the United States Circuit Court against the Travelers' Insurance Company for $500,000 damages for illegal seizure of property. More suits for damages will follow.

ASLEEP IN THE CABOOSE.

Two Unfortunate Travelers Killed in a Freight Wreck.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 11.—There was a serious wreck on the main line of the Burlington road near Harvard, Neb., about four a. m. yesterday morning. Two extra freight cars were derailed. The one in the lead broke in two and the one following, though not running more than twelve miles an hour, ran into the caboose. It was a very heavy morning and the lights could be distinguished only a few feet away. Conductor Grant Norton and brakeman Kenney Miller, of the head train, were asleep in their caboose and did not seem to have known the train had stopped, and no danger signals were displayed. Both were almost instantly killed, and the wreck took fire at once. Norton's body was burned to a crisp. Eight or ten cars of merchandise were damaged and burned. The blame seems to be attached to the crew of the forward freight.

MINE DISASTER.

One Hundred and Fifty Lives Lost by Another Catastrophe in Wales.

LONDON, March 11.—A terrific explosion occurred yesterday in the Morne colliery, in Glamorganshire, Wales, which it is feared will be attended with much loss of life. Three hundred miners are employed and communication with them is impossible for the present.

Later advice from the Morne colliery says that 250 miners were employed, but that many have been rescued from the workings nearest the main shaft. Most of those taken out are unharmed, but several received fatal injuries. Heavy falls of rock prevented the explorers from reaching the more remote workings.

The latest estimate is that 150 lives have been lost.

DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.

The Daughter of a Wealthy Missouri Farmer Recently Assaulted by a Tramp—Armed Men in Possession of the Food.
PLEASANT HILL, Mo., March 11.—This little town, scarcely thirty miles from Kansas City, and the country for miles around, is in a fever of excitement over a dastardly outrage committed on a farmer's daughter by a lecherous tramp.

Over 500 men on horseback, armed with guns and pistols and with a number of hounds, are scouring the whole eastward south end of Jackson County and relays of guards are stationed at intervals along all the highways and railroads in search of the brute.

The name of the victim of the brute's lust is Allie Atkinson, and she is the eighteen-year-old daughter of James W. Atkinson, a prominent and wealthy farmer living three and a half miles west of this place. His farm is in a rather isolated locality, being fully half a mile off the highway leading from Pleasant Hill to Lee's Summit.

Miss Atkinson is a comely girl of prepossessing figure. Her chief charm consisted of a magnificent head of hair which she wore braided into a single plait that extended below her waist.

Shortly after dinner yesterday Miss Atkinson went to the house of Robert Hoover, the nearest neighbor, about a quarter of a mile east of her home, with a bucket for milk. There is a wood path between the Hoover and Atkinson residences leading part of the way through a patch of woods. This the young lady took and she reached the Hoover house and had her bucket filled with milk and started back about two o'clock.

As she reached the patch of woods about midway between the two houses Miss Atkinson set the bucket of milk by the roadside and stooped to her shoeing, which had become loosened. While in this stooping posture she was startled by hearing a footstep behind her and before she could rise she was seized and thrown backward to the ground and the face of a fierce-looking, swarthy complexioned man looking into hers.

In his hand the fiend held a glittering knife which he brandished close to the terrified girl's face and in the most foul words he couched an indecent proposal and as the young lady struggled fiercely to release herself he blazed out: "Keep still or I'll cut your throat," and he did inflict a slight scratch on her neck.

As the girl still struggled to release herself the villain suddenly thrust her on her side and pulling out her long plait of hair to its full length with a single quick sweep of his keen-edged knife cut off the luxuriant braid close to the scalp.

Half fainting from terror and the horror of her position, Miss Atkinson partly lost consciousness, and when she recovered her hands were tightly bound behind her, her dress was raised and torn and a plug of wood about two inches long was between her upper and lower teeth, keeping her jaws distended and her mouth wide open. Thus prevented by the cruel gag from making any outcry which her terror and excitement had prevented at first, Miss Atkinson was compelled, in the full possession of all her faculties, to submit to the outrage.

Half dead with terror and exhaustion, covered with dirt and mud, her clothes torn and disheveled by the brute's desperate haste, her hands still securely tied and the gag in her mouth, the poor girl managed in some way to struggle to a sitting posture and then to her feet and thus she staggered home.

Dr. J. W. Smith went to the house and stated that the girl's condition was critical in the extreme. She at first suffered severely from convulsions, and there is still imminent danger that the shock to her nervous system will result seriously.

Miss Atkinson's assailant is described as a man of about medium height and weight, very swarthy, with long, curly black hair, black eyes and a huge black mustache. He was dressed in a ragged suit of clothes, blue overalls and a ragged black hat.

CATTLEMAN IN CONVENTION.

Anti-Slavery Four—Non-Resistant Anti-Slavery Convention—Held at Fort Worth, Texas, March 11.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 11.—There are 1,500 persons present in Fort Worth in attendance on the Inter-State Cattle convention, but the committee on credentials, after sitting until eleven o'clock last night, decided that only 645 had proper credentials and will so report. The States represented are Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Texas; the Territories, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona and Indian Territory. The basis of representation is fixed on the number of cattle in each State, and 124 votes have been accorded the 467 delegates as follows: Texas, 50; Illinois, 14; Arizona, 9; New Mexico, 12; Colorado, 10; Arkansas, 6; Nebraska, 10; Indian Territory, 6; Wyoming, 12.

The convention was called to order in the opera house by Mr. Andrews at three o'clock yesterday afternoon and ex-Governor Hadley, of New Mexico, made chairman and C. H. Gould, of Omaha, secretary. After the appointment of committees a long discussion lasting until night took place on the basis of representation, and an effort was made to exclude commission men.

The object of the convention is to get out of the power of the "big four" in Chicago who, it is charged, dictate the price of beef to the producer and consumer. The convention will try to devise a way to get rid of the arbitrary commission of 10 cents a head charged at Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City and substitute the percentage system.

VAGARIES OF MEMORY.

Forms of Aphasia That Are Very Strange and Very Rare.

From an article by Prof. H. C. Wood, in the Century, we quote the following: "When disease affects the brain those alterations of word-memory are something very strange. In the most complete form of this so-called aphasia the person can not understand words, he can not think in words and can not talk words. Usually, however, words are remembered sufficiently to be recognized when heard or seen, but although the idea is there, the person can not speak in words. I recall the case of an old German woman who had aphasia.

When asked how old she was, she would indicate sixty with her fingers. If asked how many children she had, she would indicate seven. If two of the fingers were turned down she would get angry and insist upon the seven. She was able to understand questions. She knew what the figure '7' meant, but had not the power to say 'seven.' It is a very curious fact that in these forms of aphasia the language of the emotions may be preserved while the language of the intellect is destroyed. Very often a profane man, when he has aphasia, is able to swear. This German woman, when excited, could say, 'Vott im Himmel!'

Besides this there was left to her but one little fragment of each of the two languages which she had known. She could not say the English 'no,' but could say the German 'nein'; she could not say the German 'ja,' but could splutter out the English 'yes.' The forms of aphasia known as word-blindness and word-deafness are very strange. The sufferer from word-blindness can write and understand what is said to him; he will talk to you and perhaps talk to you to death; but hand him a book, a newspaper, or even the letter he himself has written, and he can not read a word. Thus an active man of business having written a letter, giving directions for an important matter, attempted to read it, in order to see if it was correct, but was astounded to find that he could not make out a single word; he had been suddenly stricken with word-blindness. The sounds of the words and the words themselves had remained to him, but the recollection of the written forms of the words was gone. In a case of word-deafness the person can talk and can write, but although his hearing is perfect he can not recognize the spoken words. The sound of the voice is plain to his sense, but conveys no thought to him. The records of the past—the unconscious memory so to speak—must exist in the brain; but for conscious recognition these must be dragged out before the consciousness. It is doubtful whether there is such a thing as a bad memory, i. e., as a badly-kept brain record. The difference in individuals as to the power of recollecting probably consists in the relation between consciousness and memory. One man has the power of going into the library in his brain and picking up at once the leaf he wants, and glories in his good memory. Another can not in a moment find what he desires, but when the floods of disease come, then spontaneously float up those things which he had thought were gone forever."

Commentable. All claims not consistent with the high character of Byrum of Byrum are purposely avoided by the Cal. Byrum Company. It sets gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleaning the system effectively, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

Quite neat and appropriate is it that a cross-examination is often instituted to settle a vexed question—Baltimore American.
