They had evidently spread sooner had the firemen attempted to extinguish the fire on the east side of the building than flames were seen to issue from the rear and the interior simul tancously burst into a blaze When the fire burned through the flooring the draperies on the lower boxes ignited, and from the parquet to the roof the flames were rapidly carried. The oil scenery and the decorations that were made of inflammable ing could check it. Almost before the reached the top of the structure a vol ume of flame issued from the roof with a roar, and immediately afterward the roof fell with a crash. A number of fremen who were in the auditorium ran for their lives. One of them was was rescued by his companions. Three other men were less severely burt.

The fire burned fiercely about three hours. The walls remain standing, but the interior is gutted. The firemen were successful in keeping the flamms a from the front of the building and the offices there were not hurt by the fire tenta, which also consisted of the scenery belonging to the Shenandoah Company, is estimated at $200,000. The loss is covered with as insurance of only $100,000. How the fire started is shrouded in mystery. There are suspicions of in condigriou. The theater will be rebuilt at once and asquickly as possible.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Gleaned By Telegraph and Mail THE Senate on the 28d transacted no be ness. Resolutions of respect were offered to the late fenator Bock, oulogies delivered ty Senators Blackburn, Ingalls, Carlisle, Evarts, Plumb, Vest and others, and the Senate adjourned.... After routine business in the House the Lard bill was taken up and a lively debate ensued. When a vote was finally reached on the passage of the bill the result was year, III; nays, 45—no quoram. The House then adjourned.

In the femate on the 24h when the Tariff bill was taken up Senator Aldrich asked unanimous consent to fix a date for closing debate on the bill and taking a vote. Senator Gorman, on behalf of the Democrats, vir-tually agreed with Mr. Aldrich, and expressed a willingness to enter into some mutual agreement, but Senator Plumb held that the Tariff bill was of too great importance to b: hurried through and objected to the present consideration of the matter of limitation of debate, and it went over. The lead ore paragraph of the Tariff bill was discussed at length, and after appointing a committee to attend the funeral of Representative Watson the Senate adjourned.... The conference report on the Sundry Civil bill was agreed to in the House. Mr. O'Neill announced the sudden death of Representative Watson, of Pennsylvania, and offered resolutions, which were adopted.

A committee was appointed to attend the funeral and the House adjourned.

THE Senate on the 28th agreed, by unanimous consent, to the memorandum of Senator Aldrich in regard to limitation of de-bate on the Tariff bill. The conference re-port on the Fundry Civil bill brought out a long discussion but was finally agreed to and the Tariff bill resumed, the lead ore para-graph being under consideration. Senator Plumb's amendment to reduce the duty on lead ore was rejected, Mr. Plumb being the only Republican who voted for reduction.
The sugar schedule was reached and the Senate adjourned....The House spent the entire day in fillibustering on the Lard bill.
Much confusion prevailed, and all efforts to secure a quorum having failed, the House flushly adjourned.

WHEN the Senate met on the 27th Senator Flumb's resolution to forbid the sale of liquors in the Senate wing of the Capitol came up and a long debate followed, during which it was shown that Senators now did not drink near as much as fenators did fifty or seventy years ago, and for at least two years no Senator had appeared on the floor ed. The resolution was finally sent to the Committee on Rules, and the Tariff bill debated until adjournment ... The House got into uproarious disorder over the attempt to pass the Lard bill, during which Cannon, of Illinois, had a personal tilt with Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, and Mesers.

Wilson, of Washington, and Beckwith, of New Jersey, came to blows. During the uproar a quorum disappeared, and as nothing could be done the House adjourned. THE entire day in the Senate on the 28th was devoted to consideration of the Tariff try to indece General Exeta to sign the protocol. The Many members then had something to say in personal explanation of the riotous proceedings of the day before and the bill constituting eight hours a day's work in the Government service was passed.
