Columbus Day.
The 12th of October, 1892, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, ought to be observed everywhere in America.

The day will be observed in Chicago by the dedication of the Columbian Exposition grounds. The day also may be observed in every town and village in the republic by a local celebration of which the public school is the centre. The public schools of the republic will form the most fitting centres for all these celebrations. A national public school observance simultaneous with the Chicago exercises will awaken a popular interest in the coming exposition. Far more important is the fact that the public school has the right to occupy the most prominent place in the celebration. The public school is the one characteristic institution which links all neighbors together, and can thus furnish a common bond for a national celebration. The public school is the ripe fruit of the four centuries of American civilization. The public school today sways the hundred years to come. The first approval of this suggestion came from the public school scholars themselves. When the plan was first proposed by the Youth's Companion January 1891, thousands of letters were received testifying to the enthusiasm with which the scholars responded.

The World's Congress auxiliary of the Columbian Exposition then took up the proposal calling on all the people in the republic to observe the day in their own localities, and suggesting that the public schools be everywhere the centre of the celebration.

The Superintendents of Education were the next to recognize the fitness of giving to the public schools the first place in this Columbian Anniversary. At the national convention in Brooklyn in February, 1892, they took charge of the movement, and appointed the undersigned. An executive committee now appeals to the scholars themselves to be the first to move.

It is for you, scholars of the American public schools, to arouse a sentiment in your schools and in your neighborhoods for this grand way of celebrating the finding of America. Educators and teachers will meet you from their side, but it is for you to begin. You will make it succeed if you unite to say it ought to be done. The interest of the public will be awakened if the scholars join in the earnest request that the school be allowed to be the centre of the day's observance. There are thirteen millions now in the public schools. You have a chance to conduct a patriotic movement which will have a place in history, and will strengthen the republic through the coming century.

The first thing to do is to determine, when you read this message that you will do all you can to induce your school to enter the celebration. Then show this message to your teachers. Every patriotic teacher will be glad to help you if you show yourselves in earnest. Take the message to your school committee and to the superintendents. Their counsel and aid are indispensable. After you secure the support of all these then let the school vote that it will enter the celebration. The next thing after this public vote will be the appointment of a strong committee to take charge. This committee should be made up jointly from scholars, teachers and friends of the school.

The committee should in all cases be made up of those who are most in earnest so that the work may not be checked by any possible change of teachers during the summer.

A program of exercises will be furnished by the executive committee. It will be simple and adapted to any school, yet so arranged that more elaborate exercises may be added wherever desired. The aim of this official program will be that certain leading exercises may be the same in every school in the republic, and that at least in one feature the Chicago program may be identical.

In due time this executive committee will make more definite suggestions on methods of celebration through the Superintendents of Education and through the President.

The duty of your committee will first be to interest the citizens and to prepare the school.

Lessons may be arranged. The veterans both North and South will gladly be escorts for the schools.

The other military, civic and religious organizations of each town will lend their aid if they see that the scholars are determined that the celebration shall be worthy of the day.

The local president will be the most valuable of all supports, and the earliest effort of your local committee shall be to enlist its sympathy and request its operation. Ask all local papers to print this message. On October 12th the stars and stripes should be floating from every school house in the republic.

It is the hope of the friends of the common school education that not one public school in the United States will allow itself to be left out in this most memorable celebration.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditarily transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from breathe, the food we eat or we drink. There is nothing elusively than the power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

The Morgan horse has long been noted as the road horse par excellence, and the localities where they are to be found are haunted by buyers of roadsters. C. Holcomb north of Holland House.

Disease never successfully attacks a system with pure blood. De Witt's Sarsaparilla makes pure, new blood and enriches the old. C. I. Cotting.

It is a fixed and immutable law that to have good sound health one must have pure rich and abundant blood. There is no shorter nor surer route than by a course of DeWitt's Sarsaparilla.
