THE CEYLON BUFFALO.

A Queer-Looking Animal That Likes to Wallow in Mud.

The horns of the Ceylon buffalo are very capricious in their development. In some they are short and stubby, curving back at a considerable angle; in others they extend back with only a slight curve, running almost parallel with the neck. Others again extend from the head at right angles, curve gracefully upward and grow to enormous proportions of length and thickness, frequently measuring six feet from tip to tip, with a circumference of fifteen inches at the base.

In other varieties they fall below the neck in crumpled loops, as though they had undergone repeated dislocations between calfood and buffalohood. This is noticeably the character of the horns of those seen in Bombay, where, even in the public squares of the city, herds of domesticated milch buffaloes may be seen taking shelter from the noonday sun under the wide-spreading branches of the banyan tree. The soft mud of the paddy-field is his favorite wallow, and his service in the cultivation of these fields is almost indispensable, as when the ordinary draught-bullock (Bos Indicus) would be smothered in mud the buffalo is in all the exhilaration of his favorite bath, even when drawing the rude wooden plow and half submerged in liquid soil.—Leslie's Popular Monthly.

Farm loans at lowest interest. Strictly first-class loans at lower rates than has ever been given in this county before. Option to pay part or all at end of any year.—C. F. CATHER.

Notice to Teachers.

Notice is hereby given that I will examine all persons who may desire to offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the public schools of this county, at Red Cloud on the third Saturday of each month.

Special examinations will be held on the Friday preceeding the 3d Saturday of each month.

The Man at the Wheel.

The man at the wheel has a grave responsibility; so has he who takes his life in his own hands and when aerofalous mariners or otherwise suffering with any blood disease to which human flesh is heir, ignores the advice of his dearest friends and refuses to take Hepaticure as a medicine that yearly cures thousands of his fellow sufferers.
