Obituary. Again has the Death Angel visited the family of Rev. G. W. Hummel, taking this time, Emma, aged fourteen years, seven months, and seven days.

Emma leaves a place vacant in this world above, where life will be free from pain and full of happiness.

She will be missed by parents, sisters and friends, as she was the embodiment of civility and gentleness.

During her brief illness she talked of going to Heaven, where she would meet with her little brother and sister who had gone only a few days before.

She was laid to rest Tuesday, August 8th, services being conducted by Rev. Chapin, of Red Cloud.

Loving, kind and humble, Was gentle Emma C. Hummel; Her death came like the fates' swift knock, Calling a spotless one of a flock.

Husbandmen prune the briar never, But from valued trees good limbs sever; Neither doth he sever the tree, But plucks the flowers most sweet and free.

Obituary. Died at her home near Amboy, Aug. 10th, 1893. Mary L. Barnes, wife of Zachariah Barnes aged 45 yrs 7 mo 15 da. Mrs. Barnes was born in Indian on the 25th day of Dec. 1847. Was brought to Iowa with her parents while yet a child.

Was married to Zachariah Barnes, March 29th 1866. Nine children, five sons and four daughters, were born to bless their union. All of whom are living. In the fall of 78, she and her husband and five oldest children moved from Iowa to Kansas, where they lived until March 1890, when they came to Amboy. During their stay in that neighborhood they have made many friends who mourn the loss of a good neighbor.

Mrs. Barnes has been a sufferer for a number of years. Last March she was confined to her room and finally to her bed, to her all that medical aid and kind care could do was done to relieve her suffering, and restore her health, but the Death Angel had claimed her for his own. One of her sons is married and lives in Kansas. On account of sickness in his own family he could not be near his mother in her last illness. Her other children and an affectionate sister watched by her bedside and administered to her every want. She was very patient although her pain was very great, and she was ever mindful of those around her. A few hours before her death her pain ceased, and she passed quietly from this life. Her funeral was preached by Rev. Putnam, of Red Cloud. She was laid to rest in the Pleasant Hill cemetery amid the tears of all who knew her. She died with the blessed assurance that her children have the protection of a kind father, and that her two year old baby will be tenderly cared for by her grown daughters.

She has crossed the lonely river, And her sufferings now are o'er, She has gone to dwell forever, On that fair and peaceful shore; Gone beyond this vale of shadows, With the angels to abide, In that home of wondrous beauty, Just beyond the surging tide.
