Died in the Service.
FORT NIobrara, Neb., April 3.—Private Iron Hawk, a private of troop L, Sixth cavalry, died March 30, 1894, and was buried with all the military honors due an enlisted soldier of the United States Sunday. Private Iron Hawk had been a long time in the post hospital, and died from a complication of diseases. He was enlisted April 7, 1891, at the Rosebud agency, South Dakota.

Pushing the Nebraska Ditch.
O'NEILL, Neb., April 4.—D. W. Campbell, the expert irrigation engineer of Denver, Colo., returned to O'Neill after 10 days reconnaissance over the proposed route of the Niobrara River Irrigation and Power company's canal. Mr. Campbell said it was practicable and that there was an abundance of water. A corps of engineers will be put in the field at once and work will be vigorously prosecuted.

Condition of Nebraska Wheat.
OMAHA, April 3.—Grainmen and farmers are no longer concerned over the condition of winter wheat. The general committees appointed by grain firms of various sections of the state to examine the fields and ascertain positively the damage resulting from the recent storm have reported favorably. Contrary to general opinion few fields have been affected by the cold snap. Many oat fields were destroyed. In many regions farmers are resowing their oats. The acreage of all grains will be 20 per cent larger this year than last.

Four Burglaries in Omaha.
OMAHA, April 3.—William Edge awoke to find a man ransacking his house. The burglar fled and Edge followed him. Becoming bewildered the thief returned past the Edge house and Mrs. Edge captured him and turned him over to her husband and neighbors. He proved to be John Webber. Elmer Buchner was caught by Charles Wilson going through the latter's bedroom. Buchner fled but Wilson caught him after a long chase. Patrick Hanley went through several houses and was captured by an officer with the stolen property in his possession and Ed Matthews found a man in his room and grappled with him, but the burglar was the strongest and escaped.

ELECTIONS IN NEBRASKA.
Only Question at Stake Was License or No License.

OMAHA, April 4.—Politics cut no figure in Nebraska elections Tuesday. The only question at stake was license or no license. In fully 95 per cent of the towns that have reported, license has carried. In Nelson and Superior, where prohibition has hitherto reigned, license boards have been chosen. In Lincoln there was but a light vote polled, the expected interest in the candidates not materializing. Here the women were expected to take a lively interest in the choice of school directors, and many of them went quietly to the polls and voted. There were three tickets in the field, backed by the three political parties, with some American Protective Association complications.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

HAIR DYEING AN ANCIENT ART.

From Cleopatra Down Women Have Resorted to the Dangerous Practice.
The art of dyeing the hair is at least as old as the time of Christ. It was by resorting to such aids to beauty that Cleopatra tried to capture Caesar. All through history ladies of fashion have tried to improve upon nature by artificially coloring that which St. Paul tells us is their glory.
In the heyday of Venice the facile beauties of the city of the lagoons dyed their hair a red, to which Titian was not ashamed to affix his name.
The belle of belles in that day had red hair—not bright red, but a dull red—with glints of crimson. More recently—almost in our own time—a rage arose for bright blond hair, as to which there was a tradition that it had been popular with the Greek hetairae.
Blond heads blocked the thoroughfares, and young ladies of good repute did not disdain to employ the dyer until his services were monopolized by another class. In our day the popular color is a bright shade of auburn—the blond centre of the boulevards—and silly girls go through martyrdom to impart that tint to their locks. For the popularity of blond hair the argonaut finds this excuse, that it is rarer than black or brown hair and finer. Everybody knows that the legend of the golden fleece was suggested by the ardor with which Jason and other Greek connoisseurs pursued the blond haired maidens of Colchis.
Almost all hair dyes consist of sulphur and acetate of lead, both of which are injurious to so delicate a plant as human hair. A steady course of either will impair the vitality of the hair papilla and may destroy the medulla altogether. Women who bleach their hair use peroxide of hydrogen, which after a time imparts an unnatural and wiggly luster to the hair. A more dangerous dye still has for its basis nitrate of silver.
When this is used, the hair is first washed with sulphuret of potassium. The nitrate is applied while it is still wet. In all these cases the drug is adulterated with a pigment of the desired color, and the effect for the time is to substitute that color for the natural hue of the cortical substance or hair bark. It need hardly be said that the effect of a continued use of such medicaments is to enfeeble and ultimately to rot the root sheaths. Baldness then ensues, and that science has discovered no remedy.—Detroit Free Press.

When an Elephant Is Crazy.

When we present the elephant in possession of such intellectual gifts as may be his, there has to be considered the case of the elephant that, being "must"—a disease akin to frenzy—is for a time bereft of its senses. It is only the male that suffers from this affliction of insanity, but every male is liable to it some time or other, and unfortunately may be attacked by it without warning of any kind.
Some men of long experience of elephant keeping say that the "must" condition is preceded by premonitory symptoms, and if taken in time may, by diet and treatment, be averted; but, without presuming to contradict those better informed people, I can aver that I have known some of them to be taken by surprise by the sudden "musting" of elephants under their own immediate supervision.
Some elephants become demons of cruelty when "must," as, for example, a commissariat elephant that, during my time in Oudh, broke away from the Lucknow lines and went over a considerable tract of country, killing men, women and children wherever it found an opportunity of doing so.—Blackwood's Magazine.
