SCHOOL NOTES.

The dawn of the commencement exercises is already here which will present to the public gaze the ripened fruit of the united efforts of the teacher, parents, the school board and themselves. This class comes out in the number of eleven, the largest number yet from this school; five boys and six girls. Daisy Plumb by faithful and diligent study has steadily passed from one grade to another always in the front ranks, and was blessed by providence with good health enabling her to pass through the fifth room on the schedule time, four years, where she ranks in her quiet way as a thorough scholar. Emma Cook with a creditable career gained the top round, more careful and considerate and with attentive attention and always the best of conduct gained the coveted place in five years. The year '92 found Mayo Pope in the tenth grade where she by hard work and sticktuitiveness peculiar to her, with steady and determined purpose filled her store house of knowledge with lasting facts, thus completing her work in three years. Grace Garber for four and one half years treaded from her home, a distance of one mile, to school and toiled with her fellow mates passing many on the way until she had gained a place in the senior grade where she steps out without a regret at the time thus spent. Margie Miner not being bleat with as good health as her mates, was less equipped to pass in the allotted time, but comes out of the fifth year in a very efficient and gratifying manner to her parents, passing with a grade far above the required sum. Lois Pope, with her quick perception and usual talents surmounted the top with ease in four years, without hardly a struggle. The boys will be treated next week.

Mrs. Martin's room carries the banner off again.

Charley Mitchell visited his brother and the high room Wednesday.

Miss Jeffries, a teacher from Thayer county was visiting us this week.

Several played "hooky" Tuesday and went down to the river hunting flowers.

Already the work of the seniors is being lightened, giving them more time for their orations.

The chemistry class had some very peculiar experiences this week. Experiments were of an unusual sort.

Little Mary Stewart entertained the school Monday with her recitals, speaking several pieces in a very becoming manner.

Miss Hersh and sister were calling on the fifth room one day this week. Her sister will go to school here the rest of the term.

The familiar features of Wm. Kellogg was seen in our midst this week. He has been away to school two years and seems like a different person.

Hall's Hair Renewer is pronounced the best preparation made for thickening the growth of the hair and restoring that which is gray to its original color.
