

Spring Medicine

In a necessity because the tonic of winter air is gone, and milder weather, increased moisture, accumulated impurities in the blood and debilitated condition of the body, open the way for that tired feeling, nervous troubles, and other ills. The skin, mucous membrane and the various organs strive in vain to relieve the impure current of life. They all welcome to assist Nature at this time when she most needs help, to purify the blood, tone and strengthen the laboring organs and build up the nerves.

"After the grip I was left with a terrible weakness and palpitation of the heart. I took medicine from the doctor which did me no good. I also took other medicines without any benefit until I began to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cured me of dyspepsia with which I suffered ten years. It cured me of constipation." It cured me of constipation.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The State Journal woman's edition was a hummer.

We are too full for utterance over the glorious rains of the last few days.

JOHN L. MCPHEELY of Minden is a candidate for the district judgeship.

The people of the United States, of all political affiliations, are in favor of a vigorous foreign policy as against the weak-kneed efforts of the present administration.

Just the mere thought that the republicans will be successful in '96 gives an inspiration to business in the country, and times are becoming better and better day by day.

SPAIN has apologized for the firing of one of her men-of-war upon an American ship. Uncle Sam may be a little tame sometimes, but he cannot always be trifled with.

The great rainfall has caused numerous railroad accidents, damages to irrigating ditches, mill dams, &c., not only in the Republican valley, but at various other places in the state; however, while the storm raged and caused damage, it did untold millions worth of good to Nebraska farmers.

The republican party will take care of the money question. Hon. Tom Carter, chairman of the National Republican Committee, has openly espoused the free silver question, and says that the Republican National Convention will adopt a free silver plank. THE CHIEF has always had confidence in the republican party's ability to handle all questions of national importance, whether Carter's predictions are right or wrong. We would suggest, however, that republicans in the debate on monetary matters should not forget the tariff question which is of vast importance to the country.

A WASHOUT at Edison on Sunday night caused the death of four men well known in Red Cloud. At Turkey creek the water washed the embankment out, and a special train sent out to look after washouts ran into it, and killed Mr. Haley, roadmaster, Mr. Jefferies, engineer, Mr. Rowell, fireman, and Sam Sunday, head brakeman. The rails were left suspended over the chasm which the engineer could not see in the dark, and, supposing that the track was all right, rushed on to death. The engine plunged into the washout and the tender and flat cars piled in upon them, quickly ending their lives. It was a sad accident.

The city council did not grant license at their last meeting. The saloon men offered the council $200, but the board decided that they could not accept that amount. The council would no doubt have made a reasonable compromise, although it would not have been in keeping with the wishes of the majority of the people who favor the $1,000 plan. Times are hard and all the people and business men have suffered from the depression, and the city has been in the same boat and therefore does not feel like making any serious reduction in its revenue, and the city is right. If any blind tigers spring up from the reason of a failure to grant license, the perpetrators should be dealt with severely, no matter who they are. The majesty of the law must be maintained.

On the 19th the National Republican League meets at Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. G. E. McKehey has been appointed a delegate from this congressional district.

M. B. REESE will be the next choice of Webster county in all probability for supreme judge, and, if we mistake not, he will carry off the delegation. He is a clear-headed jurist and will make an excellent officer, if elected. The people in this county like Reese, and think him one of the best officers on the bench.

Perhaps at the head of the list of the writers of Lincoln, the name of Miss Willa Cather should stand. She is a strong writer. She has ideas and she knows how to express them, and to express them well. As a critic she is fearless, and has the knack of seeing things as they really are, and of writing them so that other people may see them. Her dramatic work compares most favorably with work of like nature on the great Chicago papers, and without a doubt she has a great future before her. She states a thing strongly. She is one of the most original writers in the city.—Lincoln Courier.

The immense rainfall of the last ten days has solved the crop question to a large extent in Nebraska. The maximum fall has been on an average of six inches, the state over, which has given the earth such a drenching as it has not had in four years. The water has penetrated the innermost recesses, giving the farmer hope that springs eternal in the human breast that he is going to reap an abundant harvest. Providence has surely opened the way, and the long, care-worn face of the tiller of the soil has given way to features that are beaming with lavish smiles. THE CHIEF feels grateful to the Giver of all good for the bounteous rain and the brilliant prospects.

Four gallons of new milk played an important part in an impending tragedy which was partially enacted between this city and Smith's pond on Sunday last. Thirteen young gentlemen left the city on their wheels and had a good time on the outward journey, in fact, everything went as smooth as rollers in a skating rink until that dreadful pond was sighted. Here the boys became, it is feared, intoxicated through an excessively internal downpour of fresh milk, specially contributed for the work of upsetting the smoothly constructed machinery in the physical anatomy of those gentlemen when they broke the Zimmerman record by reaching the city in 36:54. Ten miles in less than thirty-seven minutes! Add to this a couple of "headers," not usually included in the programs of expert wheelmen, and these, too, given gratuitously by the leader of this jolly band without interfering with his 36:54 record—but then, this is a matter of "Miner" detail. The most serious act of the melo-drama was the part which was so ably represented by Ernest Bolton. He assumed the place of hero, who, like the good-natured but victimized suitor in that screaming farce, "A Race for a Wife," came in at last, but at the same time victorious—that is, he succeeded in breaking one pedal of his wheel and reaching the city, after being unanimously voted the best mono-pedal wheelman in the west. He, too, gave some free exhibitions of dubiously skillful, though at times undignified, acrobatic performances. Ernest, however, attributes it all to the portable automatic cremery which was so industriously enjoyed within the precincts of his internal butter factory; and who, after drawing the tape line around Ernest's lower chest, will give him the privilege of a justifiable assent. Uncle Sam's intimate addition to the postal service was troubling Frank Cowden to such an extent that he unintentionally rolled over a couple of embankments, but without any serious results, except that they awoke him to the fact that he was supposed to be cycling. The others who took minor parts in the comedy-drama in real life were Wallace Wright, Charley Landmasser, Allie Albright, Roy Tait, George Morhart, C. H. Robinson, Ed. Smith, Homer Sherwood, Bert Morhart and Clarence Winters. But it's all right, boys. We have plenty of doctors and gent's furnishing stores; so don't get so badly scared over the next cask of milk. For further information go to the (our) "devil."

As the years roll by, we are reminded of the constant change in humanity. As the anniversaries of the Alumni are celebrated, more graduates are added to the list. At no time was this more manifest than last Saturday night, at the banquet in honor of the class of '95, at the Masonic hall. The reception was attended by about fifty persons, many of them as only invited guests. One quartet, sang for the graduates, giving a burlesque on them, brought a hearty outburst of laughter from those present. "Overing stole the ham, Newhouse run away, Felter kicked on German, Heffebower the dude, Cather sawed the board and the girls took the bun" were a passing jest of the evening. At eleven o'clock the guests repaired to the dining room, where they found tables loaded with ice cream and cake, which was served in a gorgeous manner, after which games and a general social time were engaged in. The sudden rain-storm caused an abrupt departure, while all regretted that such meetings were not of more frequent happening.

Mayor Bently has gone to St. Paul on business.

Ed Bohanan of Lincoln was in the city this week.

Rev. G. W. Hummel baptized fifty-five converts near Bladen last Sunday.

John Peterson has been over the county this week and says that Webster county will have a very large yield of oats. He says that corn never looked finer.

H. G. Boyce living south of the river caught three young coyotes this week. He captured them alive and had one on exhibition in the city on Wednesday.

Mrs. E. J. Ducker went to Lincoln Thursday to attend the graduating exercises of the state university, of which her daughter, Miss Stella, is one of the number.

A. France and daughters, Cora and Fannie, drove to Red Cloud Friday, where Miss Fannie took the train for Kansas City, where she will spend several months visiting her aunt.—Enterprise.

Curtis Beal, living near Cowles was reported as receiving a pension. Come to find out Hoke Smith had reduced the old veteran's pension from $12 to $8 per month. Thus is patriotism rewarded by the democratic party.

Sam Jones, the famous preacher who enjoys a world wide reputation for his trite sayings and plain preaching will tell Red Cloud people how to "Get There and Stay There." Don't miss Sam it will be a treat of a life time.

Most coughs may be cured in a few hours or at any rate in a few days, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectorial. With such a prompt and sure remedy as this at hand there is no need of prolonging the agony for weeks and months. Keep this remedy in your house.

Last Sunday morning the Christian Sunday school of this city elected Mrs. O. H. Truman their delegate to the eighth annual convention of the Nebraska state Sunday school association to be held on the Chautauqua grounds at Beatrice, June 11 to 13, 1895.

By what authority the city council declared C. F. Cather's seat vacant on the board of supervisors we are unable to say. There is no way to oust him from his position except death, impeachment or resignation, until his term of office expires, and his successor is elected and qualified.

Eula, the little daughter of Sheriff Runchey aged about ten years, while playing with her companions the other evening, in some way upset a lighted lamp. The oil took fire and with great presence of mind she quickly picked up the lamp and threw it out doors. It was a brave act in itself, besides saving the jail from burning which it would have done had she not have been so thoughtful.

Don't let us hear any one wishing for rain inside of the next few days, or our devil will be after him. Following the down-pour of one inch upon Decoration day, the country was blessed with another copious shower Sunday afternoon and night. Clouds, driven by east and west winds, seemed to meet and form a whirling cloud, similar to a waterspout. The rain fell in sheets, and one inch was registered inside of fifteen minutes. The rain continued to fall all night, with the result that many yards were flooded and culverts washed out. The down-pour was heavier west of here, about eight inches being recorded at Oxford. Naturally, this caused a rise in the Republican, and on Tuesday the river was higher than has been known for years. The strain upon the dam of the Red Cloud Milling Company's plant was so great that, at five o'clock on Monday morning, a large part of the dyking west of the dam gave way. The bursting of the large dam at Curtis also helped materially to swell the volume of water in the river. The damage done the milling property is very great, and it will take several weeks' work to change the present course of the river.

Purify the blood; strengthen the body Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordia and Blood Purifier best spring tonic.

Ladies of G. A. R.

Decoration day was observed by Sherman Circle, No. 3. The Circle met on May 29th, and made arrangements for decoration, and made forty wreaths and forty-eight bouquets, and many extra flowers, and we observed the day with success, and at eleven o'clock we went to the cemetery and decorated the silent graves of our comrades and friends of the circle.

And so where whispering willows wave, And tender class blades quiver, We bring our offering to the brave, Who died our country dear to save, The boys across the river, Oh, boys so brave and true, By God's own messenger, the flowers, We send our love to you.

The budding trees, springing grass, opening buds and warm balmy air seem to lend a strange ambition to the enchantment to the saddest of sadness of the hearts of the mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of your dead soldiers and sailors; our hearts are bereaved with the thought and privilege and a duty to work with loving hands to cover with flowers the last resting place of those heroes of ours.

We, the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, are ever ready to do honor to our departed loved ones, and on this day of special devotion let us show by deeds and words the strength of our affection, the depth and respect and the earnestness of our purpose to perpetuate the memory of our heroes.

Let us twine garlands for their silent graves. Let us hold in great remembrance those whose heads lie low on southern soil, and wreath in memory a monument to our unknown dead. At these shrines let us vow constancy to the widows and orphans, and renew our pledge of fidelity to those silver haired veterans whose constitutions are shattered but yet remain as living witnesses of the greatest conflict and grandest victory in the world's history, thus may we show to the world the objects for which we are banded.

Let us also bear in mind that the veterans ranks are thinning rapidly as one after another drops by the way, and many of us can number some of them as near and dear to us. These events remind us that whatever is to be done must be done quickly for ere long the last sad rites will be performed.

A nation that reveres her patriotic dead, will always find patriots to serve her.

Rev. SAM P. JONES,

Of Cartersville, Georgia.

Rev. Sam Jones' lecture last night in the House of Representatives was attended by all classes of people, and the house was packed, there not being standing room. His lecture was under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. His subject was "Character and Characters." He spoke two hours, and it is safe to say that no one was disappointed in their expectations of the "Rev. Sam." That he is a man of great originality and force of character there can be no doubt, while there is great room for diversity of opinion as to his method, or manner of speaking to his audience. No one can be found who will not say that they were highly entertained. He strikes from the shoulder, and calls a spade a spade, but when one hears him in full and sees his applications and illustrations he does not appear near as much in the light of being rough and inelegant in speech as the garbled extracts, which from time to time appear in the papers to represent him.—Democrat, Jackson, Miss., November 21, 1892.
