Free Co'nage of Pigiron. (A. P. Hull, dem , of Atlanta.)

I accept the arguments of the advoeates of silver and agree with their remedy as far as it goes. However, it plenty of remedy-enough, in fact, to in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of pigiron at a ratio of 16 to with gold by the United States and can prove by the best authority obtainable that such a policy en the part of the United States will "raise prices," "put plenty of money in circulation," and give the "honest debtor a chance to pay his debts," thereby making the whole country prosperous.

Now in the first place it may be arged by some "who do not understand the subject of standards of value" that a free coinage act for iron would not raise its price to a ratio of ed 16 to 1 with gold. To them I reply use, and remarkable as it may seem, the iron dollars would instantly make | wonderful one. the bullion value of pigiron the same as the mist value. "For who would metal for anything less than the mint value?" (Stewart, Jones and Byran.) Books mailed

Again, it may be urged that our free; address mints would be overcrowded with pigiron. I reply "that the price of pigiron having been raised from $7.50 a ton to a ratio of 16 to 1 with gold the world ever no one would especially the mint price could be obtained anyBeggs' Little Giante. Ask for sample. the mint price could be obtained anywhere in the open market." (Atlanta

Next, it may be urged that gold and silver would go out of circulation. I reply, ficst, "This is a mere assumption of the tools of the money power which they cannot verifiy." (Atlanta Constitution), second, "Suppose gold and silver do go out of circulation, is there not plenty of pigiron to take their place and give the people plenty of money?" (Bryan); and third, "Such an assumption mixes the idea of a circulating medium and standard of value, that gold and silver would still be potential money metals, though not in circulation, and would lend their help towards ra sing prices and cause general prosperity." (Crips.)

Then, again it may be urged against the pigiron standard of value that wages would not raise in proporion to prices. The reply is, "Wages would be compelled to rise, since no man would be fool enough to work for $1 a day who could make $1,000 per day picking up rusty wails and old horse shees and carving them to the mint for coinage (Hull.)

The "crime of demonetizing pigiron took place ahout 2.200 years ogo, when certain "goldolators" and "silverites" in order to increase the purchasing power of their ill gotten wealth, secretly, and "like thieves in the night," got the demonetization act passed repealing the good old free coinage act of Lycurgus. "Today China is the only country on earth honest enough to coin iron, and there the happy laberor can carry home the wages of his honest toil in a wheelborrow." (Atlanta Constitution.)

A ruinous fall in prices followed the demonetization of iron and has continued for upwards of 2,000 years. I have calculated the losses entailed upon the honest people of this world by that ruthless act, but the figures are so enormous that I fear a revolution will ensue if the people learn how greatly they have been robbed. But facts are facts, and the best way to right a wrong is to meet it squarely. "That loss is $21,000,000,000,000, 000," (Coin's Financial School)

In conclusion I insist that the free coinage of pigiron will do everything that is claimed for eilver and infinitely more. The people will be rich and prosperous. The once poor man can The wind did considerable damage pay his debts with his old stove. Railroads can declare dividends on old rails and wornout rolling stock. The small boy can pick up old nails and horse shoes enough to support his family. In fine poyerty and debt can Neb. no longer exist.

> Mrs. Rhodie Noah, of this place, was taken in the night with cramping pains and the next day diarrhoes set in. She took half a bottle of blackberry cordial but got no relief. She then sent to me to see if I had anything that would help her. I sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and the first dose relieved her. Another of our neighbors had been sick for about a week and had tried different remedies for diarrhoea but kept getting worse. I sent him this remedy. Only four doses of it were required to cure him. > > Our Popocrats.

If Chas. Dickens, that prince o humorous fiction, had lived until this time and had been writing up America, what a fund of material he could find in our own county! What a tale he could spin by that one conception, popocrat. How lovingly and sarcastiely would he linger over the word. How he would smack his lips in silent contemplation of the amusing picture he would produce of an enthusiastic popocrat, demanding something for nothing, and urging measures already in use. What a pity that our good old friend should have been deprived of the one word which would have expressed the idiosyncrasies and fickleness of some of his characters. No another word in his vocabulary but we no rain to bother the campers. The must conclude that he always hunted far something he could not find because he did not have "popocrat." Years ago Dryden wrote some verses of poetry and we find they aptly describe our popocrat.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the car. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condi-tion of the mucous lining of the Eustrachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the muceus surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any cases of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

I know some of your readers will be inclined to think these pleasures are indulged in only by the rich er well-to-do classes of people but that is a mistaken idea, as it costs no more to live in camp than at home camping is not confined to the beach, as small camps may be found all around in the mountains and foothills. In these latter camps the sport consists in trout fishing, hunting, climbing high rocks preping into dark caverns or resting under the shade of some spreading live oak or perhaps hunting wild honey, which may be found all through the hills and may be sold in the markets at four cents. For my own pleasure I go fishing but I will not attempt to tell what may be seen in that old briny pond.

On the other hand, if free coinage of silver at 16 to I would not make 16 ounces of silver worth one ounce of gold, is it not a self-evident proposi tion that gold would go to a premium and cease to be available as currency?

And if the gold was thus withdrawn from use, either as current or reserved coin (and either melted up or sold to foreign nations, as it certainly would br), how would money be made more ing both as we are now doing?

If that is the case, what is to prevent the government using this creative power on paper instead of silver? Why not stamp off a legal tender unredeemable paper dollar fer every dollar representing gold or silver which we now have?
