FROM MAINE TO TEXAS.

The Tide of Public Opinion Is All Favorable to Paine's Celery Compound.

Congressman Bell of Colorado One of Those Recently Restored to Health by Paine's Celery Compound.

There is just now no lack of news from the western states. Public opinion in Colorado and Iowa is as promptly and accurately heard of as from any New England state. From all over the west come reports that Paine's celery compound occupies practically a clear field in the cure of diseases arising from a tired or otherwise impaired nervous system. No other remedy was ever used by so many men of sound and reliable judgment. No remedy but Paine's celery compound has ever been recommended by so conspicuously fair minded a body of men and women. The half hearted experimental efforts of scores and scores of quackeries, tonics and so-called nervines, with which the market is constantly recruited, are in startling contrast with the confidence—because thoroughly scientific—way in which Paine's celery compound sets about restoring health and vigor to the worn out body. Why will people be silly enough to jeopardize their lives and lessen their chances of getting well by taking anything else? There is no help so sure and so immediate as one gets from the use of Paine's celery compound. Detailed information of innumerable cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, and dyspepsia completely cured, has established this great invigorator as the most valuable remedy those run down in health can take use of. Women whose stock of nervous energy was well nigh exhausted have been restored to a joyful, contented state of body and mind by this same great nerve and brain restorative. Paine's celery compound is the greatest achievement in modern medicine. It banishes weakness and pain as surely as its famous contemporary, the electric light, dispels darkness. Paine's celery compound frees the body of diseases caused by kidney and liver complaints. Only a great remedy based on a deep knowledge of these diseases could do the work that Paine's celery compound is now doing. Better nutrition for the nerves, an awakened appetite, purified blood and complete assimilation—these follow the conscientious use of Paine's celery compound as surely as day follows night. If you are alarmed by a throbbing of the heart, an irritable stomach, or general debility, be fair with yourself, use the best means there is, examine what Paine's celery compound is doing. It has cured an astonishing number of men and women of Bright's disease, rheumatism, neuralgia, heart and liver trouble. No sufferer can pass lightly over the remarkable record that Paine's celery compound has to show to every sick and ailing person. Among the thousands of testimonials received this year is one recently sent by Congressman John C. Bell of Colorado, who says he has used three bottles of this best of all remedies for dyspepsia and rheumatism, with the most satisfactory results. Among the testimonials received since January there have been no less than 15 from congressmen from different states

WASHINGTON NOTES
President Cleveland has said that propriety would prevent his "marching actively" in the campaign, but since his return to Washington it has become apparent that he intends to pull all the wires in his reach to bring about Bryan's defeat, and most democrats would prefer that he should "march actively," which seems to be his definition of taking part in public meetings, instead of working privately in his executive office against Bryan; and they have had some hard things to say about his writing a letter commending the gold movement, to be read at a gold meeting addressed by a member of his cabinet, while by his order, other members of his cabinet were dismissing officials for being candidates for office on the silver ticket, and in some instances for just working for the silver ticket. A considerable sum of money—at one place $12,000—is posted in Washington to bet on McKinley's election. The odds now being offered are 3 to 1, but there is less betting than was ever known at this period of a presidential campaign.

Chairman Butler, of the populist national committee, figures out 232 electoral votes—8 more than enough to elect,—for Bryan, without including the states of Illinois, Delaware, Michigan, Iowa and Ohio, in all of which he claims that Bryan has an even chance to win. But in Senator Butler's "sure thing" list are a number of states which are also in all the republican "sure thing" lists.

The populist campaign book will be issued this week. The other campaign books have been out some time. The delay in issuing the populist book was caused by deliberation as to whether one should be issued at all. It differs somewhat radically from either the democratic or republican campaign books, in that it emphasizes its discussion of the transportation question in connection with the money question. The book asserts that "those who profit by our pernicious monetary laws and discriminating system of taxation together with those who control our transportation facilities, have created odious trusts and monopolies. All of these are taking an active part in politics and are placing their entire power behind and in support of the gold standard."

In view of the claims made by both parties as to Kentucky, the opinion of Mr. M. J. Richmond, whose former prominence in Kentucky politics enables him to speak with authority, enhanced by his now being practically out of politics, is interesting. Mr. Richmond, who has just come to Washington from Kentucky said: "It is extremely difficult to say how the electoral vote of Kentucky will go. The betting is even, neither side being willing to give odds. My opinion is that whole question hinges on the populist vote. That was 23,000 in the last election, and supposing it goes solidly for Bryan, the question is whether it will exceed the loss of sound money democrats who will vote either for McKinley or Palmer. I think a majority of the sound money democrats are going to vote the republican ticket. In Covington and Newport, there is a large German Catholic element, which is strongly for Bryan, and I believe most of the working men are on his side. One of the odd features of the campaign is the attitude of 'Pole' Carlisle, a brother of the secretary, who is postmaster of Covington. He is an out and out Bryan man, and when Bryan came to our town to speak was one of the first to rush to the stand and grasp him by the hand. But this only shows how the democrats are divided on the issue and what a queer mix-up it is. Our people have dropped work and business entirely, and talk gold and silver day and night."

Both sides are interesting themselves in the news, which comes in Washington but has a vote in some of the states, especially if its vote be in one of the close or doubtful states, of which there seem to be a great many this year. Both the democratic and republican congressional committees have arranged with the railroads for reduced transportation for voters, and while neither is making it a rule to furnish free tickets, there will be little trouble for impetuous voters in certain states to get them from either. At the beginning of the campaign it was thought that few of the rank and file of government employes would go to the expense of going to their homes to vote, owing to their belief that the civil service law would keep them in office whether they did or not. But there has been a great change, and it is now probable that an unusually large percentage of them will go home to vote; also that most of them will vote for McKinley, not so much because of any decided preference for him as because they believe their bread and butter depends upon his election. This change has been brought about by the continued assertions, which have not been denied, that if Bryan is elected there will be an all around shake up in the civil service in all its branches.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of lagrippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Courier of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. Hard Times in Doddville.
"Last Monday," writes the editor of the Doddville Recorder, "we went out to collect $160, due us on subscriptions from 160 delinquent subscribers. We put in the whole day at it. How much does the reader think we collected? Not a darned cent, reader; not a darned cent. We have been running a paper in this town seven years, and we never saw times half as hard as they are now except the year we had triplets at our house." Chicago Tribune.

Nervous Prostration
Cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Prolonged derangement of the nervous system not only affects the brain and mental powers, but develops disease in some of the vital organs. The most dangerous of these indirect results is when the heart is affected. This was the case of the Rev. N. F. Surface, Fawn River, Mich., who writes under date of Feb. 14, 1895:

"Fourteen years ago I had a slight stroke of paralysis. Overwork brought on nervous prostration. I was exceedingly nervous and the exertion of public speaking caused heart palpitation that threatened my life. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure for my heart trouble, and two of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for my nervousness and feel better than I ever expected to feel again. I can speak for hours without tiring or having my heart flutter as it formerly did, and I have you to thank that I am alive today."
