The new administration, probably realizing the impossibility of doing any work until the edge has been taken off of the flying wedge of office seekers of have this system used for the coming have th rules-is taking things as leisurely as Kinley, they are devoting their time to visitors and not to work.

The holding of a caucus by the republican senators, ostensibly for the purpose of electing Mr. Allison chair-Sherman, but really to consider the advisability of attempting to fill the committee vacancies has stirred up the silver senators to fever heat, and if men like Senator Teller can have their way, the republicans not only will not be allowed to take their choice of the existing committee vacancies, but will lose all the important committee chairmanmine as to which of these two be the ships they now hold. The silver senators, populists, republicans and democrats combined, are a majority, and if they can be induced to vote together, it will be an easy matter to reorganize the senate committees and put the control of all the important ones in the farce and gives the same old crowd hands of the silver men. I does seem a little odd that the chairmen of these three national committees should all be in the senate tagether. in the senate together.

It is already evident even to those who are not particularly close ob-servers, that President McKinley istrying to put himself and his administra-tion upon friendly terms with the senate, something that neither President Cleveland ner President Harrison succeeded in doing, and in fact which neither tried very hard to do. Whether President McKinley will succeed is a question that only the future can answer, but if he maintains his present attitude towards the senate he can-not be accused of not treating it with not be accused of not treating it with proper respect, as both Cleveland and Harrison were. Mr. McKinley is not only trying to keep on good terms with the senate as a body, but also with individual senators, regardless of their party. He has caused it to be intimated to every senator that he will always find a cordial welcome at the White House, and that his advice will always be listened to when matters affecting his state are under considera fecting his state are under considera tion. This is about as radical a change as could possibly have been made from the practices of the last twelve years. While there is a difference of opinion as to whether the failure of four appropriation bills, sundry civil, agricultural, Indian and deficiency, to become laws was brought about by those who oppose confining the legislation of the extra session of congress, which meets next week, to the tariff, there is none as to the effect of their failure. Money will have to be provided by congress at the extra session, but it is now said that an attempt will but it is now said that an attempt will be made to do it by a resolution extending current appropriations instead of by separate appropriation bills. If that attempt is made, there will pro-bably be a hot fight.

Under the Crawford system every party voter has the right to express his choice for candidates and has also the equal right to become a candidate himelf. Each person wishing to be a canman of the caucus in place of John didate under the Crawford system is required to have a petition signed by a certain number of party voters (in Lin-coln 100 for each city officer and fifty for each ward candidate) in order to have his name put on the ticket by the city central committee. The Lincoln plan provides that all candidates except the two receiving the highest numsuccessful candidate. In smaller places such as Red Cloud a single primary only would be needed as a plur-ality vote will be sufficient to declare which candidate should be entitled to have their names on the ticket to be voted at the city election.

The Air Ship.

There has been a good deal of tall and conjecture in this locality over an air ship which many people allege they have seen at different times during the past few weeks And while we are on the subject we reproduce an article which recently appeared in the Woman's Gazette, of Beatrice, by Anton Pallardy, a scientist from the Black Hills, who has recently been visiting in Beatrice:

Where it was built, I dare not tell you; more than that your readers know that to the northwest of Nebraska is a wierd, lonely and strange country known as the Mauvais Terres. There are canyons, caverns, nooks and crannies in these bad lands that are so secret and remote from the ordinary pathways that men can and have lived there uninterruptedly for years, with none to moiest or make afraid. It is from these Mauvais Terres the air ship comes. With my three companions we have sailed over Nebraska in a line from the forks of the Platte, along the Little Blue Valley and thence to Manhattan, Kansas, generally at night, returning to the Mauvais Terres in the early morning. Why do we take this route for our experimental trip? I will tell you. It is because of the currents of air that are almost perpetual at an altitude of about one mile. These currents are almost invariable and regular the year round. It is but a six hours trip from the Mauvais Terres to the junction of the Blue with the Kansas river. It was necessary that we should become familiar with the earth configurations lying under our aerial track. Hence I am in your city to make some necessary investi-gations, in order that we may obtain become frightened, and should some ease of catarrh. The many offensive

"At the surface of the earth and for half a mile above it occurs at intervals violent winds, tornadoes in summer and blizzards in winter. At an altitude of 5,000 feet, the air is comparatively quiet except in the regular currents that flow from the northwest in the morning.

"For prudential reasons I dare not describe our ship in detail to you. Those who have seen it, know its general appearance to be something like a very large umbrella with a transparent covering. This large umbrella is immediately above the car, which also contains the little motor for operating the large wings immediately above the umbrella. These wings are expanded and contracted at the pleasure of the engineer. Suspended above and attached to these wings are two very thin, aluminum balloons containing the new gas, helium Immediately between the wings is another smaller umbrella like affair that can be made umbrella like affair that can be made to revolve very rapidly, for a purpose I dare not disclose to you. Then this is the air ship in brief, and its description will correspond with the observations of those who have sotained a good look at it.

"I have shown you why we travel at night; simply to escape too close observation, until we have made a few further improvements that we see there that evening.

Catarrh is seemingly one of the most complicated of ailments, and one which the doctors are absolutely unable to cure. The reasons for this are easily explained. Catarrh is a blood disease, and only a blood remedy can effect it. The various sprays, douches and washes which are employed as a local treatment, may, for a time, alleviate the trouble, but no one ever knew of such treatment producing a cure. They can not reach the seat of the disease, as the experience of many sufferers will prove; nothing can do so except a real blood remedy.

In the treatment of Catarrh, S. S. S. has demonstrated the fact that it reaches deep-seated diseases, which other remedies can not touch. Mr. Chas. A. Parr, the leading wall paper dealer, of Athens, Ga., writes:

symptoms were accompanied by severe pains in the head. I took sev eral kinds of medicines recommended for catarrh, and used various local applications, but the disease had become so deep-seated that they had no effect so deep-seated that they had no effect whatever. I was alarmed at my condition, as I knew this disease invariably descended to the lungs, ending in consumption. I was induced to take S. S. S. (Swift's Specific), and after two months I was perfectly well, and have never felt any effects of the disease since."
