"During the hot weather last summer I had a severe attack of cholera morbus, necessitating my leaving my business," says Mr. C. A. Hare, of Hare Bros., Fincastle, Ohio. "After taking two or three doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I was completely relieved and in a few hours was able to resume my work in the store. I sincerely recommend it to any one afflicted with stomach or bowel trouble." For sale by H. E. Grice.

With five German war ships facing Admiral Dewey's fleet at Manila and the intention of the German Kaiser still a matter of some doubt, the leading article presented in the Cosmopolitan for July will be read with interest. The forty-six portraits and poses of the Emperor William which illustrate the article are in themselves an extraordinary exhibit. They might be described as "The evolution of an Emperor shown by forty six human documents." Undoubtedly so large a number of portraits were never before gathered together of any royal or imperial personage.

Nebraska seems to have fared better in the matter of crops than Missouri and Kansas did this year. The wheat crop was very large in Nebraska and the corn looks fine, while in some parts of Missouri and Kansas the wheat is largely damaged by rust and the corn has hardly taken a start.—Ex.

The office of the Co-Operative Premium Association has been moved from Miner's store to the first building north of the Farmer's and Merchant's bank building, which building is being also used by Mr. Sherwood to show his new pianos and organs. No one can realize what valuable and beautiful articles are being given away by this association to the stamp collectors, unless they call and see them.

A good church deacon once accidentally sat down on the business end of a tack. He at once sprang up and said only two words. The last word was "—it." Anyone guessing the first word and sending us a dollar in cash will be entitled to the paper for one year and one of our elegant premium books. If any difficulty is experienced in finding the word just do as the deacon did and you will be surprised at the alacrity with which the word will come to you.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrence, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, and frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I feel symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by H. E. Grice.

William Serl an old and respected citizen of the county died at his home southwest of the city after a long illness on last Monday morning. In response to the proclamation issued by President McKinley, requesting that memorial services be held throughout this country to give thanks for the victories of the United States forces on land and sea, Rev. James M. Darby last Sunday morning delivered a memorial sermon at the Methodist church. The church was very appropriately decorated with flags and other patriotic emblems, and filled to its utmost capacity with a congregation eager to do homage to the deeds of our soldiers, among whom were the G. A. R., who met at their hall and marched to the church in a body. Mr. Darby took for his subject "The Immortals," which subject he very ably handled, treating on the immortals in history of science, education, art, war, etc., and finally coming to those of the present day endowed with deeds which will, in history, live forever. Such meetings as this one are certainly very interesting not only from a religious view, but also inspire patriotism and should be held more often and without waiting for a presidential proclamation.

SOME persons say it is natural for them to lose flesh during summer. But losing flesh is losing ground. Can you afford to approach another winter in this weakened condition? Coughs and colds, weak throats and lungs, come quickest to those who are thin in flesh, to those easily chilled, to those who have poor circulation and feeble digestion.

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites does just as much good in summer as in winter. It makes flesh in August as well as April. You certainly need as strong nerves in July as in January. And your weak throat and lungs should be healed and strengthened without delay.

Duties Experienced by a Former Webster County Boy Not so Severe as They Might Be.

St. Petersburg, Fla., July 6.

EDITOR CHIEF:—Having plenty of time I will write you an article for your paper. Since leaving Chickamauga we were camped at Tampa, Florida, where we were to load on transports for the Sanguo expedition. We had our mules and horses all on board the Allegany, with part of our equipment, when we were transferred from the 1st army corps to the 4th army corps under General Copinger, when of course we were ordered to unload. We were uncamped there until Monday evening, June 20 a, when we received orders to break camp next morning, and be ready to move at 8 o'clock. At once the company was all hurry and bustle, many wondering where we were going and the why and wherefore.

We were soon told that Co. D was to go to St. Petersburg, as a special detachment to relieve Co. B of the First Illinois, which had been stationed there on special guard duty. Next morning promptly on time we had all packed our rations and equipage loaded, and fell into the ranks in heavy marching order. The march to the depot, about a quarter of a mile, was soon ended, and we waited for the train to the pier at Port Tampa where we took the steamer Lawrence for St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg lies along the north coast of Tampa Bay, and only four miles from the gulf. Its excellent location and even climate makes it an admirable winter resort and the winter finds its numerous hotels crowded to the utmost with northern pleasure seekers. St. Petersburg is a new town and has sprung from a village of 180 in 1830 to a now thriving town of 2500 population, and has acquired many a metropolitan air. The inhabitants are largely made up of northern people, Indiana and Illinois being largely in the majority. The people have erected many handsome houses, which together with elegant business rooms and large hotels, compose a town the equal of which is hard to find in a city twice or thrice its size.

The town is surrounded by large farms and orchards. The principal products are bananas, oranges, guavas, peaches, strawberries, pine apples and melons.

There are very few homes in town that have not some tropical fruit in one of the various stages of cultivation. The surf is particularly fine for bathing and the two pavilions accommodate quite a goodly number of bathers. The fishing from the pier is excellent, the waters abounding with Spanish mackerel, catfish, trout, bass, etc., as well as shark, porpoises, sawfish and many of nature's curious funny tribe. The town is noted as a water station as all of the large transport ships and war vessels stop here for ice and water and water is taken from here to the blockading fleet.

Our duties here are to protect the pumping stations and tanks, and the lake from which it is supplied. The danger of spies or Spanish healings poisoning the water has made it necessary for us to guard these places well. Our tents are pitched in the town limits, on one of the streets bounding the park. The pavilion in the park we use as a guard house, and during the heated part of each day find refuge under the shade, and at night the pavilion is lighted by electricity, quite a departure from the usual army guard house. It is by far the best camp so far on our trip. The people are very hospitable, no want but what they are anxious to supply, giving balls, parties, and teas for the boys, bringing us a goodly lot of reading matter and presenting cake, etc. Yesterday they gave us a fine dinner, served ice cream in the park, and during the day the 4th of July was celebrated with speeches, wheel races, boat races, and in the afternoon a game of ball was played between St. Petersburg and Co. D, with a score of 6 to 1 in favor of Co. D. The whole affair ended in the evening with a grand military ball.

How long we will be here we know not, as we are looking for orders to cross the pond any day. We were further equipped yesterday with each a hammock for use in Cuba. More anon. LESTER KOONTZ.

Corner Stone Laid.
Quite an important event in this portion of Nebraska occurred yesterday when the corner stone of the Catholic church at Orleans was laid. This building when completed will rival any similar edifice in the state. It is made of the Colorado brown stone which makes a handsome appearance.

At 10 o'clock a large audience had gathered to participate in the ceremonies and at 10:30 Father Freeman of Wymore began the exercises. Five priests were in attendance and dressed in their robes gave dignity and solemnity to the occasion.

Father McKenna of this city gave the address in English and Father Leonard of Lincoln addressed the people in German.

The whole ceremony was unusually interesting and the character as well as the magnitude of the structure gives evidence of the zealous efforts of Father Harrington pastor of that diocese.

The laying of the corner is quite an important period in the erection of a building and the projectors feel that they have it now well under way.

It is due Overing Bros. & Co. to say that they furnished the corner stone for this, the greatest building in western Nebraska.
