

Jewelry Honesty

Jewelry is something that the average person knows so little about that he must needs depend almost entirely upon the Jeweler of whom he buys. We find that our judgment is relied upon more and more by Jewelry buyers. People who wish to avoid mistakes are willing to have us shoulder the entire burden. If you buy jewelry here it's right—no matter what you pay for it.

The late rains have come to the relief of the small grain crop of this county helping it out amazingly. Pieces of wheat that it was thought would not pay to cut a few weeks ago will now certainly make a good yield, and in several places the crop will average up to that of last year. Wheat is all headed out and in a couple of weeks the most of it will be ready for the binder.
 This office is quite busy at present getting out the premium list for the Inter-State fair. The fair this year will be held September 18, 19, 20 and 21. Under the new association the fair will undoubtedly be a success as they guarantee the payment of all premiums. By guaranteeing the race purses an unlimited quantity of good horse flesh can always be found to compete for them and this feature can therefore be expected to be first class this year. The premium list will be ready for distribution about the first of July and you should obtain a copy and see what you will get (not what you will be promised) should you desire to make an exhibit.

One of the committee of the Fourth of July celebration at Campbell in writing in the Press says they will have a steam "Mary-go-round." Now we would just like to know what it is "Mary" is going to steam around. If there is enough "Mary" to go around we might be induced to celebrate at Campbell.

Most of the men who have been engaged here putting in the telephone system left Monday morning for McCook to engage in the work of putting in the exchange at that place. Two men still remain here to finish up the work of putting in the phones and do what wiring remains to be done.

One of the most popular of the songs of the day is "She Was Bred in Old Kentucky." The words of the piece are singularly idiotic; it is a strange fact that most popular songs are silly in the extreme. Any kind of cheap John poetry will do, so that the musician strikes a piece of music that is easy to whistle.

Everybody has a roar coming on the worthless dogs that chase about the town in the early morning hour, awakening the whole town. Sunday morning a bunch of eleven made the grand tour of the city about five-thirty just the hour when sleep tastes the best. A little shotgun practice on their carcases would do them good.

The Woodman of this city are being treated to a series of musical entertainment at their meetings these days, the music being furnished by Messrs. McBride and McNitt. They also have a committee on social entertainment which generally has something prepared to tickle the palates of attending members after a hard night's work initiating new members. Music and refreshments are certainly good inducement to attend.

How environment tends to mould opinion and give a local style to social etiquette. The following is the way an RedCloud lady ask a merchant to show her a pair of garters: "It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appendage contracted and expanded by means of oscillating burnished steel appliances that sparkle like particles of gold half set with Alaska diamonds, and which are utilized for keeping in position the habiliments of the lower extremities which innately delicacy forbids me to mention."

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

will generally correct this difficulty.
 If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL.

At the close of the teachers' institute last Saturday resolutions were adopted in which the renomination of Mrs. Eva J. Case as county superintendent was made a prominent feature. The teaching of Webster county, with the exception of a small per cent, may not be eligible voters on account of their sex, however that is no reason why they should not be judges of the competency and efficacy of a candidate for that office, and the wishes of the teachers should not in this instance be overlooked.

A universal sentiment exists among Nebraska people, irrespective of political belief, that there should be some demonstration of respect tendered the First Regiment on its return home. A movement to this end has already begun at Lincoln and it should receive the hearty co-operation of the entire state. The reception as planned will be held in Lincoln some two or three weeks after the return of the regiment and transportation, entertainment, etc. will be free of charge to them. The object of putting it off for two or three weeks after their arrival is that they may first visit home and friends. It is proposed to give the boys a reunion on the camp grounds from which they marched a year ago, and where veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic will be waiting to receive them, and also the Second and Third Regiments, together with the State National Guard acting as a guard of honor. Webster county has several boys in the First Regiment and why not help this move along to give them a fitting reception, or better yet, get up one for their benefit shortly after their return.

Candidates for office are springing up about as thick as toad stools around a stump. Of course they all have their own ideas about their chances of receiving the nomination and of finally being elected. It is indeed amusing to stand around and hear them tell of the running qualities in an election, from the republican who thinks he can carry Potsdam without a struggle to the populist who thinks he can carry the Second ward of this city by a large majority. Now we will not mention the names of any candidates as yet for fear of "raising some one's dander" but will say that we have reserved a few spaces at the head of our editorial page which are well suited for announcements, which can be had for the small sum of five dollars each should candidates desire to inform the people between now and the time set for holding the convention that they want some office. We have about come to the conclusion that a newspaper man has no business springing candidates on an unsuspecting public and so have decided to let them announce themselves. If you are a candidate for any office announce yourself in style and after that the newspaper man will have an opportunity of saying something nice about you without being accused of springing candidates or trying to nominate the whole ticket.

Bryan now decides that it takes more bravery to fight the trusts than to change up San Juan hill. In consequence we can soon look for another resignation. The only idea of a charge that ever entered this leader's head was the greatest possible charge for the use of the tongue. He is one of those marvellous swashbucklers whom Ben Hill so graphically described year ago as "invincible in peace and invincible in war. What terror must reign in the breast of the trusts as they behold this great long distance fighter oiling up his tongue for the fray. Don Quixote would not have met such disaster had he avoided the wild mill. But what are the poor trust to do when they see the wind mill flowing on their trail. They have no refuge expect cave. Billy the Brave is to dare what no rough rider ever dared on San Juan, risk what Chaffee and the fighting Seventh a; El Caney never risked. He is going to open the battery of his jaw at the trusts even at the risk of having it silenced. Imagine the "Matterhorn" bereft of her glittering coronet of snow, the mighty Niagara shorn of the thunder that rolls up from the abyss into which she leaps, and Bryan with his mouth closed by a giant trust in compressed air. No wonder the soldier who never faltered while others climbed San Juan hill, who stayed not his onward march until he saw the sea, now pines before Resolutions of Webster County Teachers. WHEREAS: We the teachers of Webster county in institute assembled have had a most pleasant and profitable week in the art of teaching.

Be it resolved; That we feel it both a duty and a pleasure to extend our heartfelt thanks to the instructors for the many favors and efficient services they have rendered us in endeavoring to show us the better ways to lead the children in easier paths toward the pinnacle of learning. And we as teachers will strive to show our appreciation of their labors by striving to do more efficient work in future than in the past and the good we have received "pass it on."

Be it further resolved, That we take this opportunity to extend our thanks and appreciation to our worthy county superintendent, Mrs. E. J. Case, for her careful and wise selection of instructors for the institute and the supervision of the schools of our county; therefore, we the teachers feel it our bounden duty to work for her renomination and re-election.

Weather of the State. General summary of the weather and crop conditions over the state as reported by the state observer at Lincoln:

The past week has been warm and wet in eastern counties and dry in western. The average daily temperature excess has varied from 2 degrees in the eastern part of the state to less than 1 degree in the western. The rainfall has exceeded a half inch in central and eastern counties and was exceedingly heavy in Dodge, Washington, and Burt counties, ranging from 4 to nearly 7 inches. In most of the western counties the rainfall was less than a quarter of an inch.

The continued dry weather in the western country has been exceedingly unfavorable for small grain. Oats and wheat considerably injured in that part of the state and many fields are ripening prematurely. In some counties the grass is drying up. The past week has been exceptionally favorably to crops in most of the eastern counties. In the counties where the heaviest rainfalls occurred corn suffered considerably from washing, continued wet soil and lack of cultivation. Wheat and oats are heading out and rye is beginning to ripen. Corn is backward and small in all sections, but stand is good and the crop healthy. It has not yet been injured by the drought in southwestern counties and has made fine growth in eastern counties during the past week. Generally the corn is free from weeds, and the second cultivation is well advanced. But in the region of heavy rainfall where cultivation has been detained, the fields are becoming somewhat weedy. Potatoes are growing very well and are now generally in bloom. Cherries are ripe and the crop is good. Alfalfa is mostly cut for the first time and the crop is light. Sugar beets are growing well.

Try Colorado this Summer. Getting there costs very little—only fare plus $2 for the round trip—every day from June 25 to July 11. Tickets good to return until October 31. See nearest Burlington agent and get particulars.
