"The saloons must go"—on doing business.

Which is the worse to swear in an illegal vote or to sell whiskey?

Admiral Dewey has signified willingness to run for the presidency, but is not yet decided as to which ticket he will make the race on.

A special election for congressman in Utah resulted in a democratic loss of 3000 in the district. The whole west will give a good account of itself in November.

The Dewey presidential candidacy foolishness shows the desperation of the democrats in the matter of a presidential candidate. Not a single person in the democratic party who has any standing among his own friends suppose that Mr. Bryan can win, and a few of them are trying to trade on the popularity of Dewey in the hope of defeating Bryan in the convention and of saving their party from extinction.
