Died at her home near Campbell, Nebraska, on May 17, 1900, aged 25 years, 10 months and 2 days, Mrs. Carrie McMahan wife of J. R. McMahan. Carrie Neeley was born at Greenfield, Adair county, Iowa, July 15, 1874, came to Nebraska in 1896, and was united in marriage to J. R. McMahan Jan. 11, 1899. She was converted at the age of 16 and united with the M. E. church. She was a kind and loving wife and affectionate mother. She leaves a husband and little baby, father two brothers and three sisters to mourn her loss. The funeral was conducted by Rev. G. W. Hummel, the pastor by whom she was married only sixteen short months ago at the Prairie Gem school house and interment was made in the Prairie Gem cemetery, to which place the remains were followed by a large concourse of sympathizing friends. The husband and family have the sympathy of all in this their dire affliction.

$115.00 for Nebraska letters. Thirteen cash prizes. General Passenger Agent Francis of the Burlington Route offers $115 in prizes for letters about Nebraska, its resources, possibilities and opportunities. The letters will be used to encourage immigration to this state. This contest is open to all. The letters should contain between 200 and 1,000 words, and must reach Mr. Francis at Omaha, by July 1, 1900. A circular giving all the conditions of the contest will be mailed on application.

A girl should never marry a man that she may reform him. If he is in need of reformation let him prove himself worthy by turning from evil and setting his face steadfastly and perseveringly to good before he asks a girl to surrender herself and her life to him. Nor should a girl be too impatient with father, mother and friends if they counsel delay in deciding a matter which is to influence her whole career and her lover's, when they, with clearer eyes than her own, perceive in him an unsuitability to her.

"The Blue Hill Leader reports the heartrending information that May LaBounty had the misfortune to dislocate the knee of one of her lower limbs," says the Wilcox Herald. "Now this is a sad thing for Miss May. Had it been the knee of one, or even both of her upper limbs, it wouldn't have been nearly so bad. Or had she even fractured the ankle of her shoulder blade, or sprained her left leg at the wrist, or cracked the anything else in fact, except dislocate the knee of one of her lower limbs, the case would not have been so extremely touching."

The following taken from the Young People's Weekly of May 20th, would indicate that the saloon is not the only place where poison lurks in the drinks sold. You may get fusil oil in your whiskey but when you go and throw into yourself several glasses of soda water just think of having the lining of your stomach painted red. And that is not all. We are glad we never became addicted to the use of soda water, but instead took our "fusion oil" straight. "The Connecticut Agricultural Station has been analyzing soda water syrups for the last two years, and the investigations showed that out of ninety-two samples from fountains examined, fifty-six contained glucose, salicylic acid or coal-tar dyes, and artificial flavors made from chemicals instead of fruit. In a single glass of soda water the chemists found enough red bordeaux dye to dye a piece of woolen six inches square a brilliant color."

We are pleased to note that one or two churches, their pastors and members, still remain out of the trust or boycott which was made against this paper on account of the fact that we spoke the sentiments of the public on the saloon question. We have still many friends in these churches who do not believe in this method of Christianity and the appearance of our advertising columns would not indicate that the business men whose interests we have endeavored to subserve have entirely deserted us. We are at all times ready and willing to print anything for the welfare of the churches.

The remains of Francis M., the eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Winger of McDonald, Kansas, were brought here, Monday night on 5, and on Tuesday morning the little one was laid away in Longview cemetery, after brief services at the home of Conductor J. E. Beyer by Rev. J. W. Walker. The little one died on Sunday. The parents formerly resided here and have a burial plot in Longview already tenanted. The mother being too ill, the body was accompanied here from McDonald by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Hattie Winger of Benkelman, who, with her husband, (who joined her on Tuesday morning from Benkelman,) attended the funeral. The friends here of the bereaved parents and family offer their sincerest sympathy.—McCook Tribune.

Now that there is a good prospect for crops and all nature seems bent on the making of plenty, it seems to us would be a very opportune time for those in arrears to come in and pay their subscription. As we have said before it is not the large amount of each individual who is in arrears, but taken as a whole it amounts to a large sum. Take for instance the fact that of five hundred delinquents, fifty owe from two to three years, two hundred owe two years and the balance or two hundred and fifty owe one year. This collectively makes a large sum. Some people seem to think that they should receive a paper right along without paying a cent, but they don't stop to think that the publisher has to be eternally putting up the cash. When you read this article stop and think if you are one of the many and then do the right thing. We'll not become a blood-bond-holder but in turn we will pay what we owe.
