A very sad accident occurred at Bladen last Saturday, when Carl Spence aged twelve, son of C. E. Spence, shot and killed his little sister Minnie, aged seven, with a rifle that was not supposed to be loaded. They were playing with the gun and the boy pointed it at the girl and pulled the trigger, killing her instantly. The ball passed behind the ear and lodged in the other side. It is a sad blow to the bereaved family and community.

Now that there is a good prospect for crops and all nature seems bent on the making of plenty, it seems to us would be a very opportune time for those in arrears to come in and pay their subscription. As we have said before it is not the large amount of each individual who is in arrears, but taken as a whole it amounts to a large sum. Take for instance the fact that of five hundred delinquents, fifty owe from two to three years, two hundred owe two years and the balance or two hundred and fifty owe one year. This collectively makes a large sum. Some people seem to think that they should receive a paper right along without paying a cent, but they don't stop to think that the publisher has to be eternally putting up the cash. When you read this article stop and think if you are one of the many and then do the right thing. We'll not become a wretched bond-holder but in turn we will pay what we owe.

The new wells at the water works are at present working in good shape. It was thought they were not a success as they would pump dry in a short time. The trouble evidently was that the water was shut out of the wells on account of there not being sufficient gauze on the tubing. Sand-points were procured and put on three of the poorest wells and the tubing raised and since then there has been no trouble.
