FOR SALE—The Red Cloud Breeding barn, one English Shire stallion (imported), one Percheron Norman, and one Kentucky Mammoth Jack, and all harness, bridles and sulkeys. Each and every animal is sold with a guarantee.—C. L. WINFREY, Prop.

The rain last Saturday has greatly improved the pasture so that there is plenty of feed for stock, and is improving the outlook for corn. Innumerable pieces along the valley will make good crops and also on the upland considerable good corn will be found. There will be an abundance of roughness for all kinds of stock. Many farmers have considerable old corn, and the shortage in the crop will hardly be noticed.

On last Saturday at 7 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Miner, occurred the marriage of their daughter Miss Mary, to Dr. E. A. Creighton. The ceremony was performed by Father Shine of Harvard and was witnessed by the relatives and friends of the contracting parties, both of whom are well known and highly respected. The Chief along with their best friends takes pleasure in extending congratulations to the happy couple.

Word was received here the last of the week that Mike Berry, who was out on bond to appear at the last term of the district court and who was prevented from so doing from the fact that he was in jail at Hastings charged with robbery, had again been turned loose on bond. His bond here having been forfeited by his non-appearance and an order having been made for his re-arrest, Deputy Burdick telephoned to the Sheriff of Adams county to arrest and hold him till he could get there. This was done but by a very narrow margin as Berry was at the depot and would have departed for Colorado on a train which pulled out five minutes later. Deputy Burdick drove to Hastings and returned here with his prisoner. On Saturday he gave a new bond and was again turned loose.

ESTRAY NOTICE—Taken up at the farm of F. W. Studebaker four miles west of Red Cloud, one bay horse pony ten years old and one light cream pony blind in one eye, about twelve or fifteen years old.—F. W. STUDEBAKER.

F. W. Cowden will leave tomorrow for the eastern markets to purchase the stock of fall and winter clothing for the Cowden Kaley Clothing Co. He will visit a number of the eastern cities and buy one of the largest and best stocks of clothing ever shipped into the valley. The increasing business of the firm demands this kind of a stock. The business of this firm is not confined to the limits of Red Cloud and Webster county, but extends from Wymore to McCook, and it is a well known fact that good clothing can be bought cheaper at the Cowden Kaley Clothing Company's store than anywhere between Omaha and Denver.

ALMOST FORGOTTEN.

Incidents of Every Day Life Which Very Few People Stop to Think About on Account of Their Littleness.

The good people of this part of the state at least have perhaps seen the last of "Captain" Archer, the hypocrite who has been wearing the cloak of a street preacher.—He has been "drilled out" of most of the towns in the valley.—From this place he went to Guide Rock and it is evident that the citizens did not give him the "glad mit" for his stay was short.—He next find him at Superior in the role of temperance lecturer, but although he had counted on a one week stand, one night was sufficient.—An urgent call for greener fields took him hence and to wither no one cares.—The Superior Journal devoted a generous space toward lifting him a little farther along.—In one part of its article it was wrong in stating that he tried to get a Red Cloud young lady to marry him.—Our girls were too smart for him; they knew he was "rummy" and kept at a safe distance.—The "Captain" was too busy playing Jack the Peeper to make love to the dear girls even if they were so inclined.—The "Captain" interviewed the Chief office on last Friday and among other things he said the best element of the people were with him; the preachers and all the lawyers.—He stated that one lawyer assured him that he would put up a $10,000 bail bond for him if he needed it.—That made us smile.—He also stated that the other papers would not publish the article from the Bloomington Echo.—That was no surprise, a subscriber might be lost if they stood up for our citizens against a preacher who was troubled with a nightmare of words.—They can however cover considerable space in giving details of a street fight.—When some people love they are oblivious sometimes to the figure they cut and the attention they draw from the public when they appear upon the street.—Two couples who were evidently bent on getting "spliced" came in from the west on passenger train 16 Wednesday morning and came up town on the street car.—When they alighted therefrom it was observed that they had hold of hands in true lover like fashion.—Of course we dropped onto the situation but there was one thing we could not understand and that was that one of the young men carried in his disengaged hand a jug.—But when he deposited the jug at John Polnick's and the couples went off to hunt up the county judge we concluded there would be a "hot time" in some dry town or its vicinity that night.—We have heard of the young man who went out and kicked the hitching post because his horse ran away, but we have a far better one than that right here at home.—We have a young lady in town who takes delight each week in tearing the "inards" out of the Chief each time she gets it out of the post-office.—She thinks she is getting even with the office for alleged wrongs, but up to date the editor hasn't felt even a little twinge of pain.—Of course the paper is shocked at such treatment and is suffused with tears.—It is not crying because it is torn asunder but because it has made its weekly trip to the post-office since 1894 without a cent having ever been paid on subscription.—Maybe the young lady wants to obliterate the date tag.—And then people think the editor's life is centered by a bed of roses.—Now is the time to pay your subscription.
