George B. Holland.

This week we are forced to chronicle he death of one of Red Cloud's old seters, and who was the second mayor our city ever had, Geo. B. Holland, of heart failure.

Geo. B. Holland was born at Saratoga, N. Y , September 28, 1854, and died in Hutchinson, Kansas, November 22,

Mr. Holland came to this city in the 70's, and his first venture here was in the restaurant business in a small building just south of what is now the Haskin's livery barn. Afterwards he bought the Jack Rinaker hotel which was located where the Traders lumber yar! now is, and in 1884 he took charge of the "Boy's Home" and changed the name to the "Holland House," which name the hotel still retains. He sold out his hotel business here in 1893, and went to Hot Springs, Arkansas, to engage in the same business on a larger scale, but shortly afterwards the sumit pox broke out at that place, which resulted disastrously for Mr. Holland financially. After this he went to Okiahoma and engaged is the restaurant business, and after getting a fresh start had just engaged again in the hotel business at Hutchinson, Kansas, when his demise came.

Mr Holland was the second Mayor the city of Red Cloud ever had, and served two terms and refused to serve a third when it was offered him.

The remains were shipped to this city last Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Holland, and were laid to rest by the side of his son, Lee, the last sad rights being performed by Rev.

Owing to the fact that it was not generally known just at what hour the that the remains were taken direct to the cemetery, the attendance was rather small, as many would have desired to pay a last tribute to one of Red Cloud's old residents who was well liked by all and who had not an enebody would arrive, and also to the fact my in the community.

Editor of the Chief. Dear Sir:—In your notice of the funeral exercises of Mrs. Igou, I observe your reporter in advertently failed to state that Rev.
Xanders of the Episcopal Church was present, and rendered most cordial and most acceptable service. In fact I feel that he is the one who should have been mentioned as conducting the services.
By giving space to this correction,
you will greatly oblige,
Yours Respectfully,
