ALMOST FORGOTTEN.

Incidents of Every Day Life Which Very Few People Stop to Think About on Account of Their Littleness.
Christmas is rapidly approaching. This is the time when some people present you with a gift which they think is awful pretty and useful, but which the recipient a few weeks later puts in some obscure corner of the cupboard to get it out of the way.—For our part we would rather receive a dollar on back subscription or a paid-in advance subscriber than all the tawdry gifts in existence.—It is the time when the faces of the children of the more fortunate are wreathed with smiles and those of the unfortunate stained with tears and at no other time of the year are the heart strings of the little street gambo so badly shattered.—With all its sunshine and happiness to some, to others it is the saddest day in the year.—It is the day when "the man who never drinks"—in a salt—goes over to make the acquaintance of Tom and Jerry.—It is the day when the fellow who means to swear off on the first of the year gets in his best licks.—Hot air was first introduced into the world by Adam when he told Mrs. Eve that there was no woman in all the world like her.—This accounts for the fact that lovers can sit in the front parlor with no fire these evenings for six long hours at a stretch.—Dead men tell no tales, but the editors who write their obituaries often do.—Talking about dancing it will be observed that a man will waltz ten miles during the progress of a hop, who could not carry a scuttle of coal fifty feet.—What's the matter with having a wood sawing and splitting match for Christmas?—The man who sows and splits the most wood in a certain given time to take all the wood chopped by his competitors and receive a cash prize.—We have been observing Bert Grice for some time and want to bet on a cinch.—The man who goes after a can of beer is "rushing the growler," and a dog with a can tied to his tail is "a growler rushing the can."—We have not learned what they call the sanctified church member of our city who goes to Lincoln to a convention and rushes the bartender because he don't get the drinks up fast enough.—A well known young bachelor of our city who has felt the frosts of winter and the heat of summer for forty-six odd years and has withstood the winning smiles and captivated glances of at least a thousand blushing damsels has at last succumbed and is a victim to a newspaper personal.—Long nights he has lain awake thinking of how he will elude those ghosts down the street by marrying this fair charmer and going to Chicago.—The following has made his day dreams happy and he has builded many air castles.—Young lady, $15,000 in own name, nice looking, very musical; affectionate, wants good, kind husband; money no object. Address Roselle, box 675, Chicago, Ill.—This young lady will Rose(h)ell with a young, middle-aged Dutchman, who is good looking, kind hearted and affectionate, when she arrives in Red Cloud.—That one—"why is this opera house like a tramp?" and the answer "because it is on the bum," which was gotten off at the show last night may be an old chestnut, but it was very appropriate.—The patronage of this show indicates that the city is a good show town and that an auditorium would pay the investors good dividends.—Here is about the size apparently of our moneyed men.—If there is anything that gives us longing for eternal rest and deep damp solitude, it is the men who come to a town or country, build up a paying business, grow rich from the resources of a prosperous country, and then squat down on their wealth like a clucking hen on a door knob, and are too infernal stingy to even let the gravel grind in their own gizzards.—There are men here who could put $250 or $500 into an auditorium even if no direct money return came back from it.—It would at least be a pleasing monument to their progressiveness.—But an auditorium will bring dividends, it will enhance the value of your property and it will bring business to your merchants.—It will make your children have a higher estimate of life and keep them out of questionable resorts and the dark corners of the city.—Stand up for Red Cloud and build an auditorium.

One moment of anger and hasty action on the part of John A. Poyer a farmer living near Cowles will send him to the penitentiary for three years and will cause long and bitter sorrow to his family. This week in district court his case came up for the shooting and wounding of Deputy Sheriff A. A. Burdick and in his trial before twelve good men and true he was found guilty and the judge on Thursday gave him the above sentence which it is to be hoped will be a lesson to others. The shooting, as was told in these columns at the time, occurred on the evening of the 12th day of June last at the home of Poyer and the trouble leading up to it was caused by the deputy sheriff and a collector of the Walter A. Wood company levying an execution on a buggy for a debt owing to that firm. The weapon used was a shot gun and the deputy received a good number of the leaden missiles in his body. A great deal of sympathy is expressed for the convicted man's family.

R. B. Kummer, proprietor of the new Red Cloud Flouring Mill informed us this week that that institution had been started up and was now ready for business. The machinery which is all first-class is capable of turning out the best of mill-stuffs and a capable and efficient miller will be in charge. With the advent of this new enterprise will come a demand for more grain and a larger acreage of cereals will be the outcome to keep up with the increased demand. The fact that we will have a home consumption for all the wheat we can raise should encourage our citizens to give the new mill their most loyal support. The products of this new establishment should be found in the home of every resident of our city. For a number of years thousands of dollars have gone out from this city to other towns for the purchase of breadstuffs and in most cases without a cent in return. Mr. Kummer has come among us with the intention of making a permanent home and he has invested his good money in an institution we have been striving to obtain for years, and now that it is here let our citizens show their appreciation of it. It is the money spent at home and the money brought in from outside in exchange for home productions that build cities. Stand up for Red Cloud. Stand up for the new mill.
