

TO BE BIG STRUGGLE

Steel Corporation and Employees Fail to Agree.

A DEATH FIGHT BETWEEN THE TWO

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers Given Absolute Power and May Close Every Mill.

"Within a week every union man and every union man at heart in the employ of the United States Steel corporation will be asked to join in the strike now being waged by the amalgamated association. We must settle whether unionism is to stand or fall. There will be no more conferences with the United States Steel corporation unless the meeting is asked for by the officials of that corporation. The amalgamated association will not request a peace meeting."

These and several other significant statements were made Sunday night by Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the amalgamated association of iron, steel and tin workers upon his return to Pittsburgh from the fruitless conference with J. Pierpont Morgan and others in New York.

It is now a fight to the bitter finish between the great billion dollar steel trust and organized labor. Mr. Shaffer says that he is ready to employ every peaceable means within power of man to win a victory. No quarter is to be given and none will be requested.

The entire management of the battle has been placed in the hands of President Shaffer. He has absolute power to call out every man who is connected with the organization and he intends to do it. He is satisfied with the progress of the fight to date. He finds that none of his battle lines have been broken. Promise is made by Mr. Shaffer that the trust will find that the amalgamated association has strong roots in many of its mills.

CONVICT IS RUN DOWN.

One of Lincoln Trio Captured Near Grand Island—Bloodhounds Play Part.

Sheriff Pollard and several local officers, Sheriff Pollard also being assisted by several men from Hamilton county, captured one of the men who escaped from the penitentiary last Friday night. The men went to Phillips on a train where they changed clothing. They were traced to Grand Island, and Sheriff Pollard with the Lincoln bloodhounds was put on the trail. The bloodhounds tracked the men to a point near Lion Grove, a picnic resort about a mile south of Grand Island in the Wood river valley. One Adair, sent from Omaha for four years on the charge of forgery, was captured and is now in jail. The officers were hot upon the trail of the other two men near Sand Krog, several miles from where the first man was caught, but later returned to Grand Island, having given up the chase. The trail of the men was followed for quite a distance through the dry channel of Wood river, but the men got into a pasture where there were many horses, cattle and campers and here the dogs repeatedly lost the trail and threw up their heads. During the chase Sheriff Taylor's horse fell rolling on his limb, but no injuries resulted.

CALLS WILSON TO ACCOUNT

Kansas Man Objects to Statement of the Secretary.

F. D. Coburn, state secretary of agriculture of Topeka, Kas., has given out an interview severely criticizing Secretary of Agriculture Wilson for the latter's recent reference to Kansas as a "semi-arid region."

Mr. Coburn said Mr. Wilson had defined the corn belt as composed of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. Mr. Wilson is further quoted as saying that Kansas and Nebraska can never be counted upon. The Kansas secretary presents many facts and figures showing how, in his estimation, Kansas and Nebraska far overshadow the other states mentioned in the way of corn-growing.

Dunker is about 50 years old and resides at Dodge.

SECRETARY WILSON.

Stops in Lincoln and Calls on Board of Agriculture.

Secretary James Wilson of the department of agriculture was in Lincoln the latter part of last week inspecting the university experiment station and state farm east of the city. He visited with the state board of agriculture which was in session at the time.

The object of the visit was to make a personal inspection of the corn crop in the west. Secretary Wilson said he was able form a very accurate idea of the condition of the crop from reports received by him but he wanted to see for himself the effects of the unprecedented drouth. He had heard unusual reports from his own state, Iowa, also the states of Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, but he desired to see for himself.

In company with others he inspected the state farm and experiment station. The dairy school and everything connected with the experiment station was highly praised by Mr. Wilson.

SHOOTS SON-IN-LAW DEAD

Former Nebraskans Parties to a Tragedy in Montana.

Ira Turner was shot and killed in a wood-chopper's cabin in Dead Man's Gulch, eight miles from Missoula, Mont., by Henry Nudson, his father-in-law. Nudson and his family came west from their former home in Norfolk, Neb., a year ago. Nudson and his son-in-law had taken up timber claims in Dead Man's Gulch. Nudson says that after having returned from town to the claims he found Turner beating his wife. He went to his own cabin, a short distance away, and got his shotgun, and through an open window he blazed away, the charge striking Turner in the left lung, killing him instantly. Nudson gave himself up. The girl takes her husband's part.

RAID OF GAME WARDEN.

Elkhorn River Yields Richly in Unlawful Devices.

Chief Game Warden Simpkins has received word of a successful raid of game wardens along the Elkhorn river. The raid was made under the direction of Superintendent W. J. O'Brien of the fish hatcheries. From the town of West Point to the mouth of the Elkhorn river the search was kept up two days, and as a result, a large amount of illegal fishing tackle confiscated. The implements confiscated include seventeen hoop nets, 11 large and one small seine, four framed fish traps, three wooden traps, three wooden traps and spears. This proves the truth of vious reports that the Elkhorn and other rivers of the state are full of lawful devices for catching fish. It is difficult to find the owners of the property, and probably no prosecution will follow.

VICTIMS PENNED IN

Nearly a Score of People Meet Death in Fire.

WAS A DEADLY EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE

Six Buildings Wrecked in Philadelphia and Full Extent of Disaster is Not Known—the Explosion Comes at Night—Many are Injured.

A terrific explosion in a block of six buildings on Locust street, above Tenth at Philadelphia, Pa., completely wrecked five of the structures and caused the death of from ten to twenty or more persons. Over two score of others were more or less seriously injured. Some of those taken to the hospital will die. It is estimated that at least thirty-five persons were in the five buildings when the explosion occurred, and the exact number of the dead will probably not be known for some time.

The explosion occurred about 6:30 p. m. What exploded and how it happened is not known but it is believed to have been a barrel of gasoline in one of the grocery stores. With the explosion of 1008 the front wall of the buildings were blown outward into the street, while the floors and roof were blown upward and fell straight to the ground. Almost every building in a radius of two blocks about the scene of the explosion had window panes badly shattered and were otherwise damaged. Every building on the opposite side of Locust street, was more or less wrecked, but none of them fell.

A terrific cry went up from the ruins the moment the explosion occurred. Women, children and men, occupants of the wrecked houses, could be seen crawling from the debris, while the agonizing cries of others were heard in the wreckage. From all the surrounding buildings injured people came running and fell into the street unconscious. To add to the horror fire broke out in the debris the moment it settled to the ground and in less than five minutes the great pile was burning fiercely from end to end.

GOOD IRRIGATED CROPS.

Corn and Garden Truck an Immense Crop.

A Monroe, Neb., dispatch says: Farmers who have land under the Great Eastern canal now appreciate irrigation. While a considerable area in this valley is planted to garden truck and seeds, there is considerable corn under irrigation that will yield from sixty-five to eighty bushels per acre.

This is the first year that irrigation in the east central part of Nebraska has had a fair test and the results are all that its friends had hoped for. Ever since its introduction, in 1896, the seasons have been favorable for crops without its aid, but this year water is worth to farmers anyway from one-half to two-thirds the value of the land. Dry weather makes converts for irrigation and as a result it has made many friends this year.

STRIKE IS ORDERED

Amalgamated Association Casts the Die.

UNION BURNS BRIDGES BEHIND IT.

President Shaffer Issues Call and Men to Quit—Will Enter on Bitter Struggle That Will Mean Loss of Money and Possible Bloodshed.

The die is cast. The battle of the giants is on in earnest, whether to ignominious defeat of one side or the other, or compromise, remains to be seen. Up to Tuesday night it has been merely a skirmish, each trying to find the vulnerable spot in the other's armor. Now it is different, brought about by the actual issuance by President Shaffer of the long-talked-of general strike order. This order was promulgated August 6 to take effect after the last turn of the mills on August 10. What the result will be no man can foretell, but judging by the expressed determination of both parties to the controversy the battle will be waged fast and furiously. Much money will be lost, thousands upon thousands of men will be idle, great suffering is looked for, even bloodshed and death are possible and feared.

The strike call includes practically all amalgamated men in the United States Steel corporation's employ not now on strike. It was issued from the amalgamated association headquarters and mailed to all amalgamated lodge officials who are expected to call their men into the strike.

The text of the call follows:

"Brethren: The officials of the United States Steel trust have refused to recognize as union men those who are now striving for the right to organize. The executive board has authorized me to issue a call upon all amalgamated and other union men in name and heart to join in the movement to fight for labor's rights.

"We must fight or give up forever our personal liberties.

"You will be told that you have signed contracts, but you never agreed to surrender those contracts to the United States Steel corporation. Its officers think you were sold to them, just as the mills were, contracts and all.

"Remember, before you agreed to any contract you took an obligation to the amalgamated association. It now calls you to help in this hour of need. Unless the trouble is settled on or before Saturday, August 10, 1901, the mills will close when the last turn is made on that day.

"Brethren, this is a call to preserve our organization. We trust you and need you. Come and help us and may right come to a just cause. Fraternalty yours.

"T. J. SHAFFER."

WOMAN FATALLY BURNED

Victim of an Explosion of Gasoline—No One Near to Help.

Mrs. Minnie Knapp, wife of E. H. Knapp of Nemaha, Neb., was fatally burned Tuesday afternoon. She went into the cave to refill the tank of the gasoline stove. In pouring out the gasoline she spilled some on her clothing. She took the tank to the house, put it on the stove, changed her dress and went back to the cave and lit a match to see about the gasoline. The cave was filled with the gas and in an instant her clothing was afire. She ran out of the cave tearing her clothing from her body and fighting the fire. Her clothing was burned off her and her body was burned to a crisp. There was no one near by at the time except her six-year-old daughter, and this child ran to a neighbor's for assistance. Mrs. Knapp's burns will prove fatal.

NEBRASKA CROP BULLETIN

Slight Improvement in Corn as Result of Showers.

The United States department of agriculture, Nebraska section, climate and crop service of the weather bureau sends out this general summary of the weekly crop bulletin dated University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Aug. 6.—General summary: The past week was the coolest since the middle of June, but was still slightly warmer than normal. The maximum temperatures averaged one degree above the normal. The maximum temperatures for the week generally exceed 100 degrees on August 1 in southern and eastern counties.

Scattered showers occurring during the week, but the rainfall was generally less than an inch, except in the northeastern part of the state, where on August 2 and 3 a rainfall exceeding an inch occurred in several counties.

Threshing and haying have progressed nicely. The condition of corn has not changed materially during the week; the lower temperature has caused the corn to deteriorate less rapidly and the showers have in some localities caused a slight improvement in the late corn, especially in northern counties. Some corn is being cut for fodder and generally there will be plenty of fodder and food for stock. Peaches have been improved by the rain, but the crop will be short. Fall plowing has begun, but the ground is generally too dry to plow to advantage.
