Results in a Riot at Nebraska City Sunday.

SHERIFF ATTEMPTS ARREST OF PLAYERS

Succeeds After a Scrimmage in Which His Revolver is Taken From Him—Friends of Players Assault Ministers of the Gospel

A Nebraska City, Neb., July 20, special says: Notwithstanding the declaration made by the members of the Sunday observance league that all baseball players would be arrested, a game was played this afternoon on the Argos grounds, between the Argos and Nix's nine. There was to have been a game between the Argos and Crescents of Omaha, but the latter missed their train and failed to arrive. There was a crowd of 1,200 present to witness the game. At the close of the third inning the sheriff appeared and after some difficulty, during which there came near being a riot, by reason of the spectators interfering, the teams were arrested and taken up town, when they were released on bail before Justice H. G. Leigh. The complaint, it is said, was filed by Rev. E. M. Jones of the Baptist church.

A warrant sworn out by a member of the law and order league was placed in the hands of Sheriff Brower for the arrest of the two teams. When he arrived on the grounds an angry crowd surrounded and hustled him violently. His revolver was taken away from him. He succeeded in arresting four players and took them to a justice's office, where they were placed under bonds. A number of city pastors were at the justice's office, and when they left friends of the players threatened and jostled them. A rock was thrown at Rev. C. M. Shepherd of the Methodist church, missing him, but striking a companion and injuring him. Mr. Shepherd was chased to his home. The outbreak is the result of a long and bitter fight between the law and order league and friends of Sunday ball.

LOSS MANY MILLIONS

Mississippi River Flood Situation Growing Worse

A Keokuk, Ia., July 20, dispatch says: Exploration of the flooded districts of the Mississippi river from Keokuk south shows conditions beyond appreciation or realization of any but people of long experience with the father of waters in its most destructive mood. The situation is growing worse hourly and a great conflagration in a great city would not be more rapidly destructive of value than the water is a hundred miles below Keokuk. There is absolutely not the slightest chance of stopping this dozen times most costly flood in the history of the great river above St. Louis.

The correspondent of the Associated press went all over the worst damaged area today in the steamer Silver Crescent and found everywhere the crops under water deep enough to float a steamboat. People of the river cities give an immense mass of details all to be generalized in losses aggregating millions of dollars, hundreds of farmers, rich ten days ago, penniless and homeless, and hundreds watching and praying that the great levees may hold which are now their bulwark against additional millions of loss and in many cases penury.

Careful estimates of the territory covered and generalization of the statements of the best informed people indicate the loss up to today is about six million dollars, with every prospect of two or three millions additional by the rise above which has not yet reached the lower stretches of the river.

Most of the loss is on the Missouri side of the river between Keokuk and Hannibal.

REFUSES TO PAY REWARD

Warden of Oregon Penitentiary Finds a Loophole

The remains of David Merrill, escaped convict, have been delivered at the Oregon penitentiary, after being brought to Salem by Mrs. Mary Waggoner, who found the body near Chehalis.

Warden James of the Oregon penitentiary and one of the prison guards readily identified the dead convict. The casket was interred in the prison cemetery without ceremony.

Mrs. Waggoner made a formal demand upon Superintendent Lee for the reward of $1,500. Mr. Lee declined to pay the same, offering her $300 for her trouble and expense and explaining that the reward could only be paid for the capture of the convict and that she had not captured Merrill, but had merely found his dead body by accident.

Mrs. Waggoner refused the amount offered and made a formal written demand for the full reward to be presented to Governor Gear.

KANSAS NEWS

Late Happenings of Interest to Residents of Jayhawk State.

A Topeka, Kan., July 19, dispatch says: An unusual appeal has been filed in the supreme court here by O. W. Coffelt, who is charged in Cowley county with the assassination of Geo. Montgomery, a detective of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway. Coffelt was on trial recently and the jury hung. Before his second trial is called, Coffelt appeals to the supreme court for an order discharging him, and failing to get such an order, he wants an order compelling the trial judge to give him a change of venue. Before the recent trial began Coffelt made a motion for his discharge, which was denied. He next asked for a change of venue, which was also refused. Then he asked for a continuance of the case, and again the court overruled the motion. Then the trial came on, lasting a month, and the jury was unable to agree. He is unwilling to go to trial in Cowley county again, and so he appeals to the supreme court for the order the trial court has denied him.

The ground of Coffelt's motion for his discharge is that he was kidnapped from Oklahoma and therefore is not within the jurisdiction of the Kansas courts. He declares that he was arrested in Texas on a charge not connected with the murder of Montgomery and taken to Ponca City, Okla. The warrant for his arrest was accompanied by a requisition from the governor of Oklahoma, and he submitted, but he declares that he was taken out of Oklahoma and into Kansas without due process of law.

George Buffington, who shot and killed Ode Miller, a young man employed on Buffington's ranch, near Langley, in Ellsworth county, was arrested Saturday and bound over until the October term of court in the sum of $5,000. His friends have been unable to secure the bond. Buffington is a joint keeper in Salina, but the allegation is said to have occurred over a settlement of accounts at Buffington's ranch. Buffington says the shooting was in self-defense, but the coroner's jury at the inquest found that Miller came to his death from shots fired from the revolver in the hands of George Buffington and recommended the latter be held.

L. S. Crum, United States marshal, has a bad attack of typhoid fever, and has gone to his home in Oswego. He contracted the disease in Topeka. There are many cases of this disease in the state and a number of deaths have been caused by it. Some physicians call it "malaria fever," but it borders so closely upon typhus that there is little difference. The disease is caused by the recent rains and floods, which have carried the germ into wells and cisterns from the surface. He says it is even in the city water. The water since the rain has not been properly filtered.

A daring hold-up and robbery took place near Eighteenth street and Muncie boulevard, in Kansas City, Kan., Saturday. At that hour a lone highwayman stopped E. Schibert, a driver for Tegeler's bakery, and Charles Leech, a driver on one of the Emery, Bird, Thayer Dry Goods company's delivery wagons. From the bakery wagon driver the robber took $18 and from Leech $1.15. As soon as the man had left them the drivers hurried to the nearest telephone and notified Chief Zimmer of Kansas City, Kan., giving a good description of the thief.

The company has subscribed $50,000 and bought the nine elevators along the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe belonging to Carter & Moodie, of Wellington.

About 1,000 soldiers surrounded a resort on Main street, Leavenworth, Kan., and demolished the doors, windows and furniture. This was done in revenge for the fatal stabbing of Eli Loucka, a member of company F, Sixth cavalry, by a negro in the resort. Nothing but the walls and roof of the building were left standing. The negroes in the district were panicked and there was a wild exodus.

Killed by Car

Frank, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Pulver, of Grand Island, Neb., was fatally injured by being run over by an empty box car in the yards of the Union Pacific. The boy was with a number of companions around the yard and taking rides. It appears that he was sitting in the end window of a box car as it was going down the coal chute, when the car bumped against other cars. He was thrown from his seat to the ground, the wheels passing over his right thigh. He died several hours later.

STEAMER SEVERED

German Boat Cut in Two by the Tug Hansa.

IT IS THOUGHT FIFTY WERE DROWNED

Nearly Two Hundred Aboard the Steamer When Accident Occurred—Disaster Due to Heavy Fog—Other News.

A Hamburg, Germany, July 21, dispatch says: The steamship Primus, of Hamburg, with 185 passengers on board, was cut in two and sunk by the tug Hansa on the river Elbe at 12:30 this morning.

So far as is ascertained, about fifty persons were drowned. Thirteen bodies already have been recovered. Primus was an excursion steamer from Buxtehude, province of Hanover, Prussia.

The disaster occurred between Blankenese and Nienstedten. Among the passengers were the members of the Ellbecker male choral society.

At the time of the accident Primus was crossing the river channel near Blankenese, from the southern into the northern fairway.

According to witnesses aboard Hansa, the movement was made too precipitately. Primus struck the tug's engine room and Hansa endeavored to push it ashore, but the tug grounded and the ships parted. Primus then sank.

In the interval, however, about fifty of the passengers were able to reach Hansa by means of ropes and ladders. Seventy more were picked up by the tug's boats, while others swam ashore.

WATER IS FALLING

Flood Has Reached Its Height at Keokuk, Ia.—Rising in the South.

A Keokuk, Ia., July 21, dispatch says: The height of the flood in the Mississippi valley was reached today south of here. The river fell an inch and a half at Keokuk today and the fall will reach southern points by tomorrow. But the rise of a foot more in the vicinity of Canton, Quincy, La. Grange and Hannibal carried the water over thousands of acres previously uninjured.

The highest water is between La Grange and Gregory, where the water on Sunday was well below the rails of the St. Louis, Keokuk & Northwestern railway on the bank of the river. Today a flood is pouring over the tracks and reaching to the steps of the coaches. This rise extended the flood clear back to the highlands at the foot of the bluffs. The roadbed is submerged and trains are delayed by slow orders while running through water.

The rise today took out some more wheat in the shock which previously stood with its butts in water. Extension of the flooded district increased the damage total a large amount in dollars, though not a very great percentage on the enormous total damage of millions hitherto caused by the flood.

Tonight the greatest part of the flood is between Gregory, ten miles below here, and Hannibal, sixty-five miles below.

The river here is full of debris. The most northern point of the great flood and rivers are pouring in much drift from overflowed lowlands.

South of here the flats include thousands of rabbits as passengers on logs, pieces of houses and other wreckage.

VOSS COMMITS SUICIDE

Hall County Farmer Becomes Despondent and Kills Himself

Monday morning, when the two older sons of Hans Voss, a prominent German farmer residing a mile and a half east of Grand Island, Neb., went out to the barn to feed their horses, they found their father lying dead on a pile of straw in the horse-barn. They took him to the house and promptly notified their relatives in the city, and the coroner. It was found that he had arisen during the night, gone to the stable and taken strychnine. Coroner Roeder went out to the place and upon investigation found an inquest unnecessary. The bottle from which he had taken the fatal draught lay near where the boys had found the body on the straw pile.

Hans Voss resided in the vicinity many years, being counted, with his father, among the old settlers. He was married nearly twenty years ago to a Miss Senkbell, whose parents and family still reside in that vicinity, and the first years of their married life appear to have been happy. The union was blessed with four children, three sons and a daughter. In recent years the family appears to have had some domestic unpleasantness, and last week Mrs. Voss applied for a divorce. There is no doubt but that the man took his life as a result of this domestic trouble. He was well-to-do and in good health.

AN INTELLECTUAL TREAT

Every Hour of the Epworth Assembly a Social and Moral Uplift.

As the date for the opening of the Epworth assembly at Lincoln Park draws closer indications become clearer that the attendance will be a record breaker. If the percentage of registration for tents already made continues it will mean a tented city of from 4,000 to 5,000.

Mr. Alton Packard, the cartoonist and humorist, will add variety and a rich vein of humor to the program. For many years Mr. Packard was a newspaper illustrator and his cartoons have brought laughter and merriment to newspaper readers throughout the land.

There are other splendid attractions, and the musical feature will be greatly enjoyed by listening to the Twentieth Century Ladies' quartet, the Imperial hand bell ringers, and best of all, the Knell Boys, who were such delightful entertainers two years ago. They will return and will give two full concerts August 14.

President L. O. Jones is to be congratulated on securing such attractions. He generally knows what the people like and will enjoy.

OVERRULE DIETRICH

Opinion By Attorney General Frank M. Prout

SETS ASIDE VETO OF EX-GOVERNOR

Constitutional Amendment, in Relation to Vote Necessary to Carry An Amendment, Will Be Submitted to the People This Fall

Regardless of the governor's veto, Secretary of State Marsh has decided to submit a constitutional amendment to a vote of the people this fall. Senator Dietrich, formerly governor, exercised the veto power when a proposed amendment came before him, but Attorney General F. M. Prout has vetoed the veto with the assertion that the governor has no right either to veto or approve a proposed constitutional amendment, or at least his action one way or the other can not affect the amendment. He holds that the legislature takes the initiative and the people approve or disapprove a proposed amendment, the governor being powerless to interfere. In support of this position he cites the constitution itself and decisions of the Nebraska supreme court, one of which was written by Judge Samuel Maxwell.

The proposed amendment is house bill No. 117, designed to change the majority necessary to carry a constitutional amendment from a majority of all votes cast at the election to a mere majority of all votes cast on the proposition. It also provides that the proposition shall be published only thirty days instead of for a period of three months prior to the election. It further provides for the marking of the ballot with a cross opposite the words "For" or "Against," or the expression of preference on a voting machine when such machine is used. It has been found impossible to secure a majority of all votes cast at an election because so many voters take no interest in constitutional propositions. It was believed that a majority of all votes cast on the proposition could be secured for an amendment of merit, and for this reason a change in the constitution was sought by the legislature.

In his veto message Governor Dietrich is on record as favoring an extra session of the legislature. He took it for granted that one would be called. He said a special session "should and will be called." It was his belief that all constitutional amendments ought to come before this special session. For this reason and the matter of expense he vetoed the proposed amendment, asserting that it would cost $50,000 to submit it.

Secretary of State Marsh's estimate differs materially. He believes it can be submitted for $7,500. The proposition will not exceed twelve "squares" in a newspaper. Thirteen insertions will be required, the total cost of publication in one newspaper being $84, the grand total being $7,560. Secretary Marsh has limited the publication to once each week, so that there will be no cause for daily papers to ask pay for daily publication.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Wheat Harvest Is Concluded With Results That are Satisfactory.

Crop conditions in Nebraska continue to be encouraging. The wheat harvest has practically been concluded, with satisfactory results. Corn is making fine progress, while potatoes and apples will be a large crop. The weekly bulletin issued July 22 by the Nebraska section of the weather bureau says:

The past week, as a whole, was cool and wet. The daily mean temperature has averaged three degrees below the normal in the eastern counties and five degrees below in the western. The rain occurred principally in heavy thunder showers Thursday night and Friday; the amount exceeded one inch in most of the eastern counties and ranged from two to six inches in a number of southeastern counties.

The first four days of the week were hot and dry, exceedingly favorable for all agricultural interests. Some progress was made in stacking and threshing wheat; however, little could be done in the eastern counties the last days of the week, because of the heavy rain. The winter wheat harvest is about completed; a small amount of wheat in the southeastern counties on low wet land has not and probably will not be cut. Oats have been further injured by the showers of the week; the harvest of oats have been in progress in southern counties. Corn has grown well; the cultivation of corn is about finished, because corn is getting so large; the cultivation was less than usual; many fields are rather weedy; however, corn is in a rather promising condition except in the relatively small acreage where it has been damaged by the heavy rains; early corn is tassel and silking. Potatoes are a large crop, but there are some complaints of rotting. Apples are abundant and promise a good crop.

PHILIPPINE MONEY

To Be Minted From Design by Native Filipino Artist

Of all designs submitted for the new Philippine coins authorized by the last session of congress, those drawn by a native Filipino artist have been adjudged best by the president and Secretary Root and probably will be adopted. The artist's name is Figueroa. A female figure, the smoking volcano Mayon, the American shield and eagle and the words "Filipinas" and "United States of America," make a coin strikingly effective.

FALSE STEP PROVES FATAL

Burlington Brakeman of Alliance Killed Near Sidney, Neb.

R. Robbins, a Burlington freight brakeman, running between Alliance and Denver, was instantly killed Tuesday night about midnight at Lorenzo, the first station south of Sidney, Neb. He was on a southbound train and was passing over the cars from the way car to the engine to signal the engineer to stop at Lorenzo to unload some freight, and it is thought in stepping from a box car to a flat loaded with lumber he made a misstep and fell between the cars. He was not missed until the train reached Mercer, which is about nine miles south of Lorenzo. The train crew at once went back to look for him and he was found lying where he fell, his head and one arm cut entirely off and the body disemboweled. The remains were taken up and brought to Sidney, and later were taken to his home at Alliance. The deceased was about twenty-five years old and was married but a few months ago. He had been running on the road about two years.
