Details of United States Treaty Witn Panama

UNCLE SAM CONTROLLER

An Agreement Which Means That Other Nations Connot Dictate Management of Isthmaulan Canal

The Panama commissioners, Dr. Amador and Mr. Frederico Boyd, consulted Minister Bunau-Varilla and Mr. Frank D. Havey of New York, the legal adviser to the legation now in Panama. It is understood that they read over the treaty signed and discussed its terms and provisions in detail. It met their hearty approval. Under it the United States guarantees and agrees to maintain the independence of Panama. It is understood that this clause was inserted in order to set at rest all questions as to the recognition of Panama as an independent nation by the other governments. Panama grants to the United States the perpetual use and control of a zone of territory ten miles wide across the isthmus for the canal, with the right to acquire by purchase or by the exercise of eminent domain any other lands in Panama wherever situated, which in the judgment of the United States may be necessary for the construction of the canal, the provision of its supply of water and the proper sanitation of the cities of Panama and Colon, and other territory adjacent to the canal route. With the zone of territory for the canal and within the limits of the other lands acquired by the United States, the United States will have the same power and authority as if the territory were ceded to the United States and the republic of Panama will cease to exercise any power and authority within that zone. The United States undertakes to construct modern systems of sewers and waterworks for the cities of Panama and Colon and has the right to collect tolls for the period of fifty years in order to repay the cost of their construction, with interest. At the end of fifty years the sewers and waterworks become the property of the cities of Panama and Colon.

The republic of Panama undertakes to compel the cities of Panama and Colon to comply with the saultary ordinances of the United States, and if they fail to do so the united States has the right to enforce its rules and regulations in regard to sanitation.

In addition to these general provi-sions, which constitute the foundation of the treaty, there are many articles of an administrative character which provide for the exemption of the ma-terials and supplies for the construction of the canal from customs duties and for the neutrality of the caual and the entrances to it.

REPORT A FAKE WANT IMPROVED METHODS

The Teachers of Kansas Enjoy Considerable Notoriety

DIDNOT CONTROL ELECTION

Hence They Laugh Over the Story tha They Carried 2000 Out of 9000 School Districts

John MacDonald, editor of the Western School Journal, makes a few comments in his paper concerning the newspaper fake that went the rounds of the eastern newspapers a few weeks ago, stating that the women of Kansas had organized a secret campaign to capture control of the annual school meetings in Kansas while the men were in the harvest fields and had elected women as school officers on the issue of doing away with the alleged provision of school contracts prohibiting teachers from being courted.

It seems that this story has even been taken seriously by some of the educational papers of the east, and this is what calls forth Mr. MacDonald's remarks. He says:

"The unquestioning faith of our eastern brethren in newspaper stories fills us with mirthful emotion, and adds years to our life. Listen to our credulous brother, the editor of the Penn-sylvania School Journal:

'The state of Kansas has had a surprise. . . . The women of this great state have elected a majority of the members of the school boards in the 2,000 school districts.'

"Kansas has nearly 9,000 school districts; but let that pass-it is purely incidental. Silence again, listen:

"The platform on which the women conducted their campaign for control of the schools was kept a secret until the day of balloting. It declared for wiping out the objectionable provisions of the teachers' contracts, which forbid the women teachers to receive attentions and calls from their gentlemen admirers during their term of school, and provide for the forfeiture of a portion of their salaries if the women marry before the end of their terms.'

$192,000 for Ft. Leavenworth Bolldings A telegram received from the war department instructs Major D. E. Mc-Carthy to award the contract to Vincent A. Kelly to construct several new buildings at Fort Leavenworth. Kan. They will cost $192 000. The delay in awarding the contract after bids were forwarded to Washington is said to be due to some changes in the plans for the new buildings. Mr. Kelly will erect a large officers' mess building, a commissary storehouse, quartermas-ter's storehouse, two double sets of captains' quarters, five double sets c lieutenants quarters, and five small additions, one to each of the cavalry stable to be used as stable guard quarters and workhouse. Mr. Kelly was not the lowest bidder on remodeling barracks No. 46, for the signal corps.

New bids will be received for this. The officers' mess building is to be finished early next summer. All the new buildings are to be completed in eighteen months. Nearly all the other new buildings at Fort Leavenworth are completed, and Mr. Kelly will be able to get and the stone and brickmasons and mechanics necessary to do the work without sending to other cities. Most of the work now in progress at the fort is in the nature of grading, erecting electric light poles and digging ditches for the new sewerage system.

Erils of the Power of Wealth.

In a sensational statement made in the Harlem, N. Y., police court Magistrate Crane denounced the wealthy for their cold indifference to and disregard of poor people. Magistrate Crane made the statement in holding in $200 ball for trial Jackson Gourand on a charge of runping an automobile over the speed limit.

"The power of wealth," he said, "Is becoming one of the greatest evils in this country. Men, when they get rich, have no kindness toward others as a general proposition, and especially when they are in automobiles. Wealth is becoming so powerful that there will have to be some legislation enacted to curb it. The state of things is becoming terrible when rich people can ride over poor people in the streets and escape without punishment. Rich people generally don't care for anybody."

Another Patentee in Trouble Simpson L. Gedes of Wellington, has brought suit against E. P. Curry for $12,000, the amount of one-half the stock of a self-sharpening plow. Geddes alleges that Curry conceived the idea of the patent but did not have the money to get out the patent, so he gave him one-half interest in the patent for the money necessary to secure it. Geddes alleges further that the Curry Plow company was formed pursuant to an agreement between them that Curry should hold one-half of the Agriculturists

The se-enteenth annual convention of the association of American agricultural colleges and experiment stations held in Washington, D. C., came to an end with the election of Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio state university, as president. Methods of teaching agriculture formed the topic of many of the papers read. The report of the executive committee on the work of the graduate schools in agricalture was made by Dr. H. C. White. It suggested that arrangements be made to secure the establishment of a graduate school in Washington ia the summer of 1904. President W. E. Stone of Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., remarked on the absence in this country of the agricultural engineer, to whose credit, he said, is due the continued fertility of the farm lands of Europe.

The convention adopted a resolution presented by Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews of Nebraska, calling on the committee having the matter in charge to urge a modification of the war department order abolishing the fixed five hours per week requirement for military instruction.

THE LAST OF TOM HORN

He is Fignily Killed According to Law at Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Tom Horn was hanged at Chevenne. Wyo. No attempt at rescue was made and the execution passed off quietly.

Horn made no confession and no speech on the scaffold. The execution was witnessed by forty persons including the guards, friends of Horn and newspaper men. The spectators were admitted to the jail at 10:45, one by one, and searched for fire arms. Men armed with Winchester rifles stood at the door watching Horn's friends. Tom Horn was born in Scotland county, Missourl, November 21, 1860. He was a celebrated army scout, Indian fighter and cattle detective. He was the scout in charge of the party that captured Geronimo and was chief of scouts under General Miles in his Porto Rico campaign. In 1892 Horn participated in the raid against the cattle rustlers of Johnson county, Wyoming, Horn was a self-educated man. He spoke German, Spanish, Apache and a number of Indian languages fluently.

Late Kansas Incorporators

The Nelson Morris Packing company has been admitted to do business in Kansas. It is chartered with a capital stock of $3,000,000, and with its subsidiary companies, it paid into the state treasury over $1,200 in fees.

The Topeka Bridge & Iron Manufacturing company has also been incorporated for the purposes of manufacturing bridges, structural iron work, and to deal in fron and steel. It is capitalized at $25,000 and its incorporators are Geo. Skene, P. V. Price, C. O. Knowles, D. A. Mulvane and W. C. Stephenson.

Another glass company is coming to Kansas from Indiana, It is the Pioneer Flint Glass company of Coffeyville, and it is organized by Indianapolis parties with a capital of $35,000.

Among the church charters just granted is one to "The Church of the ving God," of Chanute. Other charters just granted by the state charter board are as follows: The Pugh Drug and Stationery company of Independence; capital stock, $4,000.

The Morrow-Carney Drug company of Baxter Springs; capital stock, $5,000. The Farmers' Grain, Fuel and Live Steck company of Pawnee Rock; capital stock, $10,000. The Greenwood Fair association of Eureka; capital stock, $10,000.

The Cromack Drilling company of Chanute: capital stock, $15,000. The Vita company of Hiawatha; capital stock, $1,200.

The Baldwin Telephone company of Baldwin; capital stock, $7,000.

Ten Convicts ou Trial for Murder

Ten convicts are to be tried in the United States circuit court on the charge of murder, they having taken part in the mutiny of the Leavenworth penitentiary when Guard Waldrupe was killed. They will be brought to Topeka for trial at the November term of the court. The trial of the mutineers will be one of the first matters for consideration.

Warden McClaughry will transfer the convicts to Topeka as quietly as possible, and it is probable an effort will be made to conceal the time of their arrival at Topeka. Word has been received from Texas that Hewitt, the prisoner who is serving time there for horse theft, has been pardoned and will be rearrested and brought back immediately by the federal authorities. Hewitt could not be released from the Texas penitentiary until the governor's pardon had been secured.

Senator Hanna Has "No Ambitton." After the Onio election J. Coine of Fort Scott, Kan., an ex-Ohioan, wrote Senator Hanna urging him to become a candidate for the republican nomination for president. Mr. Coine received the following letter from the senator:

While I am gratified by that element in the result which might be considered a personal vindication, it does not justify the claims of my friends with reference to the suggestions of my nomination for the presidency. I have no personal ambition to advance and my desire to serve my party constrains me to ask my friends not to place me in the embarrassing position which would result from such a movement."

Bings' Wife.

When Bings awoke along about 2 in the morning, the beloved wife of hisbosom was sitting bolt upright in bed, clasping her robe de nuit affectionately in the front portion.

Bings' better half was likewise crooning a song into which she was evidently putting her whole soul. To Bings' listening ear the refrain seemed to begin with "Oh! Oh!" in the lower register and run the scale spasmodicnily to an "O----h, O----h!!" crescendo that bespoke masterful ardor. Accompanying this was a rocking.

rhythmic swinging of the body to and fro, in utter oblivion to loosened slats, followed by a more affectionate hugging of the robe de nuit at the aforesaid region!

Now, a few nights prior, Bings and his wife had called on a friend, a physician.

"Be careful of your fruit and vegetables these days," cautioned the man of medicine. "There seems to be much illness resultant of eating overripe tomatoes, melons, etc. At this time of year there is too much acid in them!

When Bings saw those ripe, luscious, appetizing tomatoes on the table at his dinner the night previous to the 2 o'clock referred to above, he mentally remarked: "The madam has evidently forgotten what 'doc' said about tomatoes," but being a wise man, he twanged no discord.

Therefore when Bings was awakened by his wife's extraordinary movements of affection for robe, he knew whereof she suffered. He found the whisky bottle after bumping his big toe against the sharp edge of the mission table and as he handed her a hot one with a lump of sugar in it, he protested mildly: "Well, dear, I hoped you would remember what the doctor told you about tomatoes out of season. "Oh, fudge!" she ejaculated tween "Ohs!" "It wasn't that at all!" "Well, gee whiz," retaliated Bings vindictively, "things have come to a pretty pass when a respectable woman will sit up at 2 o'clock in the morning, rock the bed like a cockle-boat in a storm, hug her night robe as a shipwrecked sailor hugs a spar, and singjust for a drink of whisky!" At last reports no proceedings for divorce have started, but there is a cold, distrait chilliness in the atmosphere of their flat, and the family barometer prognosticates storm!
