Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Lincoln Letter.

LINCOLN, NEB., Feb. 10.

The right of the Banker's Union Insurance company to do business in Nebraska is being discussed before Robert Ryan, referee. Insurance deputy Pierce of the auditor's office maintains that the company is practically insolvent, having more than $60,000 in death and disability claims now outstanding with but a nominal sum in the treasury with which to pay. It is charged, too, that President Spinney controls every act of the company officers, names the board of directors, draws whatever salary pleases him, pays an exorbitant salary to Mrs. Spinney, vice president of the order, and does many other things in defiance of the state law. It is charged also that the company has absorbed many other organizations, eighteen or more, and through them has secured a few hundred members who are past the legal age or are physically defective, no medical examinations having been made at the time of the transfers.

Expert Accountant Wiggins has examined the books and papers of the company and his report is most unfavorable, but the officers explain that it is most unfair and that they will be able to show a clean business record as well as establish their right to continue business in Nebraska.

Treasurer Mortensen's expansive smile has grown even broader this week, for it has become apparent that by the end of the current month at least $200,000 of the state debt will be wiped out. One call for $50,000 has been made, another has been prepared and it is confidently expected that at least two more such calls will be published before February ends.

Treasurer Mortensen points out, that, while we are in the habit of saying that the state is badly in debt, it is a fact, and a most gratifying one, that the amount of delinquent taxes owing to the state practically equals the state debt. Under the provisions of the act passed by the last legislature the back taxes are pouring in rapidly and we may expect to see the state indebtedness dwindle gradually and eventually be wiped out entirely, and at the present rate the time when Nebraska can declare herself free from money obligations of any sort will not be long in coming.

The fact that not a dollar of state money is being wasted at present, and the still more important circumstances that trafficking in state warrants with money on deposit in state banks coupled with the diminution of the cloud of debt which for years and under all administrations has overhung the commonwealth sufficiently account for the satisfied look which is worn by Mr. Mortensen, the man who, assisted by the legislature and backed by the executive department, has brought about the present happy condition of affairs.

The call for the republican state convention was issued by Chairman Lindsay last week. The convention will be held at the Auditorium in Lincoln, at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of May 18. In addition to a full set of state officers there will also be chosen eight presidential electors, and the numbered senatorial districts will select members of the state committee. With reference to the choice of a candidate for United States senator the call states the action taken by the state committee, as follows:

"In the meeting of the Nebraska republican state committee, at which said state convention was authorized to be called, the following resolution was regularly adopted:

"Whereas, there is a general demand by the voters for a direct vote on candidates for United States senators, and believing in the justice of such demand. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby recommend to the state convention, now called, that when convened it nominate some candidate for United States Senator;

That we recommend to each county convention they give said subject fair consideration;

That we shall recommend each county convention nominating its legislative ticket before said convention is held, to pledge said nominees to support the nominee of the state convention for United States senator, if any nomination be made."

Apparel for the Young Girl.

Afternoon and evening toilets for young girls differ little from the modes prevailing in the adult world, and the quaint models patterned after those of her grandmother do much to enhance her girlish charms.

And with the wide scope of the present styles, home dressmaking is much less difficult than with the severe modes of a few seasons ago. More than one ravishing toilet is possible to the girl of limited means, and never was so wide a scope for individuality of taste.

But let daintiness be the key note in the young girl's apparel. The really well dressed girl is never overdressed, of handwork there cannot be too much and the material may be fine, but never gorgeous.

The exquisite white gown I have depicted for you in my illustration is made of washable Peau de Crepe, it's yoke hand tucked, and is prettily trimmed in a scroll design in white satin ribbon, applied on by fagot stitching in heavy silk.

The dark blue silk crash skirt on my second figure exemplifies the new and popular tucked model that is particularly in evidence among well-dressed women. The tucks are deep and four in number, the lowest about six inches in depth, and the others are graduated, the top one being about three inches deep. Soft and rich, but not too dressy, silk crash is a suitable fabric for all practical wear.

The girl or woman who wishes to appear well-dressed, no matter how much individuality she introduces into her gowns, must always carry an undertone of the modes that be, even to her smallest accessories, her boots and gloves carefully selected, and her perfume refined and delicate.

And as the fashions change in dress, so do they in perfumes, and in these days of 1890 modes milady delicately scents her every garment with new and subtle bouquet of old time quaintness known to the fastidious as Enigma—a creation of the great Lubin of Paris, whose fame began in our grandmothers' time.

With care in the selection of her hats, avoiding all outre styles, a fashionable, though not exaggerated model in her corset—and any one of the C. B. a la Spirite models is an excellent one to choose—any blouse that leans toward simplicity rather than showiness, and she will present a charming picture of our much-admired American womanhood.

Seeing Electricity.

The phenomena of electric discharges in vacuum tubes give the nearest approach to seeing electricity that are likely to be made. The streams of corpuscles propelled along the tubes suggested to Crookes in 1870 the idea of a fourth state of matters, and these corpuscles—smaller than atoms, and the same in all kinds of gases—were named electrons by Stoney, and have come to be regarded as the electric parts of all atoms, or even as making up matter itself. When torn from its groups or from matter the electron travels with a speed comparable to that of light. A body charged with electricity, if at rest, presents the phenomena of electrostatics; if in motion, those of electricity and magnetism; if in acceleration or change of motion, those of light and radiation generally.

Wonderful Clock.

The Grand Palais in Paris possesses a wonderful clock, which was shown in the Paris exhibition of 1885. It was the work of Collin, and has just been overhauled. It is claimed for this chef d'oeuvre, says the Debats, that it does not vary more than the hundredth part of a second in a year. It is four and a half meters in height, and indicates the time in the 12 chief cities of the world, each city having its own dial. The clock not only marks the year, month and day of the week, but its pendulum forms a barometer of singular precision.
