1,000 PEOPLE PERISH ON BURNING SHIP OFF NEW YORK

Wednesday afternoon the steamer General Slocum with 2000 excursionists on board, was burned in New York harbor, near Hellgate, and 1000 people, mostly women and children perished, some were burned and many lost their lives by jumping into the water to escape the flames.

The Slocum, with the annual Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran church of New York city on board was proceeding up the river to one of the many resorts of Long Island, when people on shore saw smoke and flames spring from the upper part of the crowded steamer. A panic ensued on the boat almost instantly, those on the forward deck began jumping into the water or crowding to the afterpart of the deck.

Owing to the rocks on either side of the channel it was impossible to beach the steamer and the captain, who stuck to his post at the wheel to the last, headed straight up the river for North Brother Island, where the vessel was put aground in the shallow water. Several hundred feet of open water still lay between the burning vessel and the shore and many people lost their lives here either by jumping into the water or on the burning steamer. Every effort was made to save the crowds who were jumping into the water, by small boats. Many of the rescued who are in the hospital will die from their injuries. Every man who could swim went overboard loaded down with children, many of these heroes lost their lives in their efforts to save the little ones.

From Rev. Schlosser.

SCENESIDE, WASH., JUNE 10, 1904.
Editor Red Cloud CHIEF.

Dear Sir.—May I address my friends through your valued paper, that they may know where I am and what I'm up to.

We left Red Cloud the 26th of April, traveling from Lincoln in a tourist sleeper. We enjoyed our 1800 miles journey very much. It is six weeks today since we reached Scenieside, and we count it the best six weeks of our life. We believe we have lived and accomplished more than in any other similar period. Our church here is the largest church building in Yakima county, and I believe we have the best attendance of any church in the county, last Sunday morning I preached to more than four hundred people, which is about the average at our regular church services. So from our standpoint it is no wonder we enjoy it. We are in a valley about 25 miles wide and 100 miles in length and we are surrounded by mountains, Cascades on the west Mt. Adams and Mt. Rainier, both snow capped the year round, are beautiful and the mountain zephyrs coming from them, are very cool. In the mountains north of us thousands of range horses are to be found. This range extends down to the irrigation canal, 5 miles out from here, and, old as I am, I spent half a day at the round-up, where two of my younger brothers bought a bunch of about thirty head of these horses, which they intend to civilize, a work from which I'd rather be excused. This is a new country, but is fast being transformed into a veritable garden spot. Such fruit, vegetables, alfalfa, clover and timothy. I never dreamed of, and yet, after all is said and done, we do not propose to dispose of our little Nebraska home, just yet.

While I am pastor of the Baptist church here, I spend much of my time doing missionary work throughout the valley preaching at Prosser, Mabtou upon the Indian reservation, 10 miles west of here and trying at least to be a good minister of Jesus Christ, whom I love and who I serve.

Sincerely,
T. F. SCHLOSSER.

The line up for the great presidential game does not appear to include any players of consequence except the captain of the republican forces. He has a winning record, is a strong batter, while as a fielder nothing ever gets by him. He plays any position to which he is assigned with equal ability, but is particularly strong as a back stop. Some of the things he has stopped have attracted the attention of the entire world, and so sure is he, that he never wears a mask.—Maryville Tribune.
