

Women Like Tubulars

WHY?

Every woman praises the simplicity of the

Sharpless Tubular Cream Separator

Because they are easy to feed, easy to KEEP CLEAN, easy to TURN, points every woman who helps about the dairy has a right to insist upon. All other separators run harder than a TUBULAR. They have a great many more parts to WASH and to WEAR OUT.

Let me give you a catalogue and show you the many good points in a SHARPLESS TUBULAR.

The Children's Day services in the Congregational and Methodist churches were held on Sunday morning and evening respectively, and were attended by large audiences. In both cases the programs were rendered in a pleasing manner. The exercises for the Christian church will be held next Sunday.

The funeral services over the body of Vance V. Foe occurred Sunday afternoon at the home of the deceased, being conducted by Rev. E. L. Hutchins, of the Methodist church. They were a sad but beautiful tribute to the hold she had upon a large circle of friends in this life, their being many tender tokens of love and sympathy from those who had known her. In her death the community at large suffers a loss hard to replace. Coming with her parents to Webster county at an early age, she was an example of self made character and ability. She had won her way step by step in the love and confidence of those who knew her and counted her friends in large numbers. One expression of her effort to make the best out of herself was shown by the local board when it elected her to a position as teacher in the Red Cloud schools, and her death is a keen disappointment to that body. But far greater than this is the loss of the woman—womanly, kind hearted, a true daughter in the home, and a friend to all she came in contact with. It is hard to understand why such an one should be taken from life, and her death will be keenly felt for a long time.

Bound Over to District Court.

The second preliminary hearing of Mrs. Hutchinson and her son Charley and Harley Feazle for the murder of Eli Feazle was held in Nelson before county Judge Dyart.

This Eli Feazle lived near Bostwick and last fall it was reported he had gone to Humboldt to visit a brother. Later this was found to be untrue and these three persons were arrested for the murder and had a preliminary hearing and were discharged for lack of evidence.

Since that time the farm had been rented by Mr. Joseph Stanley. On May 13, while plowing, one of his horses sank to his knees in the soft dirt in a hole filled with grass and earth.

Help was summoned and they dug out of hole a whiskey bottle, some hair, a human hand, and some clothing. The clothing and hair looked like that of Feazle and the county officers were notified. The hole looked like it had been dug out, a body removed and then refilled. Buggy tracks were also found. The same parties were again arrested and are now having their trial.

Besides the Stanley's evidence, given above, a liverman from Red Cloud, E. Johnston, testified that on May 9 Charley Hutchinson hired a team and left there at 6:30 in the evening and returned the next morning with the horses completely tired out and the buggy smelled as though a man had been hauled in it and the undertaker from Red Cloud, B. F. Muntz, swore positively it was the odor of a decaying human body. Mr. Henry, for whom Hutchinson was working, testified that he was absent from their place from the 5th to the 9th, about the time the body was supposed to have been removed, and that their spade was missing about that time.

A peculiar-shaped shoe on the team driven from Red Cloud was recognized in the tracks around the grave where the hand was found.

What was supposed to be a grave was found under a shed attached to the house and on being dug out a large S wrench about fourteen inches long was found with a dark stain supposed to have been blood.

After hearing the evidence Judge Dyart held the prisoners over to the district court, which convenes in Nelson next September.

The prosecution is conducted by County Attorney E. D. Brown, assisted by the Stubbs brothers. The prisoners are defended solely by the Hon. R. D. Sutherland, who also defended them in their first trial.

Found the File.

Last Sunday morning Sheriff McArthur was informed, by Sheriff Shelburn of Harlan county, of the whereabouts of the file which Henry Woodman and Jake Kohn had used in their recent attempted jail breaking in Red Cloud. Woodman and Kohn were held in the Webster county jail to await trial at Alma for burglary and had been confined in one of the upper tier of cells, and had succeeded in filing through the curved bar of the lock which held the bars to the window of their cell. It was first suspected that they had used an aluminum comb to do the work, but Woodman, who pleaded guilty at the trial, confessed using a file and told that the file was hid in one of the air chambers of the cage, where Sheriff McArthur found it. Woodman was sentenced to two and a half years in the penitentiary. Kohn tried the insanity dodge to escape the penitentiary and was taken to the asylum at Lincoln, but after a few days there he concluded he would rather go to the penitentiary. He was brought back to Red Cloud last Tuesday evening and will be held here until the fall term of court in Harlan county.

The bride has been a faithful and successful teacher for 3 years. The best wishes of a host of friends goes with the happy couple.

Horse Thief Caught.

Sheriff McArthur returned, last evening, from Davenport, Tazewell county, Nebraska, having in charge one Chas. Gering, alias Herman Stottman, who had been arrested at that place and held to await his coming. Gering is charged with the stealing of a horse from Andrew Christiansen, near Bladen, last April, and also with stealing a buggy and harness, in Adams county. His preliminary hearing will probably be held today.
