

Red Cloud Chief.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

RED CLOUD, NEBRASKA

Nebraska Notes.

The hay crop around Fremont is of very fine quality and generous quantity. Hay, year by year, is one of the most profitable crops. Some growers will realize $15 an acre gross, this being for the best tame hay.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state by the Graham Stock Farm company, of Hillside precinct, with an authorized capital stock of $20,000. The incorporators are John R. Graham, N. P. McDonald and J. Leslie Graham.

During a rain storm lightning struck one of a bunch of five oat stacks belonging to Ed. and Will Williams, near Nora, and the entire bunch was destroyed. It is estimated that the five stacks contained about 700 bushels of a very fair grade of oats.

Buffalo county is a world beater on crops this year. There has never been anything just like it, taking everything into consideration. Wheat and oats are panning out far better than the most sanguine had predicted. Corn is simply beyond all expectations.

The Chicago Ranch company of Dawson county has placed articles of incorporation on file in the office of the secretary of state. The authorized capital stock is $30,000. The incorporators are W. R. Coleman, Frederick S. Balrd, Joseph Wolf, William C. Miller and Charles F. Heywood.

Miss Mary E. Campbell, aged 73 years, died at the home of her brother, Judge M. S. Campbell, of Nebraska City. Miss Campbell had not been well for some time. For many years she was superintendent of the Old Soldiers' Orphan's home of New Jersey, but for the past sixteen years she made her home with her brother.

Two boys named Smith and Ridgley, whose homes are near Cortland, left home, taking a team belonging to a relative of one of them. They told their parents that they were going to the Blue river on a fishing trip and nothing has been heard of them since their disappearance. Sheriff Trude has been requested to join in the search for them.

Fremont has prospects of two artificial stone plants. A. M. Helt and a number of prominent business men have organized and leased a lot on which they propose to construct a building. Olsson Bros., of Waterloo, Ia., notified the Union Pacific agent that they would close a deal for a lot on the railroad right of way near the new mill.

John Sedink was arrested in Fremont on the charge of breaking into a Union Pacific freight car. He says the seal was off and he got in to ride, but the railroad authorities think he may have disposed of it himself. He is held awaiting investigation. Nothing has been missed from the car as yet, but an invoice has not been completed.

John Wiggins, for thirty years a resident of Columbus, is lying at his home in a critical condition as the result of a stroke of paralysis. His physicians say that he has practically no chance to recover. Mr. Wiggins is 55 years old, and for many years was engaged in the live stock business. He belongs to the Masonic order and lives with his son and daughter at the family home, his wife having died some three years ago.

A wholesale jail delivery at Columbus was averted just in the nick of time. The prisoners had been left in the corridor during the day time on account of the hot weather and when Jailer Rostler made his rounds just before locking the prisoners up in their cells he discovered that three bolts holding the grating over one of the windows had been sawed in two. Only one bolt was all that prevented the springing of the grating and giving liberty to the inmates. The sheriff investigated the matter and the inmates laid the blame on W. F. Carter, who is awaiting trial on the charge of horse stealing. A strict watch will be kept over the jail from now on.

It is not often that a modest little town like Table Rock can boast of two golden weddings within two days. The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wildfield occurred lately. Mr. Wildfield was born November 29, 1829, in New York. Mrs. Wildfield, whose maiden name was Sarah E. Downall, was born January 17, 1839, in Illinois and the couple were married at Peoria, Ill., August 26, 1854. They have lived at Table Rock only about three years. They have three children, one a son living at Table Rock, a son in Iowa, and a daughter in Illinois. A purse of $40 in gold was presented the couple. On the following day occurred the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Talbot, who have lived at Table Rock since 1881. Mr. Talbot was born in Maryland, March 17, 1829. His wife, whose maiden name was Harriet Mann, was born in Manchester, England, August 22, 1837, and the couple were married in Illinois, August 27, 1854. They have five children, all of whom live in that vicinity, there being three sons and two daughters.

The state bank of Talmage has amended its articles of incorporation lengthening its life to September 1, 1924.

Hugh Schilley, superintendent of agriculture for the Standard Sugar company reports that several preliminary tests of beets have just been made of the crop around the factory. They are highly satisfactory and promise great things for factory and grower. None of the tests showed under 13 per cent of sugar and the best were 14, with a co-efficiency of 82. The crop will be heavy and the beets rich this year.

The wheelmen at Fremont are talking of organizing a protective association. There seems to be an organized gang there for the purpose of stealing bicycles.

DISPUTE OVER SHIP

United States and Japan May Have Disagreement

WASHINGTON IS NOTIFIED

Both Russians and Japanese Are Awake as to Washington's Decision

No representative of the United States has yet boarded the Russian cruiser Lena at San Francisco for the purpose of substantiating the claims of Capt. A. T. Berlinsky that the warship put into that port solely for the reason that the boilers were in such a condition as to render her absolutely unseaworthy. The Russian warship has now remained in port long over the twenty-four hour limit, and prominent members of the local Russian and Japanese colonies are evincing great interest in what they are prone to designate a "serious complication."

It has been learned that local United States Inspector of Hulls and Boilers John K. Bulger will leave on the United States revenue cutter Hartley for the Lena. He will make a thorough inspection of her boilers and as soon as possible will submit a written report to Collector of the Port Stratton. Upon this report may depend whether or not the Lena is ordered to put to sea or whether she will be allowed to remain until such time as the repairs deemed necessary may be made.

The Japanese were the first to bestir themselves when they learned of the presence of the Russian ship. Prominent members of the Japanese colony called on Kishaburo Uyeno, Japanese consul general, and a long conference was held. What took place at this session is told by a prominent Japanese. He said that it was decided to have the Japanese consul general call on Collector Stratton and make the demand that the Lena leave port immediately. In the event of the refusal of this request the consul general was advised to demand of Collector Stratton that he (the consul) be allowed to be the sole judge of the fitness of the Russian cruiser to put to sea.

In accordance with these plans, the Japanese consul called upon Collector Stratton shortly after he entered his office. The two gentlemen were closeted for an hour and a half. Neither principal of the colloquy would disclose what had been said, but it was learned that at times the discussion was most animated.

HARVESTER PLANTS CLOSE

The Employees Claim Harvester Trust Does Not Want Agreement

Nine thousand men have been thrown out of employment by the closing down of three big branches of the International Harvester company, the McCormick and Deering divisions in Chicago and the plant at Plano, Ill. Following the announcement that the McCormick plant had closed came the information that the Deering and Plano plants had also been shut down. The notice posted in each of the plants stated the shut down would continue for an indefinite period.

Officials of the company asserted that the only significance in the move is that the dull season in the harvesting implement business has arrived and the extensive improvements are to be made while the big properties are not in operation.

Trade union leaders, however, assert that the move was made by the International Harvester company because its agreement with the organized trades employed will expire soon, the union believing that the company does not wish to enter into another agreement.

LETTING BUSY IN CHICAGO

Nearly 5,000 Union Men Go to Work in One Day

It is estimated that about 12,000 men applied for work at the Chicago stockyards. About 4,800 of the applicants were taken back by the packers. Many of the non-union men failed to report for work, but a number appeared on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern and other railroads, giving rise to much dissatisfaction among the union men.

Few clashes, however, were reported, chiefly fistfights between negro strike-breakers and white unionists. About 14,000 non-union men are still at work in the yards.

Maine Goes Republican

The republicans carried Maine in the biennial election, returns indicating a plurality of about 33,000 for William Cobb, the republican candidate for governor, compared with 33,384 for Hill, the party candidate four years ago. In the first and second election districts the returns indicated the reelection of Allen and Littlefield by the same majority as four years ago. In the Second, Burleigh ran ahead of his vote four years ago.

IMPORTANT TAX DECISION

Church Howe and Others Get Decision Against Revenue Law

Judge Kellagor, of Nemaha county, rendered his decision in the case of Church Howe and other taxpayers vs. Chas. R. Hacker, county clerk, granting the order perpetually restraining him from placing the five per cent increase of taxes upon the assessment rolls as ordered by the state board of equalization.

The following is the record: "The court finds generally for the plaintiffs and against the defendants. The plaintiffs are entitled to the relief prayed for in the petition. The court finds that the state board of equalization acted in good faith and without fraud in making the five per cent increase."

A motion for a new trial was filed and overruled. Forty days was given to serve a bill of exceptions. Testimony was taken regarding the assessment of personal property and real estate in Nemaha county this year, and the court and attorneys went to Lincoln to take the testimony of the members of the state board of equalization.

The decision rendered by Judge Kellagor will effect twenty-four counties in the state in which taxes were raised by the state board of equalization.

WOMEN ARE A POWER

Vote of Fair Sex May Carry Three Doubtful States

One hundred thousand registered women voters are expected to decide the fate of the two old parties in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho this year. Should sentiment influence them, and they be induced to vote for Judge Parker, the democrats probably will carry all four states and add fourteen electoral votes to the number recorded for the democratic candidate.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, president of the women's national republican association, has been sent west by the national committee to labor among the women of the four states. The number who will vote this year may be more than 100,000 because of the Mormon question, which is to play a prominent part in the campaign of Utah, Wyoming and Idaho. General Miller, formerly United States marshal for Utah, was in Chicago and told Chairman Cortelyou that Utah was all right so far as the national ticket was concerned, but he was anxious regarding the state.

BEATEN TO DEATH

Sidney Yards of Union Pacific the Scene of a Murder

Union Pacific Night Watchman Frank Wisner was murdered at Sidney, Neb. It is supposed that Mr. Wisner was trying to drive tramps off the right of way and that in the altercation that must have ensued the tramps beat him to death. The ground where the slugging took place shows indications of a fierce struggle and the body of the watchman was very badly bruised. The post mortem examination shows that he must have been trampled to death. The body was found near the Burlington viaduct and some distance from where the murder was committed. After an all night search every effort is being made to find the murderers and Sheriff Lee has fairly accurate description of one of them. All the men in the vicinity have been run in pending an investigation and all nearby towns have been notified to be on the lookout for the murderers. There is considerable excitement over the matter and a determined effort is being made to locate the murderers.

NEBRASKA WOODMEN MEET

They Return From St. Louis With a Big Bunch of Prizes

Drill teams from Nebraska camps of the Modern Woodmen fared well in the drill contests held at St. Louis. The following summary shows the principal winnings of Nebraska teams:

Omaha camp team, No. 120, second prize in the senior class, winning $350. Kennard camp, No. 1347, Kennard, Neb., won third prize in the pony contest, $90. Hebrew camp, No. 4244, Omaha, Neb., won fifth prize in pony contest, $60.

Pansy camp team, Royal Neighbors of America, Omaha, Neb., won first prize, $100. This makes in all $600 in prizes for Douglas county, besides some prizes for camp inspection and sentry duty.

Heroic Treatment Best

Many elm trees and others throughout the state are infested with nests of worms. Some have been noticed with branches heavily laden with the pests. Those owners of property who dislike the flimsy decorations are using heroic treatment of fire. Rags at the end of a pole, saturated with coal oil and lighted, serve as the admirable fuel of destruction. The treatment means, is recommended as the best and surest

PROVIDING WRITES LETTER.

Policy of the Republican Party Defended by Its Leader.

Says Democrats Are Lacking in Settled Convictions.

National Welfare Demands Continuance of Party in Power.

Long Document Addressed to Speaker Cannon Deals Exhaustively With the Great Questions Before the Country—Public Duties Aply Performed by Republicans—Democrats Not Worthy to Be Placed in Charge.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 12.—President Roosevelt this morning issued his letter accepting the nomination for the Presidency tendered him by the Republican National Convention. In part the document is as follows:

Oyster Bay, N. Y., September 12, 1907.
Hon. J. G. Cannon, Chairman of the National Committee.
My Dear Sir: I accept the nomination for the Presidency tendered me by the Republican National Convention, and I hereby approve the platform adopted by it. The principles which we propose are those in which we believe with heart and soul and strength. Men may differ from us, but they cannot deny our sincerity or our honesty. The policies we have pursued are those which we earnestly believe essential to the national welfare and to the best interests of the people. Our motto is: "The people first."

The acts of the Administration in connection with the war with Spain, the Isthmian canal and the upholding of the Monroe doctrine the President defends at length, and declares the party is prepared fully to accept the issue on these questions. He continues:

In addition to these acts of the administration which they venture to assail after misrepresenting them, there are others which they dare not openly or covertly bring forward as reasons for the overthrow of the party. In certain great matters, such as the coal strike, our opponents make every effort to show that the settlement of the anthracite coal strike by the individual act of the president was a personal favor granted to the Northern Securities Company, the merger suit undertaken by the department of justice, were acts because of which the administration should be thrown from power. Yet they dare not openly condemn either act. They succeed only in making their own position appear more ridiculous. In the case of the coal strike, they are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they must know that there is no law which would justify such an action. They are guilty of a gross error in the method of action, or in the choice of instruments, or in the execution of the act. But what they dare not manfully assert in open day, they seek to use furtively and through special agents. Some of our opponents complain because under the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws suits were undertaken which have been successful. Others because the government has undertaken what have been unsuccessful. The democratic state convention in New York dealt with the anthracite coal strike by demanding that the national government should take possession of the coal fields. It is a curious thing that there was any action by the president at all, though they