

HOST TO ROOSEVELT

CHIEF MAGISTRATE IS GUEST OF CLUB IN "LITTLE HUNGARY."

Man From Massachusetts Would Give Advice on Matters of Government, but is Turned Away by Detectives. President Returns to Washington.

New York, Feb. 15.—For the first time since the days when he was governor of New York, President Roosevelt revisited the heart of the East side, where, as guest of the Hungarian Republican club, he dined and spoke at the "Little Hungary" restaurant. Guarded by mounted police and secret service men, through streets cleared and cordoned by patrolmen, he drove from upper Fifth avenue into the crowded district which lies around Second avenue and East Houston street, a region of small shops and tenements and largely populated by foreign-born citizens.

From the moment his carriage entered the district, he received an ovation. Never before has a president of the United States visited this little known part of New York and never before has a fraction of the thousands that cheered him seen a nation's ruler. The great East side showed its enthusiasm in every imaginable way. Across Second avenue at Sixth street a huge electric device blazed forth the single word "Delighted," a word frequently used in the decorations.

The district through which the president drove and in which he dined is not the safest in the great city and the police took no chances. So stringent were the precautions that not a flashlight photograph was allowed to be taken and uniformed police, plain clothes men and detectives fairly swarmed inside and out of "Little Hungary." They were stationed on the roofs and fire escapes in the neighborhood and for two blocks on either side of East Houston street a cordon of police cut off the crowds.

The president left the Hungarian club dinner after making a brief speech, in which he told of the duties of an American citizen as he saw them, and was driven directly to the Desbrosses street station, accompanied by a squad of mounted police.

The ferryboat arrived in Jersey City at 11:56 and some minutes afterward he boarded his train for Washington. A crank who called himself William Waldorf Jackson, Jr., of Lowell, Mass., called at the home of Douglas Robinson, where the president stopped for the night, and asked to have his card sent to the president. The secret service men and policemen on guard about the entrance informed the man that the president had not yet arisen and asked him to call again. He was not arrested. In answer to questions as to his identity and why he wanted to see the president, Jackson said he wished to confer with the president as to reforms in government and that he was a self-nominated candidate for the presidency in 1896, 1900 and 1904.

SULLIVAN ADMITS CHARGE.

Massachusetts Congressman Says He Was Convicted of Manslaughter. Washington, Feb. 15.—The second chapter of the episode between Sullivan (Mass.) and Hearst (N. Y.) occurred in the house when Sullivan, again took the floor on a question of privilege and related the circumstances leading up to the indictment and conviction of his father and himself for manslaughter. In decided contrast with the remarks of the previous day, when the two men heaped upon each other epithets and charges of a serious nature, Sullivan's statement was devoid of any further attack on his colleague and was a straight recitation of the occurrence referred to by Hearst. Sullivan admitted the charge, but said that he himself had been technically guilty and was permitted to leave the court a free man without serving a day's imprisonment or being subjected to a fine. His father had been imprisoned a year and a half, but on the introduction of new evidence, which presented a grave doubt of guilt, his father had been pardoned.

Sullivan's statement was listened to with marked attention and at its conclusion he was warmly applauded by many members leaving their seats and shaking his hand. Hearst was not present during the time he spoke. The balance of the day was devoted to consideration of the naval appropriation bill, Littlefield speaking at length regarding the necessity for keeping appropriations within the limits of the revenues of the country.

Senate Passes Agricultural Bill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate passed the agricultural appropriation bill and began consideration of the bill making an appropriation for the District of Columbia. The Hansbrough amendment to the agricultural bill relative to drawbacks on wheat, was agreed to after an extended debate, in which tariff questions figured to considerable extent. The usual three hours were given to the trial of the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne. In connection with that case the senate decided to take no testimony on the point of the inconvenience in the judge's residence outside of his district; also that Judge Swayne's statement to the house committee should not be used as evidence in the trial.

Kansas House Passes Railroad Bill.
Topeka, Feb. 15.—The house unanimously passed the Garver railroad bill, which is patterned after the Iowa law. It will go to the senate.

BRYAN SIDES WITH SENATE.

Thinks President Takes Wrong Position Regarding Treaties.
St. Paul, Feb. 15.—William J. Bryan was in St. Paul and called on Governor Johnson at the capitol. While here he gave out an interview on the recent controversy between the president and the senate with regard to the treaty-making power. Mr. Bryan said:

"I believe the senate is right in refusing to surrender its right to a voice in making treaties and I think the president in error in making the action of the senate a basis of criticism. The very fact that he refuses to recognize the right of an opinion so overwhelmingly expressed is in itself evidence of the danger of delegating to him the power which he asks. There is, however, a basis upon which he and a senate might reach an agreement, and I hope that a reconciliation may take place upon this or some better basis. The basis to which I refer is that the president be authorized to submit to The Hague court for investigation any and every question involving an international dispute, the parties to the dispute reserving the right to take such action as they deem proper after the facts are ascertained. This would be a broader power in one respect than the president asks for, because it would enable him to put on foot an impartial investigation and this investigation by removing and defining the issue would result in the settlement of many questions which we might hesitate to submit to arbitration in advance of investigation."

MURDERESS FACES HER DOOM.

Mrs. Edwards Is More Composed, but Negro Associate is Dumbfounded.
Reading, Pa., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Kate Edwards is more composed than at any time in two weeks and it is believed she is nerving herself for her execution tomorrow. She walked with a firm step from her cell to the office of the jail, where she met her lawyers for the preparation of further affidavits to be presented to the board of pardons today. Sheriff Sassaman has made every preparation for the execution, and in the event of an unfavorable decision from Harrisburg the erection of the scaffold will be commenced. Mrs. Edwards and Greason will be hanged at the same time. Greason is almost dumbfounded. He had confidently expected a new trial and his ultimate freedom and he apparently can scarcely realize his terrible situation. Mrs. Edwards has given up all hope and has selected the text for her funeral sermon and the hymns to be rendered.

Fire in Brevort House.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Fire partly destroyed the Brevort house, causing a loss of $100,000 to the building and hotel furnishings. Three firemen were injured, one probably fatally. The 150 guests who were in the hotel at the time all escaped. Louis W. Weil, a salesman for a jewelry firm in New York, reported to the police that $10,000 worth of jewels had disappeared from his room.

Sammis is Asked to Resign.

Washington, Feb. 15.—James U. Sammis, internal revenue collector for the northern district of Iowa, has been requested to resign. It is stated at the treasury department that the basis for this request is the fact that Sammis permitted one of his deputies to divide his salary contrary to law with Sammis' brother, who is also a deputy.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Day's Trading and Closing Quotations.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Higher prices for wheat at Liverpool and an excellent demand in America for cash wheat caused decided strength in wheat options here today. At the close May wheat was up 1/8c, July wheat was up 3/8c. May corn showed a gain of 1/8c. Oats were up 3/8c. Provisions were unchanged. Closing prices: Wheat—May, $1.18; July, $1.01; Sept., 93c. Corn—May, 47c; July, 47c; Sept., 48c. Oats—May, 31c; July, 31c; Sept., 29c. Pork—May, $12.00; July, $13.00. Lard—May, $6.97; July, $7.07. Ribs—May, $6.90; July, $7.02. Sheep—Receipts, 7,800; steady; lambs, $7.00 to $8.00; western, $5.00 to $5.80; fed ewes, $4.50 to $5.25.

Fix Boundary Line.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The senate committee on judiciary authorized a favorable report on a bill fixing the boundary line between South Dakota and Nebraska. It provides that the boundary line south of Union county, South Dakota, shall be in the main channel of the Missouri river as now existing. This was agreed upon in a compact between the legislatures of the two states and was made necessary by the frequent shifting of the channel of the river.

House Censures Omaha Reporter.

Lincoln, Feb. 10.—In the house a resolution was adopted requesting the Omaha World-Herald to retract a statement appearing in that paper from its legislative correspondent and demanding that the correspondent "confine himself to the truth under penalty of expulsion from the legislative hall." The article to which the house takes exception says, in effect, that Speaker Rouse, before appointing the special committee on the maximum rate bill, conferred with members of the railroad lobby.

Receiver Has No Power.

Lincoln, Feb. 10.—The receivership case of the Lincoln Traction company was carried to the supreme court and the court ruled that the receivership should be set aside until the case can be decided upon its merits. Meanwhile the traction company must give a supersedeas bond for $1,000, with the understanding that if the supreme court finds that the appointment of a receiver was proper the company is to pay the $50,000 in back taxes, which has caused the trouble between the city and the company.

Another Mrs. Hoch is Found.

Lincoln, Feb. 11.—Police of Lincoln claim to identify as Johann Hoch of Chicago a man who, about eighteen months ago, under the name of Alfred Hecht, married a widow, Mrs. Mary Goetz, in this city. The couple went from here to California and at Los Angeles, Mrs. Goetz asserts, she trusted with the man her savings, $2,800, after which, she says, he deserted her. She returned to Lincoln and gave the police a picture of "Hecht," from which the identification was made.

Rush for North Platte Land.

North Platte, Neb., Feb. 15.—Two hundred applicants for land formed in line in front of the land office. There were dozens of women in the crowd, for whom the men gave way as a rule. The police force numbered the applicants as they stood in line and then the crowd dispersed, each applicant to return as soon as his number was called. Anthony Reeve of Elm Creek, Neb., got the best section in the whole district. On account of the extreme cold there is not so large a crowd as otherwise would have come, but more are arriving on every train.

Pure Seed Potato Special.

Omaha, Feb. 11.—A pure seed potato special is the novelty promised by the Northwestern to be sent through the western part of the state about the last of the month. The idea was suggested by the seed corn specials which were sent over the state recently by the railroads. The potato special will carry out plans similar to the corn specials. A train will be fitted up with lecture coaches and a corps of potato scientists will accompany the train and make addresses. The train will go through the potato belt and the lectures will educate farmers in picking out seed which will improve and enlarge their crops. The train will go from Harrison to O'Neill on the Casper division and will stop at all the small stations.
