

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Newsy Notes From Neighboring Towns

GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

RIVERTON

(From the Review.)

A Irvin was in Red Cloud Monday. Sheriff Walruth was in town Monday. Fred Taylor was a Red Cloud visitor Sunday. J. Rose has bought 400 acres of land in Loup county. Clark Boom shipped a car of cattle and hogs Sunday. Russell Rutherford was home from Red Cloud Sunday. N. Glick and wife went to Red Cloud Monday for a visit. John Scheuman shipped a car of cattle to St. Joe Monday. Mel Farnham and son shipped cattle to Chicago Wednesday. Del Knutson left Friday for the northern part of the state. Mrs. A. Leonard and daughter Agnes were in Red Cloud Monday. Bart Fulton of Red Cloud was visiting his son Wilis and old friends here. Will Bennett is home from Culbertson, where he intends to locate in the spring. Charles Glick was seen upon the streets Tuesday with a base ball suit under his arm. Miss Ada Tuers left Monday for Bonson, Michigan, for a visit with her father and sister. George Barnhill had the misfortune to turn over a load of hay just east of the river bridge. C. E. Shippen, proprietor of the Moon ranch near Red Cloud, was here the first of the week. E. L. McAllister of Red Cloud was in town Thursday putting up a monument for E. Pierpont. Miss Kate Sullivan died Monday morning at Hastings and her body was brought here Tuesday for burial. Mike Murphy put a bottle of water in his stove Sunday to blow out the soot. It worked backward and blew out the stove. J. M. Carnahan shipped two cars of cattle, Herrick one car, G. W. Cline one car and Sam Criley one car of hogs and cattle Wednesday. The B. & M. discontinued the services of a messenger boy at Riverton February 20. The agent goes next, as he is now all there is left to discontinue.

SUPERIOR

(From the Journal)

Arthur Bradshaw came up from Kansas City Thursday morning. David Callahan, who was seriously injured by falling ice some time ago, is able to be out. The Burlington took out fourteen cars of stock on Monday to Kansas City and St. Joe. J. L. Phelps of Cadams has returned from Oklahoma, where he attended the funeral of his son, who was killed in a railroad accident. A. S. Berry and F. H. Stubbs, have purchased the Journal from C. E. Stine, who has been connected with the paper for seventeen years. Wednesday night the ice came into the mill race in such quantities that the power wheels had to be shut down, causing the light plant to cease running. Mr. Neil of Smyrna was in town Wednesday making arrangements for the departure of a party of five from his neighborhood to Edgeley, North Dakota. Dr. L. H. Beck came near losing an eye. He ran into a stick that was protruding from a corn crib. The corner of his eye was cut and the blow was of sufficient force to bring him to his knees. W. S. Young and wife were given a pleasant surprise Wednesday evening by a number of their neighbors, the occasion being the seventeenth anniversary of their wedding and Mr. Young's thirty seventh birthday. Not a letter nor a daily paper reached the town of Nelson from Saturday night until Thursday morning, owing to the snow blockade. One train was stalled in a cut and the snow drifted over it to a depth of thirty feet. The complaint against Dr. Cate of Nelson charging him with having assaulted Lee Gress with intent to do great bodily harm, was dismissed on motion of the county attorney. He was immediately rearrested upon a charge of assaulting with a knife with intent to wound. Gress has also sued him for $5200 damages.

BLOOMINGTON

(From the Advertiser.)

Charlie Waldo was up from Inavale for a visit with his parents. J. W. Deary & Co. will soon open a first-class furniture store here. The work of remodeling the Christian church is progressing rapidly. J. H. Kling, who went to Iowa to visit, has been held there by the deep snow. Lewis Moran and Nora Brandt were married Wednesday at the office of the probate judge. R. P. Stewart has been appointed village marshal, and it is hoped he will preserve order in the town. C. F. Wedeman and Miss Elsie Kunze, both from south of town, were married Wednesday by Judge Hoffman. A. B. Ritchey, G. A. Roby and R. S. Garber were up from Red Cloud yesterday, but whether on pleasure or business we could not ascertain. T. M. Hodgman, state inspector of schools, was in town this week and among other things, recommended a change of some of the teachers. Naponee item: Mrs. Anna Tulleys caught cold while moving her household goods from Red Cloud last week, and was threatened with pneumonia. Several jubiliations have been held in different parts of the city within the past week. The enthusiasm for the occasions was purchased at the wet goods houses. Eugene Hunter of Riverton, who this winter had his first experience in feeding sheep, found it very profitable. He fed about 1000 sheep which netted him about $2 each. Francis Bendel, one of the fellows who skipped out last December after participating in the kidnaping affair, returned this week, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $1 and costs. The P. E. O. had some kind of extra "doings" at their Monday night session. At least we should judge so from the manner in which the poor dejected husbands were hanging around town until the last lights went out.

LEBANON

(From the Times.)

The lecture course has netted the ladies $20.20. Mrs. Harriet Melissa Frasier died February 20. H. M. Lull has bought the Jim Newell property. Charley Anderson lost two steers this week. Too much corn. M. Buchanan will soon become a resident of Lebanon. Wm. Barnes of Esbon is plastering W. C. Mays' new house. Marion Roth has sold his laundry business to Harry Newell. Phil Schermerhorn has gone to Sioux City to spend the summer. F. W. Brady has resigned his position at Mankato, and is home again. Billy Kinsey is working on the Stock Yards Daily Journal in Kansas City. John Kinsey is laid up with a bad ankle resulting from a kick by a horse. Sam and Billy Annis shipped five car loads of cattle to Kansas City Wednesday. John Allen is home from Hebron, where he has been caring for a sick brother. John Brown and Oliver Sharp have their force at work upon the new thirty five hundred dollar home of Sylvanus Bells. Ex-Mayor George J. Englehart of St. Joseph, Mo., died Saturday morning. He was an uncle of Mrs. A. L. Tophill of this city. Some of our young bloods attended the dance at Esbon last night. We did not learn whether or not any of them had to be lifted from the buggy.

FRANKLIN

(From the Sentinel.)

Chas. Waddell was in Hastings Wednesday. R. B. Stratton of Billings, Montana, visited relatives here this week. J. W. Chapman has sold his farm to E. J. Benjamin of Beatrice for $4,150. Truman Borland of Dallas, Texas, is visiting at the home of his uncle, L. R. Borland.

Oscar Burroughs of Iowa is put in the new switchboard for the Franklin Telephone company.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simpson of Hastings visited at the home of the latter's twin brother, Rev. A. A. King.

The editor of the Free Press accepts the doctrine of "hell fire" as unvarnished truth, and perhaps it is well for the community that he does.

Mrs. H. J. Greenhough of Fort Wayne, Ind., accompanied by her little daughter, is visiting with her uncle, R. A. Humphreys and family.

Colonel Hadden, as a rule, is a pretty smooth individual, but we understand that he takes a back seat when Jay Robinson is projected into the arena.

A traveling man was heard to remark the other day that Franklin was the nicest town on the map. "Because," said he, "you can't buy a drink for love nor money, but every time you turn a corner some good fellow will ask you to take one with him."

Early Wednesday morning fire broke out in Mrs. W. H. Austin's double store building just south of the Commercial hotel. Part of the furniture stock of F. G. Hutchins & Co. was still stored in the north room, while the south room was occupied by J. M. Emery with a new stock of shoes and repair shop. Most of the contents of the building were saved, but the building itself was destroyed. Loss $1500; insurance, $500.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.

THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIANA.

but now the distance sped malignantly. Strolled they never so slow, it was less than a "young bird's flutter from a wood." With her acquiescence he rolled a cigarette, and she began to hum lightly the air of a song, a song of ineffably gentle, slow movement.

That, and a reference of the morning and perhaps the smell of his tobacco mingling with the fragrance of her roses, awoke again the old reminiscence of the night before. A clearly outlined picture rose before him—the high green slopes and cool cliff walls of the coast of Maine and the sharp little estuary waves he lazily watched through half closed lids while the pale smoke of his cigarette blew out under the rail of a waxen deck where he lay cushioned. And again a woman pelted his face with handfuls of rose petals and cried: "Up, lad, and at 'em! Yonder is Winter Harbor!" Again he sat in the oak raftered casino, breathless with pleasure, and heard a young girl sing the "Angel's Serenade," a young girl who looked so bravely unconscious of the big, hushed crowd that listened, looked so pure and bright and gentle and good, that he had spoken of her as "Sir Galahad's little sister." He had been much taken with this child, but he had not thought of her from that time to this, he supposed. He had almost forgotten her. No! Her face suddenly stood out to his view as though he saw her with his physical eye, a sweet and vivacious child's face, with light brown hair and gray eyes and a short upper lip like a curled rose leaf. And the voice—

He stopped short. "You are Tom Meredith's little cousin."

"The great Harkless," she answered and stretched out her hand to him.

"I remember you."

"Isn't it time?"

"Ah, but I never forgot you!" he cried. "I thought I had. I didn't know who it was I was remembering. I thought it was fancy, and it was memory. I never forgot your voice, singing, and I remembered your face, too, though I thought I didn't." He drew a deep breath. "That was why?"

"Tom has not forgotten you," she said as he paused.

"Would you mind shaking hands once more?" he asked.

She gave him her hand again. "With all my heart. Why?"

"I'm making a record of it; that's all. Thank you."

"They called me 'Sir Galahad's little sister' all one summer because the great John Harkless called me that. You danced with me in the evening."

"Did I?"

"Ah," she said, shaking her head, "you were too busy being in love with pretty Mrs. Van Skuyt to remember a waltz with only me! I was allowed to meet you as a reward for singing my very best, and you—you bowed with the indulgence of a grandfather and asked me to dance."

"Like a grandfather! How young I was then! How time changes us!"

"I'm afraid my conversation did not make a great impression upon you," she continued.
