FRANKLIN

George Shepard of Macon prairie brought in a nice bunch of fat steers last Saturday. He received $1200 for nineteen head.

C. W. Way is kept pretty busy these days furnishing plans for the builders of nearly all the surrounding towns. He went to Guide Rock Tuesday where he was employed as the architect for a $7000 opera house and Odd Fellows' hall.

Attorney Short and Herman Mankhey went to Red Cloud Monday where Judge Adams entertained the former for a short time in a few well chosen remarks on the beauties of obeying orders of the court and in testimony of his sincerity assessed a fine of $10 against Mr. Short and $1 against Mr. Mankhey for contempt of court. The fines however, were suspended and will probably not be collected so long as Mr. Mankhey and his attorney choose to heed the admonition of the court and refrain from tilling the land occupied by the former but owned by Mrs. Jas. Edgehill.

The most shocking death which duty has yet compelled us to chronicle occurred at 2 o'clock this afternoon and claimed as its victim one of Franklin county's most respected citizens, R. C. Beck, living about three miles southeast of Franklin. No one will ever know what Mr. Beck went through or how he suffered, for human eye did not witness the death struggle away in a lonely spot of the pasture with an enraged bull. He had gone into the pasture early in the morning and as the forenoon wore away and he did not return search was instituted and resulted in finding him lying in a little creek which crosses the pasture. He was in a semi-conscious state and although stiff from the cold was still breathing. Dr. Byerly was summoned and reached the Beck home about 11 o'clock. He found one of the worst bruised up human beings possible to imagine. The head and face were fairly skinned and the body was one solid bruise with at least six or seven broken ribs. The physician was able to do but little except to relieve in a measure the intense suffering. If death was ever welcome it was certainly so to Mr. Beck when it came about 2 o'clock as stated, probably six or seven hours after the encounter. We understand that the bull was vicious and that Mr. Beck had had several encounters with him before but had always succeeded in conquering the dangerous brute. A pitchfork with the tines bent and twisted was found in the pasture as evidence that the unfortunate man had sold his life as dearly as possible.

Good Health to the Children

Children especially are fond of dainties, and the housekeeper must look carefully to their food.

As good cake can be made only with good eggs, so also a cake that is healthful as well as dainty must be raised with a pure and perfect baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable in the preparation of the highest quality of food. It imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness and flavor noticed in the finest cake, biscuit, doughnuts, crusts, etc., and what is more important, renders the food wholesome and agreeable to young and old.
