Newsy Notes From Neighboring Towns

GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

FRANKLIN

(From the Sentinel.)

W. J. Capp last week refused $9500 for 240 acres of land eight miles north-east of Franklin.

G. W. Townsend, wife and daughter Miss Grace, are getting ready to move to Belle Fourche, S. D.

Mrs. Rod Seaton and three children left Tuesday night for the Big Horn basin, where Rod has prepared a home for them.

H. G. LanBach has purchased a lot of Jas Conkling just north of his real estate office and will soon begin the erection of a two-story brick on the same.

The citizens of Franklin are taking very kindly to the new fraternal hall proposition. Half of the amount necessary for its completion is already in sight.

The academy seniors to the number of sixteen had their pictures taken at Red Cloud last Friday. Do they go to Red Cloud when they want a donation? We guess not.

Mrs. Geo. Maser is quite ill at her home in this city. Miss Gretchen, who has been working at Republican City, resigned her position in the Ranger office and came home Monday to care for her.

Irving, the little son of Wm. Inglis cut a deep gash in his forehead by falling against a buggy wheel last Friday night. Dr. Fees was called and several stitches were required to draw the wound together.

D. J. St. Claire of Omaha, a deputy postoffice inspector, was in the city Wednesday night. He checked up the Franklin office and found every thing in ship-shape except for evidences of last week's robbery.

Two men were arrested Sunday morning near Upland, who were suspected of being the parties who robbed the Franklin postoffice the night of April 21. The thieves got about $30 in cash at the postoffice and about $20 worth of merchandise from Chitwood's hardware store.

SMITH CENTER.

(From the Messenger)

J. D. Flaxbeard, who has been station agent at this place for several years, has tendered his resignation to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad company, and has accepted a position in the First National bank.

Johnny McCaren was over from Lebanon, Saturday, looking for a couple of fifteen year old Lebanon boys who had taken a notion to see a little of the world without consent of their parents. At last accounts the boys were still at large.

Three years ago a Kansas City bank offered a prize to the room whose pupils made the largest deposit during the year. The money has been won for three consecutive years by the room taught by Miss Florence Neal, who was at one time principal of the Kensington school.

Gus Brenneman, who was connected with the Pioneer of this city, and later the Oberlin Herald, from twenty to twenty-five years ago, drew a $6000 prize the other day. He is a foreman on the Bartlesville, Indian Territory, paper and took a guess in some gift enterprise last year as to the total number of paid admissions that would enter the World's Fair.

A young man, Mark Bly, alias J. Scott, came into Smith Center Saturday and was nipped by Sheriff Helfenstine and his deputies. A telegram from the sheriff at Kearney, Nebraska, indicated that he had escaped from the reformatory up there, stole a horse and made south. It was a full description of the horse that caused the boy's detention. Sheriff Helfenstine held him limit of the law, and he was allowed to journey on east yesterday morning.

LEBANON.

(From the Times.)

John Cooley has purchased the Charley Lull barber shop.

A baby boy made his appearance at home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sharp, Friday.

C. S. Rainbolt, state manager of The Royal Highlander, is here to organize a castle of that society.

Charley Lull has purchased a barber shop at Goodland and went out Monday to take charge of the same.

Al Brown, whose name will go down in history as the founder of Brownville, has bought three lots in west Lebanon.

Art Carpenter shipped a car of cattle and one of hogs to Kansas City last week. Art went along to keep them company.

H. N. Dunton bought the Ben Dunning farm 2 1/2 miles southwest of Lebanon, Monday. Elmer Thompson will farm the place this season.

Mrs. W. S. Adylott fell down a couple of steps last Friday, while going down stairs at her home. She is in a very bad condition and confined to her bed.

Wm. Edwards bought the Chas. Travelute farm south east of Lebanon, last week. Mr. Travelute contemplates going back to Marshall county this fall.

Cass Kimsey returned from Jennings this morning, where he had accompanied his mother on a trip for her health. Her husband will soon join her and they will then start overland in a wagon for parts in Colorado.

Roscoe Weesner of Salem, who has been attending school at Red Cloud for the past two years, came down to Lebanon last Friday, to play ball, and while here informed us that he had a position with the Paul Storey Clothing store at that place. Roscoe is a bright and energetic young man and we predict that he will make a successful salesman.

BLOOMINGTON

(From the Advocate.)

R. A. Whitmarsh and family returned last Saturday night from the west having given up the show business for the present.

Mrs. V. S. Douglas has gone to Medicine Bow, Wyoming, to join her husband, at which point they will make their future home.

Last Saturday while hunting wolves the oldest son of John Donafon was shot by his brother in an accidental move. The bullet from a 22 target rifle penetrated the shoulder and was not located by the doctors. The boy is doing nicely.

A gentleman from Republican City blew into town yesterday looking for a "game." We understand that he found it and lost his pile. He also found trouble in a scrap with a business man from Franklin in which the business man received the worst of it, for when he went home his face looked as if the Japs and Russians had maneuvered thereon.

Last week we let a good local get away from us. Uncle John Sawyer had been far some time trying to appear young again, but we had no idea
