A Contemptible Governor.

Gov. Mickey has granted Barker, the incarnate fiend who was to hang to-day, a reprieve of two years. This is one of the most damnable outrages on justice for the safety of human life that has happened in the state for years. Gov. Mickey ought to be hung in effigy in every town in the state. We would not support him for referee in a dog fight. Just such contemptible proceedings as these is what instigates mob law and it is to be preferred to such a defiance of justice. Contempt is a feeble word for such a governor.—Riverton Review

The South American trumpet tree might furnish a band with musical instruments, inasmuch as its hollow branches are utilized for horns and also for drums.

"Consider the porous plaster, my son," remarked the philosopher, "and don't get discouraged. Everybody turns his back on it, yet it hangs on and eventually achieves success by close application."
