Every building in this city should be literally smothered in flags on bunting reunion week. This is going to be the biggest time Red Cloud has ever seen, probably the greatest time it will see for years to come. Too much honor can not be done the old soldiers, who will not be with us a great while longer, and there will be thousands of other visitors whom it will be our place to entertain.

There are more men at work in this city just at present than there has been at one time for years. The extra work on the electric light system, the water works improvements, the new Catholic church, the great demand for cement and other building work makes everyone feel cheerful, and if there is an idle man in town it is through his own choice. Not only that, but wages are good, day laborers getting $2 and $2.25.
