OLD MAN CHASED NEGRESS.

Lost His Money But Caught the Girl.

George Heaton, a gray haired old man from Red Cloud, who is visiting the fair, startled the crowd on O street near Eleventh last evening by chasing wildly down the street in pursuit of a fleeing colored girl. The old man was gaining on her, and finally caught her after she had stranded in the arms of a young fellow who was coming down the street in opposite direction. Mr. Heaton claimed she got his pocket-book or pouch which contained fifteen dollars in paper money in addition to some silver. After catching her, he held onto her while the patrol wagon was being called, then they both went to the station where the girl was locked up. She gave the name of Mattie Gritter and her home as Omaha, when asked privately who she was, but she was registered under a different name. She came to the fair yesterday, and had just returned from the grounds when her trouble occurred. Mr. Heaton had entered an alley on P street a few feet. There, he said, he was followed by the colored girl who threw her arms around him. He says he pushed her away, but she persisted, and soon he felt his watch leave his pocket. He grabbed it and put it back into his trousers pocket, whereupon she broke and ran. She had gone some distance when he felt in his pocket and found his money pouch was gone. Then he took after her, chasing her through the alley and finally ending the chase in front of the Western Union telegraph office.—State Journal.

Wednesday evening's Star has the following concerning the affair:

"Hey, come back with my pocket-book," yelled George Heaton, a venerable visitor from Red Cloud, as he saw with consternation that a buxom-colored damsel had started at a brisk pace down the alley away from him last night.

"Then he followed at an even brisker pace, over-taking the dark skinned girl just as she collided with a young man in front of the Western Union Telegraph office. He held her fast, called out pantingly for help, and gripped her arm until Police Sergeant McCorkle and the patrol wagon reached the spot.

"At the police station the woman gave the name of Grace Allen, and said later that it was Gritter, from Omaha. The local police did not know her, but from her movements believed her to be well skilled in the gentle art.

"Heaton explained to the police that he had stepped into an alley on P street and felt himself suddenly pushed. He shoved her away and then felt that his watch was sliding from his pocket. Seizing the watch hastily put it into another pocket and felt safe when he saw the girl making off down the alley. In a moment, he realized that his wallet was gone. Then he started in wild pursuit, charging down the thoroughfare after the woman like a bellowing lion. The case was set for hearing in police court Thursday morning and the woman held in jail on $500 bond which she could not furnish."

The case is similar to that in which W. K. Geer of Red Cloud lost $25 in Lincoln a few months ago, except that Geer was held up on a public street. The woman who robbed Geer was given a year in the pen, and it is not unlikely that Grace Gritter will get a similar dose.

College Opens.

The Red Cloud Business College began its second year Monday morning. Interesting exercises were held at the home of the college in the Damerell block. The program included vocal and instrumental solos by Misses Wert, Mizer and Overman, and short addresses were made by E. J. Overing, Jr., Attorney J. C. Saylor, Dr. E. A. Thomas and County Superintendent Nellie Caster. The enrollment is larger than expected at this time of year.

During his residence of a year in this city President Dietrick has made a host of friends by his outspoken advocacy of everything that goes to make good citizens of young men and women. President Dietrick is the corresponding secretary of the Nebraska Sunday School association, and his unswerving devotion to the Christian work will always have a considerable influence upon the students who come under his charge. Parents who are contemplating sending their children to a business college will make no mistake if they place them in Prof. Dietrick's care.

RAPID PROGRESS.

Interesting Facts About the New Electric Light Plant.

Rapid progress is being made with the construction of the new light system. Within a few days the building will be completed.

The new boiler and stack have already been shipped from the factory and as soon as the carpenters have finished their work on the building, foundations will be laid for the same and also for the engine and dynamos.

It may be of interest to the readers to know a few facts concerning the new machinery which will be installed.

The engine is the best of its kind that money can buy. It weighs 28000 pounds. The smoke stack is made of 3-16 inch steel, is 36 inches in diameter and 60 feet long, weighing about 5500 pounds. The handling of this machinery is no little problem.

It may also be of interest to know the method of distributing the electric current over the city. For inside lighting a current of 2300 volts is carried to the city on two wires until it reaches the transformer. Here the current is transformed from 2300 volts to 220 and 110 volts for street lighting and inside lighting respectively. The current which is used for street lighting is from the plant by a ly independent wires which carry the current for inside lighting. It winds about over town to every street intersection using over 7 miles of wire. This circuit will be controlled at the station at the will of the engineer.

Red Cloud, with its 78 street lights, will be one of the best lighted little cities in the state. It is encouraging that the citizens are taking hold of the lighting proposition and are having their residences and places of business wired.

When everybody puts their shoulder to the wheel the success of the lighting system is assured.

The city administration is to be congratulated upon having secured the services of such an able and conscientious electrician as Mr. Martz to superintend the construction work.

Band in Sight.

Alvin Snapp, the clarinet player and band leader, arrived Wednesday from Manzanola, Colo., and went to work Thursday in Grice's drug store as prescription clerk. Organization of the band has been delayed awaiting the arrival of Mr. Snapp, but a meeting will be held in Mercier's barber shop Monday evening at which time it is hoped all who desire to become members of the band, and all others interested, will be present. There is no question but Red Cloud has the musical talent to form a band that will outrival anything in the valley. The only drawback is the apparent lassitude and lack of interest which has so far been shown.

A New One on Maud Muller.

Maud Muller on a summer day, with her fellow ran away, in a benzine touring car, scooting to a preacher far. Maud's father saw the fleeing pair—smelled the benzine fented air; caught a mule whose name was Jane, and galloped down the dusty lane; the mobile very swiftly ran but burned the oil all out of the can. The motor stopped upon a hill, but Jane ran on just fit to kill. Alas for maid, alas for man alas for the empty benzine can. Maud's daddy on the old gray mule, came and took her off to school. The mule high wrecked the benzine can, the feller died of a broken heart. The moral of this tale so sad: "Don't steal the girl; go ask her dad."

Attack of Heart Failure.

C. D. Robinson, of Robinson & Burden, suffered a severe attack of heart failure Monday morning. He was found lying on the floor in an unconscious condition by an early morning customer. Medical aid was summoned and he was quickly revived, though he was so weak that it was several days before he was able to be at work.
