Two Runaways.

Hard luck seems to pursue Al Slaby. He has lost more horses, had more runaways and more rigs smashed up than any two liverymen who ever did business in Red Cloud. Sunday morning Lew Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. Will Bohrer and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roby and children were out riding in one of Slaby's rigs, when two fellows on horseback ran into the team. One of the horses gave a lunge, breaking the breast strap. Clapp, who was driving turned the team into the bank at the roadside, running the pole of the carriage into the ground and breaking it. The carriage was overturned and the occupants spilled out. Will Bohrer badly strained an old injury in reaching down to pick the baby from the ground.

In the afternoon Ed Taylor hired one of Al's rigs to drive out to his school. John Arett was driving, and when in the north part of town the team became frightened at a barking dog and tore down Cedar street to the corner of Third, where they straddled a telephone pole. The tongue of the buggy penetrated the pole about two inches. Taylor and Arett were both thrown out, but were unhurt. The buggy tongue was broken and the harness badly torn.

The "Dipso" Fraud.

One of the heavy items of expense to the county, and one which is absolutely of no benefit to any one, is that of sending dipsomaniacs to the asylum at Lincoln. The victim receives no treatment calculated to destroy the appetite for strong drink, but is merely confined in the asylum among the horde of insane people for a period of three months. It is astounding what fool legislation a body of supposedly intelligent men can pass when they once get at it. Here are a few figures showing what it costs to send a "dipso" to the asylum for three months, provided he does not fight the case:

Sheriff's fees, 2 days at $3.....	$ 6 00
Mileage.....	14 00
Board and lodging.....	4 00
Railway fare for "dipso".....	3 85
Warrant.....	1 00
Clerk of the court.....	10 00
Examining physician's fee.....	8 00
Attorney's fee.....	3 00
Board at asylum.....	45 00
Total.....	$94 85

Why should we license saloons to make drunkards, if we are compelled to pay $94.85 per head for sobering them up? If all the "dipsomaniacs" in Webster county were sent to the asylum, the annual levy would have to be doubled or trebled.

If you have lost your boyhood spirits, courage and confidence of youth, we offer you new life, fresh courage and freedom from ill health in Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, 35 cents, tea or tablets. C. L. Cotting.

Business College Notes

The Trier sisters now enter the second season under our management. They are made up of five bona fide sisters, the sopranos being twins, the altos being twins and Edna, the eldest, is but thirty-five months older than the youngest. As a quintette they have been singing for ten years, and after two years' training took up regular work for us. They are at once the most novel sisters combination on the road and have the distinct advantage of all being solo voices, all talented and all well trained. That they are the greatest sisters combination ever put out we now assert, and it will be but a matter of a short time until they have a national fame. Thousands have already been highly pleased with them.—Midland Lyceum Bureau.

Paul Dietrick recited from Crawford at the Reading Circle meeting of the county teachers at the Congregational church Saturday. Mr. Blackledge and Mr. Overing and Miss Skjelver had papers which were all good. State Superintendent McBrien made a talk or rather read clippings from some speech to the teachers. The writer has heard Mr. McBrien a number of times but so far he has never given the speech he was billed to give. Those things are disappointing sometimes, but one thing about Mr. McBrien is that he always has something good even if not on the subject advertised.

Prof. Paul Dietrick made a nice trip at 7 o'clock into the country with Rev. Hummel Monday morning to take some pictures of the minister's alfalfa field as the fourth crop was in cocks for the hay buck. He took five pictures while there and then was back in time for the 8:40 period in school. They were fine pictures for such early birds. The drive into the country did the professor good.

The students are out selling season tickets for the College Lecture course and they are having fine success. Every one knows that the Midland Bureau puts up a good course, and of course they buy readily. Then the course is only $1.50 for the five numbers, with $1 for all students of the college and the public schools.

Rev. Farley, Wm. Lamphere, J. H. Current and E. J. Solomon of Bladen called at the college Monday and looked over the school. We are always glad to show our school to visitors. Give us a chance.

Some in the class of Chartier shorthand have written 63 words in less than one minute and have only been on the system one week. Of course this is all studied matter.

Come up at 8 o'clock and see our boys and girls read figures in the Rapid Calculation class. They add almost as fast as the numbers can be placed on the boards.

Mr. Gilham gave us another talk on the stars, also a word analysis of the word "Glory." The students enjoy his talks and are all glad to have him come.

Our typewriting classes are making fine head-way in their work, Miss Clea Drain being the leader now with Karl Spence a close second.

Ray Palmer is sending messages over the wires now in true telegrapher's style. Ray will get there all right.

Prof. A. J. Dietrick and wife made a trip to Guide Rock and North Branch Saturday in the interests of the college.

George Corner, Close Emigh and Halbert Thomas are new students in the typewriting class this week.

Mr. Dietrick read from Longfellow last Thursday and from Riley this week.

The Gregg shorthand class took a letter from dictation this week.

MISSED THE DETECTIVE.

George Heaton Was Late in Arriving in Lincoln.

Lincoln Star: George Heaton, the Red Cloud man who was "touched" by Grace Allen, a colored woman one night during the fair week, appeared in police court this morning with the air of a tardy school boy. The hearing of the case against the Allen woman was scheduled for Saturday, but when the hour hove in sight nothing of the complaining witness was to be seen. The hour passed, and County Attorney Caldwell was indignant clear to his toes. He ordered the issuance of a warrant, and a detective went up to Red Cloud yesterday afternoon to find that the complainant had come to Lincoln Saturday evening.

It was explained to Mr. Heaton that his failure to appear had caused a hitch in justice and also the issuance of a warrant for himself. He was duly surprised and stated that he was stopping at a local hotel, where he registered Saturday afternoon on his arrival on a late train.

Heaton was warmly embraced by a buxom colored girl one night during fair week, as he was standing in an alley just out of the jostle of the hurrying crowds. After the squeeze was over he missed his purse and started after the fleeing Miss Allen, who led him a block through the thickest crowds before he finally captured her. In the meantime, however, the pocketbook was dropped.

GRACE ALLEN HELD.

From Tuesday's Star.

George Heaton, an aged man from Red Cloud, who after a long chase captured the swift-footed colored girl whom he thought had grabbed his watch and then his purse, one night of fair week, told all about it in police court this morning.

As Heaton told his story, Mrs. Allen became perceptibly agitated. He related how she had approached him as he stood in the alley, how she had thrown her arms about him, how he felt his watch leaving his pocket and when he grabbed it back, discovered that his purse was also gone. He sprinted after her "right smart" and almost caught her. A young man stopped her in front of the Western Union telegraph office and she was held until the police came.

Then the defendant was put on the stand. She said that she was in company with a girl friend of hers, named Viola Bell. The mysterious Viola was not produced in court, but Grace said it was she who had done the alley trick.

"This man stopped Viola and wanted to talk to her in the alley," said Grace. "Pretty soon, Viola yelled that the police was coming and she took off down the alley and I run the other way, coming out on the street the same time. Then a young man caught me at the Western Union."

On her admission of being captured while running, Police Judge Cosgrave held her to the district court under $500 bonds, which she could not furnish.

While she was waiting, "Ed" Proctor of Omaha, formerly notorious in Lincoln affairs, was brought into the station. Detective Malone had seen him in town and supposed he had come to help defend his daughter, the woman under arrest. On his arrival, the girl broke into uncontrollable screams and tears and fairly drenched the police court floor.

Miss Stonebreaker Injured.

While assisting in putting up a stovepipe Tuesday afternoon, at her home, Miss Ella Stonebreaker fell from a table upon which she was standing, breaking her right wrist. Medical aid was summoned and she is now getting along as nicely as could be expected.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Items of News Found in the Chief of Twenty Years Ago This Week

Dick Gray of Norton, Kansas, is in the city.

The little baby of A. N. Patmor died last Sunday.

Frank Buschow was down from Blue Hill this week.

Geo. O. Hamilton of Iowa is a new arrival in Red Cloud.

D. P. Newcomer, our next county representative, was in the city this week.

Rev. C. W. Springer has returned to Red Cloud after an absence of several weeks.

The fourteenth annual Webster county fair this week was a decided success.

United States Senator Van Wyck made a speech at the fair grounds Thursday.

E. H. Elliott of Tonia, Illinois, a brother of Mrs. J. S. Emigh, is visiting in the city.

Miss Carrie Miner, who has been quite seriously ill for the past two weeks, is convalescing.

Mrs. C. W. Kaley received word this week that a sister living in Kansas was very ill and not expected to live.

B. F. Boynton, a "Q" conductor, and wife, who have been in the county several weeks, have returned to Illinois.

Fire was discovered in the Fourth avenue hotel one night this week, but was extinguished before much damage was done.

Sheriff Scott has returned from Illinois, having in custody Frank Dale, wanted at Blue Hill for defrauding the milling companies there.

Lincoln Schultz of Blue Hill was on trial in this city this week on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He was bound over to the district court.

G. W. Rise will now arise early to view his two babies. His efforts to make a city of Inavale will not be in vain should he often increase the population in that manner.

Wm. Hooper, living near Judson, Kansas, patronized the traveling "painless" dentist last Thursday. Hooper's jaw was dislocated, and it cost him $5 to have the organ replaced by Dr. E. A. Hall.

Through the efforts of Attorney J. L. Kaley a street fakir playing a gouge game was arrested and fined $25. Add to this the $25 license and $10 he returned to the man he robbed, and it would seem the fakir was out of luck.

The new buildings are being pushed rapidly. The Sherer-Lindsey building is almost ready for the roof, while the Miller-Cotting building is receiving the first floor joist. The Moon block is almost ready for the first floor, and the Kellogg building is almost ready for occupancy.

Joe Holcomb of Walnut creek some time ago sent a man named Monette to Nemaha county to get a horse that he left there. He reported the horse dead, and in conversation with Mr. Holcomb on the train about the matter he became alarmed and jumped from the train near Amboy. He was afterward arrested and held for horse-stealing.

JUDSON, KAN.—While returning from Red Cloud recently the axle of George Mountford's buggy broke and let the buggy drop, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Mountford out. The acreage of winter wheat is larger this year than last.

INAVALE—L. N. Edson lost a $200 horse this week in a runaway accident. J. O. Chamberlain, Thos. Vaughn, F. D. Hutchinson and Chas. Hunter came to the front with four boys, and now Geo. Rise has produced twin girls to increase the population. A Good Templar lodge has been instituted here.
