

Business College Notes

The drawing class is doing some nice work.

The students voted to have one week vacation for Christmas.

Miss Barlow of the college attended Miss Sheldon's basket supper.

Mrs. Weesner and Mrs. Smith were visitors Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Esther Peterson will give a basket supper tonight. Prof. Dietrick will recite.

Mr. Dietrick is getting out some new circulars to be used in advertising his entertainments.

Prof. Dietrick goes to Bostwick Saturday to give an address on a Sunday school program.

Miss Lora Weesner has some very appreciative people out in her district, says Mr. Dietrick, in speaking of the entertainment.

Mr. Gilham was up again last Friday and gave us a very interesting talk on "Profanity and Slang." He gave us some good advice and we intend to profit by it.

New students are reporting every day, telling about their intention of starting in the first of the year. The school is surely growing fast and the Red Cloud Business College will soon be a school that you can be proud of.

Prof. Dietrick seems to be having his share of accidents the last week. While driving out with Roscoe Weesner to Miss Lora's school last Friday the buggy tipped over and spilled them out, and as he and Mrs. Dietrick were going out north to Miss Sheldon's school the horse fell down and created quite a stir.

Rev. Bates made the school a talk last Thursday morning on "The Divisions of Time." Mr. Bates is a deep thinker and a close student of history as well as human nature, and can always say something that is new to his hearers, and they go away saying: "I learn something when I listen to him." Come again, Mr. Bates; you are always welcome.

Miss Sheldon's basket supper was the most orderly of any Mr. Dietrick has had the good fortune to attend. He wishes all young people would think before they throw chicken, pie, oranges, etc., over the house. Just think of the teacher cleaning up such a mess the next morning. Young people, if you want to do something to make a teacher glad, eat your suppers like ladies and gentlemen.

The average educated man earns $1,000 per year. He works forty years, making a total of $40,000 in a lifetime. The average day laborer gets $1.50 per day, 300 days in a year, or $450 per year. He earns $18,000 in a lifetime. The difference between $40,000 and $18,000 is $22,000. This is the minimum value of an education in dollars and cents. The increased self-respect you gain can not be measured in money.

The students of Chartier shorthand are getting quite speedy, considering the time they have put on the work. We believe the Chartier is all that is claimed it would be. We notice that the Gregg company is getting pretty badly scared about its work from the "knocks" they are sending out about it. When one business man begins to "knock" on the other fellow something is wrong with the "knocker." Gregg's is good, Pitman's is good; in fact, students hold good positions who write most any system. The best is the one that is easiest learned, fastest written and easiest read after it is written.

Red Cloud 13, Bloomington 0.

A very fast game of football was played on the Red Cloud grounds yesterday afternoon between the Business College and Bloomington teams. From the first kick-off it was seen that the Red Cloud team, though considerably lighter than their opponents, were much the faster and had a better understanding of the rules of the game.

Bloomington got the kick-off and the ball was returned fifteen yards. A series of line backs brought the ball to the center of the field. A pretty "ends on" kick netted twenty yards more for Red Cloud. Bloomington got the ball on downs, but lost it in the same manner. Hayman went around the ends twice for good gains, and a series of line backs and a penalty put the ball within a yard of Bloomington's goal line. Dickey was pushed over for a touchdown, Hayman kicked goal and the half ended with the score 6 to 0 in favor of Red Cloud.

Red Cloud kicked off to Bloomington's ten-yard line and the ball was run, but Williams refused to get returned five yards. Bloomington lost the ball on downs. Red Cloud failed to make ten yards on its second down and Hayman tried a place kick but missed goal. E. Reynolds, Bloomington's left halfback, picked the ball from the ground and started to run with it, but was tackled and downed before he got inside the gridiron, scoring a "safety." Score, Red Cloud 8, Bloomington 0.

Bloomington kicked out from the fifteen yard line. The ball changed hands frequently, and finally Dickey was pushed over for another touchdown. Hayman missed goal and the score was 13 to 0 in favor of the Red Cloud Business College. The game ended with the ball in Bloomington's territory. At no time during the game was Red Cloud's goal in danger. The line-up:

Superior is planning to build a new high school building.

The State Teachers' Association will meet in Lincoln December 26.

Superintendent A. A. Reed of Superior visited the city schools last Friday.

The literary society will be reorganized soon after the holidays. Athletics and preparation for the concert have required so much time that it has been advisable to do this sooner.

The Lincoln board of health, in a recent meeting, charged that the lack of sanitary and hygienic conditions was largely responsible for the epidemic of diphtheria that has made it necessary to close some of ward schools in that city.

A Suggestion.

Now that the city has won the long drawn out suit and has obtained the Farmers & Merchants Bank building, why not organize a Y. M. C. A. and turn the building over to them. This would give the organization a splendid start and we would soon have a good library, reading room, bath and possibly a small gymnasium.

At the present time the city affords no entertainment whatever for our young people, and we believe that no better use could be found for the building.

The Y. M. C. A. offers the best line of amusement and instruction yet known and as a force for building up the town its activities are unsurpassed.

[The only trouble with the foregoing suggestion, so far as we can see, is that the city needs the money. The Y. M. C. A. is the finest organization in existence for young men.—Ed.]

Didn't Scare a Bit.

Wednesday night George Baylor, Ed Amack and a few others put up a job to frighten Henry Williams, but the laugh was turned on the jokers. Shortly before it was time for Henry to go home Ed Amack donned a sheet and proceeded to a dark spot on Elm street to lay in wait for our colored friend. "Doc" Fort, George Baylor and a number of others who had been "put next" shivered around in the cold waiting for their victim to appear. He finally hove in sight, in company with Dave Dickey, who was also in the plot. When Amack, in the character of "his ghostship," confronted the pair Dickey started to teach-r's meeting was held at the school house Saturday.

According to madam rumor we may soon hear the wedding bells ring. Get your tin cans ready boys.

The box supper at the Eckley school house on Dec. 6th. was a success financially. The proceeds were $29.75, to go towards buying a new organ.
