The Nation's plan for a series of small school houses scattered over the city, as outlined last week, would be very nice if the city could afford to hire a dozen or so more teachers than now. However, as one of the principal objects of the proposed new school building is the concentration of the grades, giving one teacher to a grade and thereby increasing the efficiency of the present teaching force, we cannot see our way clearly to indorsing the Nation's plan.

Governor Sheldon has signed the 2-cent fare bill. While the law would probably be legal without the governor's signature, he laid aside his personal objections to the bill and signed it. He also signed the free high school bill, which provides that country children who wish to attend high school may do so at the expense of the district in which they live. The law provides that a tuition of $3 shall be paid for each pupil, the money to be raised by a levy based on the prospective number of pupils who are to take advantage of it.

Will Wiggin was over from near Lebanon Saturday and made this office a pleasant visit. In the early days Mr. Wiggin was "devil" in THE CHIEF office, when C. L. Mather was editor, and later worked for Mark Warner, Borin & Springer and M. L. Thomas. Gilham dropped in, and when the three got to talking over old times they told some interesting reminiscences of the early days. It makes one feel good to hear them talk.

Complies with all requirements of the National Pure Food Law, Guarantee No. 2041, filed at Washington.

"Our food was good—Beef steak, flapjacks, fresh bread, etc., but nothing seemed to warm and strengthen us as much as a cup of ARIOSOSA Coffee, which we kept in the original package and ground as needed." From a gentleman now in Eudleheim.

Arbuckles' ARIOSOSA was the first roasted packaged coffee,—packaged for the consumer's protection and the pores of each berry sealed after the roasting with fresh eggs and sugar to keep the goodness in and make the coffee taste clear and quickly.

Talk about "roasted fresh daily," the way to get a cup of coffee that tastes like coffee, with all the delicious flavor and aroma intact, is to buy Arbuckles' ARIOSOSA and grind it as you want to use it. Warning: it a little develops the flavor and makes the grinding easy. Coffee loses its identity as coffee after being ground or when exposed to the air.

THEY DRANK ARBUCKLES
DEEP AND OFTEN, AND IT MADE THEM GREAT

Never buy loose coffee out of a bag, bin or tin. If it were good the roaster would not be ashamed to sell it in a package with his name on it.

The sales of Arbuckles' ARIOSOSA exceed those of all the other packaged coffees combined. It is the best coffee for you, and costs you less.

If your grocer won't supply, write to
