

Cure Your Dandruff

Why? Because it is annoying, untidy. And mostly, because it almost invariably leads to baldness. Cure it, and save your hair. Get more, too, at the same time. All easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula. Stop this formation of dandruff!

Does not change the color of the hair.

The new Ayer's Hair Vigor will certainly do this work, because, first of all, it destroys the germs which are the original cause of dandruff. Having given this aid, nature completes the cure. The scalp is restored to a perfectly healthy condition.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To the voters of the Tenth Judicial District:

I hereby announce myself a candidate at the Primaries to be held September 3, 1907, for the Republican nomination for the office of Judge of the 10th Judicial District of Nebraska, comprising the counties of Webster, Franklin, Harlan, Adams, Kearney and Phelps. Respectfully submitted, E. U. OVERMAN.

To the Voters of Webster County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Clerk of Webster County, Nebraska, subject to the primary election to be held September 3, 1907. E. W. ROSS.

FOR FARMERS' WIVES

An Opportunity for Women's Clubs to Do Real Good.

(From Colliers' Weekly).

Oskaloosa, Iowa, has many claims to distinction besides a beautiful name and the official residence of Kiscock, Patriotic Instructor of the Grand Army of the Republic. It has what Carbonale, Kansas, has not and what every town needs—a "rest room" where farmers' wives may stay while their husbands are indulging in man-talk. Mrs. Ella Peattie, who crowns a successful literary career by painstakingly reading these editorials, thus writes of a glimpse she had of this beneficent chamber when she happened to be in Oskaloosa one hot spring day: "I wandered about the town 'for to admire', and chanced to observe the farm women turned into the basement of the City Hall. The place was a 'rest room.' I think I went down a step or two into a beautifully clean white-washed room. There was a rug on the cement floor, and there were muslin curtains at the window. Half a dozen rockers and several other easy chairs were in this room; the table was spread with the latest magazines and the local papers; there were a few shelves of books on the wall, and some more than agreeable pictures, and a clock which was really keeping time. Out of this room opened an apartment supplied with three long tables, twenty or more dining chairs and a sofa. The tables were covered with clean newspapers, and on them were spread the luncheons which the farm women had taken from their baskets. Opening out of the sitting room was a large toilet, generously supplied with clean towels, soap, combs, etc. A motherly woman presided over these rooms, and supplied me with a drink of water, a fan, and some excellent information."

The "rest room" idea in Oskaloosa originated with the woman's club of the place. A delegation had visited the town council and secured an appropriation and the attractive basement rooms. "I do not know the division of expense" writes Mrs. Peattie, "but between the club and the council, the matron and her wage, the place was heated, supplied with literature, growing plants, and clean linen, and not only the farm women but the girls from the telephone office, and the stenographers from the city offices and the clerks from the shops had this for their place of meeting. Here they could enjoy that sociability which is needed for the Christian digestion of a meal and refresh themselves. The pictures were reproductions of masterpieces. The books were good enough for the best to read. The cradle was dainty enough for anybody's baby. It gave me, a sojourner, a very friendly feeling. It not only rested my body, but what was much more to the point, it warmed the cockles of my heart. I fancy that the women's clubs, which have, and realize that they have, too little connection with reality, often would be only too glad to have such an honest, disinterested, practical piece of work to do, if only the idea occurred to them. It's a piece of beneficence of a distinctly feminine order. And any town could have a rest room—any town with merchants that want the trade that women bring."

NEW ROAD LAWS

Some Radical Changes Made by the Last Legislature

If there is any one thing in which the city man as well as the farmer is interested it is the question of good roads. The last legislature made some important changes in these laws that are not generally known, and we give a brief summary of them for the benefit of those interested.

One of the new laws provides that the county commissioners shall appoint a disinterested elector to act as commissioner to view and report upon the expediency of a proposed new road, alternation or vacation.

Another provides the road fund created by a tax levy for road improvements shall be used in the road district, precinct or county without the aid or expense of employing a county surveyor.

It shall not be necessary for the board of county commissioners to advertise for bids where the levy is five mills or less.

Another provides that the road overseer in each district is authorized to have work done on the public highways by use of the road drag. The road overseer shall cause all public roads to be improved, giving precedence where necessary to main traveled roads between towns and cities. The road overseer may, when in his judgment it is necessary, call out any able-bodied man 50 years of age or under, or team owned by any person in the district, to perform such work, not exceeding two days at any one time, good wages to be paid such men and teams. Any person failing to respond without good cause, shall be subject to a fine of $10. Ten per cent of the road funds shall be set aside for use in keeping in repair and dragging all highways along which the United States rural free delivery mail routes have been established. Any road overseer who shall deliver to any person his receipt giving credit for work done when such person does not actually work, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than $10 nor more than $50 for every such receipt issued.

In our next issue we will give a further summary of the new road laws, some of which are even more important than any of the above and require a more extended explanation. The legislature has certainly awakened to the fact that, next to good schools, good roads are more benefit than anything else to the people of the state.

E. W. Ross For Clerk.

In another place in today's paper we publish the card of E. W. Ross announcing himself a candidate for the office of county clerk, subject to the will of the republican voters at the primary election to be held September 3. Mr. Ross was a candidate for nomination two years ago but was not successful. Mr. Ross is too well known throughout the county to need any "boosting" by the newspapers, but a few words to those who do not know him will do no harm. For several years he operated the only dray line in this city and at the same time was agent for the Adams Express Co. He was twice elected mayor of Red Cloud, and during his incumbency of that office the affairs of the city were administered in a business like manner. For the past year he has been the local agent for the Beatrice Creamery company, and his fair dealing has won for him a host of friends among the farmers with whom he dealt. He has had considerable experience in clerical work, and is fully competent to look after the business of the county.

If you have not painted your gasoline can red and labeled it with the word "gasoline," it is time you were doing so, as the law is now in effect and you are liable to a fine of $50 if you disobey it.

Elsewhere in this issue Mr. John M. Chaffin has an article setting forth the qualifications requisite for a district judge. We can heartily recommend the article to our readers, believing as we do that Webster county's candidate, Mr. E. U. Overman, fulfills the requirements as set forth in Mr. Chaffin's article, and a few others which he does not mention, among them a keen perception of the points in a case at law and the brain to give an accurate summary of the case.

BRIEF MENTION.

Mrs. G. W. Dow and daughter Ava left Saturday for Colorado City.

If you suffer from bloating, belching, sour stomach, indigestion or dyspepsia, take a Ring's Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal, and overcome the disagreeable trouble. It will improve the appetite, and aid digestion. Sold by Henry Cook's Drug Store.

Pineules are for the kidneys and bladder. They bring quick relief to backache, rheumatism, lumbago, tired worn out feeling. They produce natural action of the kidneys in filtering waste matter out of the blood. 30 days treatment $1. Money refunded if Pineules are not satisfactory. Sold by Henry Cook's Drug Store.

The base ball boys have raised enough money among the merchants to pay the rent and fix up the grounds in Moore's pasture, east of town. The diamond will be "skinned," and the boys are doing some good practice work preparatory to the big game with the Haskell Indians on the 17th. In the meantime there will be two or three games with teams from surrounding towns. There is plenty of good material here, and all the boys need is practice and a little confidence in themselves.

ABYSSES OF OCEAN.

Extent of the Deep Waters and Their Tremendous Pressure.

More than half the surface of the globe is hidden under water two miles deep. Seven million square miles lie at a depth of 18,000 feet or more. Many places have been found five miles and more in depth. The greatest depth yet sounded is 31,200 feet, near the island of Guam.

If Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, were plucked from its seat and dropped into this spot the waves would still roll 2,000 feet above its crest.

Into this terrific abyss the waters press down with a force more than 10,000 pounds to the square inch. The stanchest ship ever built would be crumpled under this awful pressure like an eggshell under a steam roller.

A pine beam fifteen feet long which held open the mouth of a trawl used in making a cast at a depth of more than 18,000 feet was crushed flat as if it had been passed between rollers.

The body of the man who should attempt to venture to such depths would be compressed until the flesh was forced into the interstices of the bone and his trunk was no larger than a rolling pin. Still the body would reach the bottom, for anything that will sink in a tub of water will sink to the uttermost depths of the ocean.—Exchange.

SECRETS OF SAVAGES.

Some Things That Balk the Ingenuity of Civilized Man.

The head was no bigger than an orange, the black, bearded head, perfectly preserved, of a man of forty or so.

"The Dyaks alone," said the ethnologist, "have the secret of taking an adult human head and reducing it, like this, to less than half its size. Their houses are ornamented profusely with these reduced heads of enemies slain in battle. No one knows how the reduction is accomplished. It is a marvelous secret that the Dyaks refuse to give up.

"Savages, degraded as they are beside us, possess a number of marvelous and unfathomable secrets. One is the making of fire by the rubbing of dry twigs. Only a savage can do that.

"Another is the construction of fishskin suits. The natives of the Siberian coast make suits of fishskin that are softer, finer and far more waterproof than any fabric known to us. What could be so waterproof as fishskin?"

"A third is the secret of arrested life. There are aborigines in India who can die temporarily, can be buried a week or more and on being dug up come to life again.

"The best blankets, the best baskets, the best canoes and the best dyes are all made by savages."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Hicks—I owe you an apology. The fact is, it was raining, and I saw your umbrella, and, supposing you had gone home for good, I took it.

Wicks—Don't mention it. I owe you an apology. You left your new hat, you know, and wore your old one. As I had no umbrella and as I didn't want to wet my hat, I put on yours. Hope you don't mind.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Dust.

They were celebrating their engagement by dining at a swell cafe.

"Do you believe," she queried as the conversation lagged, "that man is really made of dust?"

"Well," he rejoined, glancing at the dinner check, "he wouldn't be able to travel far in your company if he wasn't."—Chicago News.

Paul Storey, The Clothier

D. Nelson, commander of Colony Post No. 14, Fitzgerald, Georgia, arrived last night for a visit with his sisters, Mrs. Younglove and Mrs. Mary Serl of Blue Hill, who came here today to meet him. Mr. Nelson was one of the early settlers, having located near Inavale in 1876. He left here in 1880 and went to Harvard, Neb., where he resided until about twelve years ago, when he joined the Fitzgerald colony of old soldiers who went to Georgia to establish a colony. Mr. Nelson has evidently prospered in his southern home.
