If it exceeds $5, the purchaser will be allowed $5 on the amount of his purchase. He is also selling overcoats and heavy suits at a big discount.

One of the nicest stretches of road in this vicinity is that lying along the north side of Charley Platt's farm, a mile west of town, where Ben Pegg has been using a road drag with the perseverance he always shows in everything he undertakes. It is a pity that more of our farmers do not show similar enterprise.

Probably the largest crowd ever seen at a public sale in this county was that which attended "Billy" Bense's sale last Tuesday. Everything sold high, most of the livestock and many of the farm implements bringing a higher price than they originally cost Mr. Bense. The sale was the most extensively advertised of any sale ever held here, and the result shows the wisdom of a liberal use of printing ink when you have anything to sell.

Baseball and skating on January 1 shows the kind of weather we are enjoying in this part of the world.

President Steward of the Red Cloud Business college had an experience with a team of mules the other day that he will not soon forget. He was out to the Steward-Damerell ranch the other day and, wishing to go to Womer, asked if he could have a team to drive to that place. They told him to take the mules, and he started. He had not gone very far, however, when the mules became frightened and started to run. He says that he held to the lines and yelled "Whoa!" until his mouth became filled with mud, but the mules ran until they got tired. No damage except to the president's nerve.
